Burns Calls For New Era For State

By BOB CORNET
News Editor

Florida's businessman Governor, Haydon Burns, was sworn into office at 12:03 yesterday and then launched into a speech outlining his plan for the state in the next two years of his term.

Burns, in his inaugural address, said that this inauguration marked the beginning of a new era: one of new hopes, new dreams, new plans, new projects, a new era in state government.

These new plans, though, were extensions of Florida's present economic growth. Said Burns, "We must exert every effort to not only bolster what we have, but to bring a soaring boost to our economy, by expanding business and industry, and attracting new enterprises."

When Burns talked about education in Florida it too was in the context of economic growth: "We will only be a prosperous state so long as we have a well-trained labor supply. For we look to our public schools—our junior colleges—our technical and vocational schools."

"We will be a prosperous state only so long as we have leadership. For this we look once again to our schools— and more especially to the kind of young men and women who are the products of our universities."

"We look to these higher institutions of learning also for the research they are doing— research that opens new frontiers of knowledge that contributes to our economy in a variety of ways."

Burns then said that to develop this kind of leadership force we must have quality as well as quantity in our educational system. To assure this he said that he shall appoint a group of educators and laymen to study the trimester system.

"We must move forward rapidly to preserve what is good and desirable, and to eliminate that which is undesirable in our system. Our young people are our most important resource."

In outlining the general economic situation of the State he said that Florida was no longer totally dependent upon tourism and agriculture for its prosperity, though both of these still play a vital role in its economy.

"... No longer is this just a winter playground— It is a year-round mecca."

To support the picture he was painting, Burns cited the influx and growth of industry, particularly light metals, chemicals, and seat-building. He also pointed out that several large corporations have moved their administrative offices to Florida.

THE SWEARING IN

Gov. of Florida's new governor Haydon Burns, took place yesterday afternoon in back of the Capital building. Administering the oath of office was Florida Chief Justice E. Harris Drew.

FSU Begins Own Study

Staff Committee To Investigate Trimester Says Dean Dittmer

By MELODIE BETTS
Flambeau Feature Writer

The trimester system at FSU is undergoing a complete study by a committee of nine, consisting of four deans and five faculty members, announced Dr. Karl Dittmer, vice president of Academic Affairs.

The committee will consider reports from the various faculty and select student groups along with university statistics in compiling their findings.

It is hoped, according to Dittmer, that a modified calendar will result which will properly implement "year round" operation with a sound program for students and the faculty.

President Blackburn appointed a committee in 1963 of the Faculty Senate to evaluate the trimester operation. The trimester system which began in 1962 has met with unfavorable reactions from a majority of faculty and many students, says Dittmer, indicating that the present system is not successful.

"A great university must provide the intellectual atmosphere for the most efficient performance of the faculty and the students which are the important elements of any university. At the same time the physical facilities should be used to the fullest extent."

The 1963 committee reported that "the faculty judges the trimester system to be superficially deficient on institutional grounds." The report also concluded that the system as it is now operated "is detrimental to the education, growth, and intellectual maturity of the individual student."

"A trimester course is not equivalent to a semester course. Students are forced to neglect reading and reflective thinking. The quality of teaching and the amount of research or creative work by the faculty has decreased."

These qualitative opinions from a significant segment of the faculty are enforced by the frequent comments from students. Many students feel that semester courses taught on the trimester plan produce a frantic race against time, according to Dittmer, and they have had to curtail their meaningful extra-curricular activities.

A recent dissertation by Dr. Edward F. Kumpke clearly established that the entering freshman of high ability earn fewer hours of credit and achieve a lower grade point average during the first trimester than a comparable group earned under the semester plan.

The Council of Academic Affairs, an inter-institutional council established by the Board of Control, has placed the item of the "trimester" high on its agenda to study for improvement of the faculty and learning of the students.

The Council will concern itself with the soundness of the present system on an educational basis for both the faculty and the students. Cost of instruction and financial burden of the students will also be considered along with the utilizing of facilities on a more complete "year round" basis.

Harvey, Shentall Featured Tonight in 'Romeo-Juliet'

Laurence Harvey and Susan Shentall will be featured in tonight's Classic Film Series presentation of "Romeo and Juliet."

Shakespeare's drama was filmed in Italy, making full advantage of the Italian countryside. In this sensitive production, Castles, marketplaces, and costumes are as true as the time of the star-crossed lovers.

Showings are at 7:00 and 9:30 in the Student Auditorium and open to all members of University personnel and their families.

Admission is 50¢.

Other films included on the Classic Film Series this trimester are Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane" and the "Warner Bros." "The Sea Around Us," based on the book by Rachel Carson.

Two silent films have been scheduled: "Intolerance," the D.W. Griffith masterpiece which is probably the most important film ever made, according to critics, and Eric von Stroheim's classic, "Greed," "An Evening Of Comedy" will also be presented featuring the talents of Laurel and Hardy and W.C. Fields.

Nichols Publishes Pre-Algebra Text

The publication of "Pre-Algebra Mathematics," a junior high school textbook by Dr. Eugene D. Nichols was announced today by the publisher, Holt, Rinehart and Winston. One of a series of three modern mathematics textbooks by members of FSU's Department of Mathematics Education, the book was initially used in a preliminary mimeographed form in junior high mathematics classes in two Tallahassee schools, the University School and Elizabeth City Junior High.

Milton Carothers Speaks Tonight

Dr. Milton W. Carothers, professor of higher education at FSU, will speak tonight on the topic "Daniel Colt Gilman and American Graduate Education" in the Library Lecture Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Carothers' lecture is the first of a series of weekly lectures on the theme "Men and Universities: Their Intellectual Impacts on American Civilization" to be presented in the Library Lecture Hall each Wednesday night at 7:30 through April 7. The public is invited to attend.

Admission is free. Other January lectures will be: Reilis Brown of the Zoology Dept., "William Welch and the Training of Physicians," Jan. 13; Richard Bartlett of the Dept. of History, "Frederick Jackson Turner's American Interpretation of History," Jan. 20; and Jackson Ice of the Dept. of Philosophy, "William James and Pragmatism in America." Tonight's lecturer, Dr. Carothers, is former vice president of FSU. He joined the FSU faculty in 1943 as professor of education.

Corps Exam Set

The Peace Corps Placement Test will be given at the Tallahassee Post Office Building Saturday at 8:30 a.m. Although there is no need to register ahead of time, applicants should bring a completed questionnaire to the test center. The forms are available at the City Post Office and the FSU Placement Office on the third floor of the University Union.

The results of the tests are used, with the character references and questionnaires to estimate the applicant's fitness for competing in the intensive training program and his ability to be an effective volunteer overseas.

Merting Explains Insurance Sales

Student Government Insurance is again being sold for the second and third trimesters. Student Body President John Merting announced today.

The premium rates are $10.50 for student; $19.00 for student and spouse and $20.25 for student, spouse, and children.

Coverage will extend until September 1, 1965. The insurance covers the student's life or out of school, anywhere in the world.

During the first trimester of the school year, the Student Government Insurance program approached the $100,000 mark in premiums received, exceeding the total gross receipts of all three trimesters last year.

Try-Outs Planned

The University Theatre is having try-outs for the third major production tomorrow and Friday, at 7:30 in Conradi Theatre.

The play is Sophocles' "Antigone." The production dates are February 17-21.

Dr. Arthur Dorlag, Director of Theatre, emphasizes that try-outs are open to anyone who is interested. Also, those who are interested in working backstage may sign up during try-outs. Scripts are available in History 115.

Proven Progress?

We have read Governor Burns' inaugural speech with great interest, and, it seems, great things can be expected in the next two years. There were, however, certain points that indicated education may be taking a back seat to other considerations during the Governor's tenure. Governor Burns pointed out that, "An inaugural highlights our aspirations for the future, that will be even more golden as we translate our goals into realities." This is a fine avenue to pursue if our aspirations and the Governor's coincide. We hope they will, of course, but the text of the speech has given us reason to believe otherwise.

More than one reference was made to wide scale improvements to be brought about in Dade County. Is the Governor concerned about improvement for improvement's sake or for the sake of support in 1966. We hope the latter is not the case as it could mean a "Damn the torpedoes, full steam ahead" for reelection attitude in the next two years.

Sixteen paragraphs of the speech were devoted to Florida's "soaring economy" while only twelve were given to education. Perhaps the educational hopes for Florida can be summed up in two paragraphs, but we believe education should receive equal billing and consideration with the commercial interests. This point, and the open Board of Regents controversy with former governor Bryant does not present a good solid launching pad for any improvements in our educational system.

It is our hope that Governor Burns will reevaluate the importance of education until it takes top priority in the affairs of Florida.

"TAKE THIS HAMMER"

Band, Fleet Students Greet Governor Burns

FSU helped Tallahassee welcome in a new governor yesterday with numerous students participating one way or another in the inaugural festivities honoring Governor Burns. The Marching Chiefs Band led off the Inaugural parade at which the University was being represented by the "S.S. Education," a 34-foot float representing a ship. Earlier, FSU students registering for Trimester II took a break at 11 a.m. to attend inauguration ceremonies. Registration resumed at 1 p.m., according to Registrar Murray W. Kenna. FSU staff members also were allowed off for the inauguration. The inaugural parade represented the first appearance for the Marching Chiefs' new drum major, Camp Kirkland of Jacksonville and new head majorette, Paulette Gergen of Miami.

Some 20 students began work on the inaugural float during the holidays under the direction of Jeanne Williamson. The light brown ship floating on a silver and blue bed of foil had a crew of eight. The slogan was "Set Sail With Florida State." WFSU-TV began live broadcasting of inaugural ceremonies at 12 noon. The hour long program covered the administration of the oath of office to Governor-elect Burns, the delivery of the Great Seal of the State of Florida.

Appointments Made

President Gordon W. Blackwell and Graduate School Dean John K. Folger have accepted appointments to the Commission on Plans and Objectives for Higher Education of the American Council on Education. Both educators were appointed to three-year terms on the Commission, which is charged with identifying major problem areas, analyzing developments, and recommending policies for higher education. Dr. Blackwell has also recently accepted an appointment on the Commission on College Administration of the American Association of Colleges.

Jack Cannon, Men's Vice-President, was elected a regional chairman of the Associated Student Governments of the United States of America. Elected during the association's last national convention at the University of Oklahoma, Cannon will serve as chairman of a region made up of the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas.

Holiday Highlights

Seminoles Seek 'Pot of Gold'

By CRAIG REDDING

Settled back in my easy chair, I watched with glee the mighty Seminoles rattle-dazzle the way to a 36-19 Gator Bowl victory smashing bowl records all the way. For us unfortunate unable to attend the game in person, we viewed a special half-time treat when the ABC cameras went into the FSU locker room to listen to Coach Bill Peterson give his team a few last reminders. "Remember the Oklahoma pride," he cautioned, "but also remember the Florida State pride. Remember what I said last night, today we will either find a pot of gold or a bucket." Sieve Tensi along with All American Fred Biletnikoff led the way to the end of the rainbow.

Tensi completed 23 of 36 passes for 305 yards to set new Gator Bowl records. . . Biletnikoff caught 13 passes including four touchdowns for 192 yards breaking Ehler started the tribe on the war path when he intercepted a Bobby Page pass and shifted into high gear down the sideline for FSU's first TD. Phil Spooner burrowed through the Oklahoma defense for 125 yards. . . Spooner also attempted the extra point kicking for the ineligible Les Murdock. . . Nmbie Fred lost grasp of the pigskin and Oklahoma recovered on the two yard line.

Tensi hit Don Floyd for 52 yards and five completions including a TD. . . Page hit end Ben Hart for another record breaking score when he galloped 95 yards to score for the Sooners. . . Tensi and Fleet Fred shared most Valuable player honors. It was rumored that Tensi could have worn a tuxedo for the game. . . with the pass protection behind him he could have danced a few waltzes before taking aim. . . The Magnificent Seven and Forgotten Four climaxed the entire bowl when they held Oklahoma in the final seconds of the game for four consecutive downs on the one foot line.

Sieve Tensi, Don Floyd, Jack Edwards, and Les Murdock continue their careers together in pro ball as they signed with the San Diego Chargers moments after the final gun. . . Biletnikoff and Dick Herman team up with the Oakland Raiders, and Avery Sumner joins the ranks of the Detroit Tigers.

While Coach Pete ran his men

JERRY SHIRLEY

. . . led the Seminole Cagers in scoring during the holidays. He racked up 22 points against Baylor and 16 against both Tennessee and Tulsa.

Staffers Meet

There will be a meeting today at 4 p.m. in the Flambeau Office for all illustrious sports writers and anyone who wishes to become a member of this elite group.

through drills, other Seminoles were battling in various sports. Yale nipped the FSU Skippers by one half a point to win the Sugar Bowl Regatta. FSU finished second with 102 to Yale's 102-1/2.

The FSU Sprinters placed third in a field of thirteen in the Orange Bowl Track meet New Year's Day behind Southern and Tennessee. . . Jerry McDaniel put on a burst of speed to take third place in the 220.

. . . Don Phins pole vaulted himself into first place at 14 ft. 2-1/2 inches. . . Les King flew 22 ft. 9-1/2 inches to capture first place in the running broad jump.

The Seminole Cagers traveled a bumpy road over the holidays losing more and enjoying it less. In the Vanderbilt Invitational, the Oklahoma basketball team did what their helmet wearing proteges were unable to accomplish and defeated the Tribe 60-56. . . the Indians bounced back in the consolation game to trounce Baylor 82-61. . . Jerry Shirley lead with 22 points.

Tennessee triumphed over FSU 65-43 in a defensive battle which saw the Volunteers control the backboards. . . Gary Schull clutched another victory for the Tribe when he dumped in the winning basket over Tulsa in the final seconds. . . Bobby Lovell's 22 points led the Tribe to its 74-72 close win.

But alas, FSU was toppled again in the All College meet in Oklahoma City. It was a close first half with FSU leading ten times and 11 ties before Creighton pulled away to a 46-38 half time lead and went on to win 85-77.

Artist Series 'Beyond Fringe' To Be Changed

The performance date of the Broadway and London comedy hit "Beyond the Fringe" has been changed to Wed., March 3, it was announced today. An Artist Series production, it was originally scheduled for March 9.

"Beyond the Fringe" was recently returned from an eight-month tour to be rebroadcast on Broadway in its final season. Performed to sellout crowds, it was hailed by New York critics for its wit and humor.

The "New York Herald Tribune" wrote, "It is one of the most delectable and refreshing revues on Broadway or any other theatrical stage."

The "New York Times" cited actor Peter Cress as for his ability. The "Herald Tribune" favorite, Neil Patrick Harris, said "Beyond the Fringe" is the sharpest and most outrageously funny set of topical sketches in years, was written and presented by four Englishmen, not long out of Oxford in Cambridge.

Traveling through a set made of ladders, arches and platforms they are nervously impudent to everyone and everything.

The full defense lecturer advises his listeners to get out of the danger zone—that's where the bomb drops, he says, "and tells a questioner that public services will be resumed shortly after the holocaust, but at least it may only be a relation service."

Discussing international relations, he says in his most British manner, "We have to remember it is a war, we need to take it seriously."

Fulbrighter Here

Theodore T. Dombrows, Executive Vice-Chairman of the Committee on International Exchange of Persons of Research Councils will be on campus Friday, to discuss the Fulbright-Hays program with interested administrators.

He will interview faculty members who wish to learn about lecturing and research awards for senior scholars under the Fulbright-Hays Act.

Appointments with Dombrows may be made through Alice Chambers in the residents office.

President John Merting Selects J. Williamson Senate Secretary

John Merting, Student Body President, today announced the appointment of Jeannie Williamson as Acting Secretary of Senate.

Miss Williamson will fill the term left by resigning secretary Sandra Brooks. Miss Brooks vacated her office this trimester to intern.

Merting said that he had appointed Miss Williamson because of her excellent past record in Student Government affairs. "I expect her to fill the interim term more than adequately," said Merting.

Miss Williamson said that her appointment will last until the new secretary takes over following the campus elections in February. She said that she does not plan to run for the office.

This is the second time that Miss Williamson has been called on to fill an interim appointment. This summer she was the acting Student Body Vice-President.

"Jeannie did a tremendous job this summer," said Merting. "Especially considering the suddenness of the situation that required the unexpected change," he added.

Miss Williamson previously served for two years as a senator. She is currently the chairman of the University Union Faculty Relation Committee and heads of the English Coffee Hour Committee.

11,500 Register For FSU Spring Session

By SALLEY ANN HUFFAKER

Assistant News Editor

Registrar Murray Kenna announced today that 11,500 students have registered for the Spring trimester. Late registration begins today with a fine of $25 for those students who have not registered. Students who have failed to register because of university procedure such as academic probation will not have to pay a late fee.

The late fee was raised from $5 to $25 because $5 did not stop students from late registration, said Kenna.

"The purpose of the fee is to get students back in class," he added. The Registrar did not propose the fee, according to Kenna. It was proposed by the Controller and approved by the fee committee. Money collected in late fees will go into the same fund as the regular registration fee of $13 for first-time students. It will be distributed with the regular fee.

"We are hoping to collect less with the higher late fee," stated George E. Fortin, controller.

"The purpose of the fee is not to collect revenue but to cut the number of late students," he explained. "The success of raising the fee will depend on less collection," he added. During pre-registration, 10,000 students registered. All students who were enrolled in FSU this Fall were required to pre-register.

"We have not taken action against students who did not pre-register because we wanted students to get used to the new system," Kenna explained.

The purpose of the white check-in cards was to let the Registrar's Office know which students are on campus. This is to help find students if they receive long distance calls or important messages, Kenna explained.

Next week Kenna must report the exact number of students enrolled at FSU. He explained that the check-in cards will enable him to do this accurately.

"In the success of the success of re-registration for this Spring, we must look at all the changes. In general I think it was quite successful," Kenna concluded.

Stipends Offered June Graduates

Students interested in a fellowship in the government service and who will receive their bachelor's degree by June must submit their application to Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer I, University, Alabama, by March 1, 1965," said Coleman B. Ransone, Program Educational Director.

Opportunities for fellowships, each totaling a value of $3,000, are offered for study at three different universities. The stipend is $2,500 and the remainder consists of fees and tuition at the three cooperating universities.

Beginning this June, fellows will serve a three-months' internship with a government agency in Alabama, Kentucky or Tennessee such as TVA, Marshall Space Flight Center, a city or department in one of the state governments.

During the 1965-66 academic year, they will take graduate courses in public administration at the university.

Upon completion of the training a fellow is entitled to a Certificate in Public Administration. A MS Degree can be obtained by completing a thesis and passing appropriate exams.

Debators Travel

FSU debaters will compete in two tournaments, at Agnes Scott College in Atlanta and at Millsaps College in Jackson, Miss., this weekend.

Traveling to Jackson will be Mike Rippling and Bill Leap, Ken Olsen and Jonathan David (Jody) Schumann. Competing at Atlanta will be Elaine Napier, Preston McGee, and Paul Berger and Frank Natter.

Education Dean Receives Check

Dr. Mode Stone, Dean of the School of Education, got a belated Christmas present from the Tallahassee JayCees recently when they presented him with a $680 check. The check will go into a fund earmarked for the Southern Scholarship and Research Foundation here at the University. The Foundation is engaged in educational research in Florida.

The money from the JayCees will be primarily used to help further the education of intelligent but needy students, said Jay Cee President Jim Joanos.

The civic group raised the money by sponsoring a golf tournament in Tallahassee. Phil Hunt presenting the check headed the project

Looking Ahead

The FSU Student Government has, year after year, absorbed the major portion of criticism handed out on campus. Much of this criticism has probably been justified, but a great deal of it has been next to useless.

The criticism, or more properly, the complaints we have heard have been of such a nature as to do little more than notify the SG there is unrest among the students. We question whether this unrest stems from immature desire to do some good old griping or a sincere concern with the affairs of Student Government and the campus.

An important consideration in evaluating the operation of Student Government is the time element involved. Any good organization trying to coordinate the affairs of 11,000 people would hire full-time, top notch officials. We can elect top-notch officials but they are never able to devote the time needed for administration of their offices. Nor can there be and continuity in this administration with the one year term of office.

We would hope that future critics would keep two points in mind before writing the damning letter of voicing the next gripe. First, is there enough personal interest in seeing Student Government improved to warrant a criticism? Second, is there a concrete, constructive suggestion that can accompany the criticism? Criticism is not wrong. In fact it is a healthy state of affairs when approached with the two simple considerations given above.

We expect quite a few opportunities to evaluate new programs instituted Student Government in the next few weeks. We have heard a number of good suggestions and plans from the SG offices since returning to school. If these do not meet with approval or constructive re-appraisal from the student body, a number of ambitious projects will no doubt be assigned to the circular file.

All we ask is the mature attitude that should be manifested whenever a person has a voice in the administration of his government.

Review of 1964

FSU Sees Changes And Progress

The year 1964 saw educational, honorary, athletic and administrative changes at FSU.

One of the most notable changes came with the loss of FSU's President of the past four years, Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, who is returning to Furman University as president in February.

The year's activities in the area of science included a Conference on Molecular Mechanisms in Photobiology bringing 45 scientists from seven countries to the campus and to nearby Wakulla Springs Feb. 16-21. Discussions covered the application of molecular theory to such problems as photosynthesis, photoreactivation and vision.

On the same day the Colloquium on Experimental Colleges was attended by 40 educators April 5-8. Ten experimental colleges from other administrative officials present to discuss new approaches to undergraduate education.

The FSU Student Circus performed for the first time before foreign audiences in a month-long tour of Spain, France, Italy and Greece. In sports, FSU came through with its best football performance to date, with a 9-1-1 record, a victory in the Gator Bowl and an All-American pass-catcher, Fred Eilenkoff.

Graduate education, showing a modest advance, provided one of the most impressive developments at FSU during the year. The enrollment in 1964 in the Graduate School increased by 170 in 1963, and 135 in 1964—the 1964 enrollment representing a gain of 50 percent over 1960.

The enrollment of 2008 put FSU half way along the road to an enrollment of 4,000 graduate students the University expects in 1970. Already, graduate enrollment is increasing faster than total enrollment, which rose 35 percent from 9019 in 1960 to 12,135 in 1964. The University awarded 119 degrees during the year, placing FSU among the leading institutions in the South in the number of such degrees. FSU awarded its first doctorate in 1952 and the number has increased steadily.

Among undergraduate classes the junior class was most numerous in 1964. There were 2654 juniors enrolled this fall, compared with 1651 in 1960, an increase of 61 percent.

On March 18 FSU's University Theater introduced the British play "Trog" to American audiences with the playwright James Forsythe present.

FSU also showed progress in campus expansion. The Olympic style swimming pool was opened in mid-summer, followed in the fall by four new buildings in the University Lake complex. A new dormitory, Sallee Hall, housing nearly 600 students, also opened in 1964.

Speech Device Being Tested

By combining ideas from different fields, Leo Sneedker, FSU graduate student in speech therapy, has developed a device which may provide additional help to persons with speech impediments for whom other therapy techniques have had minimal success.

Based upon the principle that a person must hear a sound before he can reproduce it easily, Sneedker's instrument consists of an amplifier and a microphone connected to earphone-like parts held against the patient's throat by adjustable padding.

Through the use of this device, the therapist or teacher is able to project the proper sound, which the patient can hear through both his outer ears and through internal sound.

Although this instrument may be helpful in learning foreign languages as well as providing help with speech problems, Sneedker cautions against premature evaluation of his device. It must be tested more extensively before it can be judged effective.

Campus Uses World As Lab

Using the world as its laboratory, the mobile University of the Seven Seas combines land and ocean travel in its curriculum.

This floating campus offers the student a world study voyage integrating academic training with foreign study experiences. The passenger liner, the M.S. Seven Seas, serves as the campus, providing properly equipped classrooms, library, study and recreational areas.

Classes are conducted aboard ship daily. When in port, students will be assigned field work involving conferences and interviews with leaders in government, business, education, religion, and the arts. For the spring semester, the M.S. Seven Seas will sail Feb. 7 from Los Angeles down the Mexican coast while conducting a regular schedule of academic classes.

During the semester, the students will visit Southampton, England, Paris, Barcelona, Switzerland, Munich, Vienna, Budapest and Moscow.

A non-profit organization, the University of the Seven Seas is authorized by the California State Department of Education to grant degrees and issue transcripts. It places its emphasis wholly on education. Class attendance is compulsory.

The University Program offers courses in the areas of Creative Arts, Human Resources, Management of Human Affairs, Physical Resources and Physical Education and Recreation.

Interested students can request application forms from the Director of Admissions, University of the Seven Seas, Whittier, California.

Previous University semester voyages have been around the world, trips using the ship as a permanent headquarters. This Spring Semester is the first to combine land-based and ocean campuses.

Glaessner New Geology Professor

Dr. Martin F. Glaessner, an Australian geologist and author of a widely used textbook on the principles of micropaleontology, has arrived at FSU to spend the second semester as a visiting professor in the department of geology.

Department Chairman George W. Moore said the visiting specialist in stratigraphy and paleontology is one of the National Science Foundation Senior Foreign Scientists Program.

Glaessner conducted a graduate level course in the principles of stratigraphy. Glaessner will give seminars during the trimester ending in April.

Native of Austria, Glaessner has been professor of geology at the University of Adelaide since 1950 and recently has participated in research on the world's oldest animal fossils, fossil worms and other animals said to be 600 million years old. They were found in a desert 100 miles north of Adelaide.

He received a law degree and then a Ph.D. degree in geology from the University of Vienna, later getting a doctor of science degree from the University of Melbourne.

From 1923 to 1932 Glaessner was research associate at the Vienna State Museum of Natural History and for part of this time also was associated with the British Museum of Natural History.

From 1932 to 1937 he was in Moscow as a foreign correspondent, serving part of this time at the Academy of Science.

From 1938 to 1950 he was chief paleontologist for the Australasian Petroleum Co., serving much of this time in field work and laboratory research in New Guinea.

He was associated part of this time with the University of Melbourne, which published his book in 1945. The geologist is the author of some 100 other publications.

Glaessner is a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Science, a research associate of the American Museum of Natural History and chairman of the Australian National Committee for the Geological Sciences.

His wife, a native of Moscow, is with him on the FSU assignment. She has taught scientific Russian at the University of Adelaide and now is making some scientific translations from Russian literature.

A daughter, Vera, recently graduated as an English and Latin major from the University of Adelaide, and presently is on her way to England.

Larry received the award for saving the life of Mrs. Marie Reier last July while working as a life guard at the officers pool. Mrs. Reier was pulled from the pool and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was administered until her breathing was restored.

Trip Awarded Contest Winner

First prize of a month-long, all-expense paid trip to Europe, including a summer-school session in Geneva about the United Nations, will be awarded to the winner of the college essay writing contest, sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN).

The contest is designed to produce a better understanding of the UN by college students.

Entrants must notify the CCUN at 345 E. 46th St., New York, no later than Jan. 15, 1965. Rules will be mailed.

Undergraduate students enrolled in any accredited university may submit entries. They must compose an essay of 3500 words or less, after watching "Carol for Another Christmas," on ABC-TV, Dec. 28, at 9:30 p.m. Peter Sellers headed the cast of this drama.

Each essay must concentrate on the theme of the play, the idea that today more than ever before, no man can live as an island. The student may write on this in whatever direction he may desire.

Preliminary winners will be judged regionally and the top five finalists will be selected by a panel including John Gunther and Henry Cabot Lodge.

The grand prize winner will be flown from his home to New York. Second prize is a paid trip to Europe, including UN briefings. Third prize is a trip to San Francisco in June to attend the 20th anniversary celebration of the UN charter. Other prizes include sets of Encyclopaedia Britannica, 1964 edition and the Britannica World Language Dictionary.

Society Playing Role Of Parent

Corrections people are continuously having to step in and substitute for the mother or father of a delinquent whose family has failed to "socialize" him, criminologist Dr. Vernon Fox of FSU said recently. Speaking on the Criminology and Corrections Program he heads at FSU, Fox told a session at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that when the family fails to socialize an individual, society has to step in.

"It is much easier for the individual to grow for society when the socialization process takes place in the home, the school, the church, and other 'normal' agencies of socialization, because the social controls will then have been internalized in the individual," he said.

"External controls must be applied by law enforcement agencies, courts and correctional institutions and agencies when this internalization of controls fails to occur."

Criminology and corrections is concerned with this continuum ranging from rigidly internalized controls, on the one hand, to the necessity for completely external control over deviant persons who have internalized no controls at all, on the other.

"The extent of the necessary use of these external controls for the eventual achievement of internalized control in the deviant individual is the basic concept in criminology and corrections."

When society performs the socializing process it must recapitulate the process in the family and thus perform something of the mother's role and something of the father's Fox added.

The "helping professions" such as welfare agencies, social work, clinical psychology, psychiatry and church groups "tend to assume the more permissive and 'nurturing' mother-functions" while the police the courts and correctional institutions and agencies "assume a more authoritative and controlling function that recapitulates the father function," Fox said.

"The antagonism between social work and many correctional programs apparently results from the confusion of the mother-function and father-function in the re-socialization process," Fox added. "This running antagonism has become intense in many places, thereby immobilizing the potential for cooperation between social work and criminology and corrections."

FSU, whose Dept. of Criminology and Corrections is in the School of Social Welfare, with its graduate program in social work, avoids the conflict with "a balanced, cooperative and complementary program," he said.

At the same time there is "a wide use of other departments in the University in order to get a realistic liberal arts education taught by liberal arts people."

A 22-painting exhibition of New England water colors by Leslie Powell is now open in the Union Gallery.

Powell has staged 27 one-man exhibitions throughout the U.S. and has been shown in nine group exhibitions, including shows at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, and the Whitney Museum of Art.

Paintings by Powell are included in the collections of nine public galleries and in numerous private collections.

The Oklahoma-born artist began his study of art at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. He earned his bachelor of fine arts degree from Columbia University in 1952 and his master of arts degree from Columbia in 1954.

His paintings are described by the "New York Times" as "composed of suavely tailored shapes that bank and dive and swirl over the canvases. This is cubism used to decorative ends; his compositions are as elaborate as they are skillful."

Paintings by Powell on exhibition at the University Union Gallery include "Surging Tide," "Beach Still Life," "Lamplight," "Ruined Pier," "Boats and Houses," and "Sailboats."

The paintings are offered for sale at prices ranging from $60 to $250.

FSU-Miami Clash Saturday Rick Barry; Top Nation Scorer

By CRAIG REDDING
Sports Editor

Miami's Potential All American Rick Barry, leading scorer in the nation with a 36.9 average will head the Hurricanes Saturday night in Tully Gymnasium when the fighting Seminoles Cagers meet Miami at 8 p.m.

Barry has clicked on his last 44 free throw attempts, joining the national leaders with an .850 conversion percentage and his 17.2 rebound average is in the top ten in the nation.

Everytime Barry steps out on the courts, he sets records scoring 55 points in Miami's opener against Tampa, and 45 against Yale in the Hurricane classic. Yale had mustered a three point lead over the 'Canes when Barry cut loose with 19 points in three minutes to clinch a Miami victory.

In ten consecutive games he had led both teams in scoring and usually in rebounding. Last year, FSU held the wonder boy to minimum scoring in two close matched games which saw the Seminoles edge out Miami 80-78 at home, and barely lose in an over time period in Miami 82-80.

The Tribe will also have to contend with forward Wayne Beckner, guard John Dampier, and center Don Patrician, all threats when they have the ball.

FSU has been plagued this year by fouls and rebounds, two categories where Barry and his team mates excel. Barry and Becker both post over an .800 percent on free throw shots. (Barry sinking 109 out of 127, and Becker 37 of 44).

The Seminoles will have their work cut out for them. Jerry Shirley leads the Tribe in the charity shooting department hitting 16 for 17 for a .941 average. Ron Malmen and Ken Leakey also have fine records for shooting foul shots.

However the Cagers seem to commit more fouls than they shoot. Charlie Fairchild played five minutes in a game against Creighton over the holidays and committed five personal fouls.

If the game with Miami is close near the finish, chances are Gary Schull will be given the opportunity to try his now famous 'last second attempt'. Schull won both the Florida and Tulsa game with a final second lay up shot.

Pete Gonzalez should be trouble for the Miami team with his quick hands snatching the ball away from an offensive man.

FSU To Snap Bulldog Streak?

Cagers Travel To Georgia

By HANK SCHOMBER

The Seminole cagers travel to Athens tonight to meet with a tough University of Georgia team. Led by Jerry Shirley and Gary Schull, Florida State will try to be the first team to beat the Bulldogs in their new 12,000 seat coliseum. Georgia has won seven in a row at home since their new field house opened late last season.

Georgia hopes to even a 4-5 record at the expense of the Seminoles. Included in the Bulldogs four wins are victories over Georgia Tech and Tulane.

Currently Coach Bud Kennedy's team have a 6-6 record including wins over Baylor, Tulsa and Florida.

Shirley and Schull are presently in a battle for high scoring honors. Schull has scored 159 points in eleven games and Shirley has dropped in 134 for nine. Forward Ron Malmen is right behind with 127.

Florida State faces almost the same team which split a pair of games with them last year. Returning Georgia starters include Jerry Waller, Mack Crenshaw, Jimmy Pitts, and Lee Martin. Last year's captain, Charles Bagby, who accounted for 292 points is the only missing starter. Replacing him will be either Ray Jeffords of Bryan Phillips. Pitts is the Bulldog's captain and leading scorer averaging 20 points a game. Waller and Crenshaw, both 6-7 are in charge of clearing the backboards.

This is the twenty-fourth meeting between the two teams with the Seminoles holding a 15-3 edge. Last year the Seminoles won a 64-63 squeaker in Tallahassee and dropped their season's final 70-85 at Athens. Saturday Florida State returns to Tallahassee and opens a five game home stand with powerful Miami.

SEMINOLES PREPARE FOR FUTURE

It looks like a rebuilding year for the mighty Seminoles. Only three defensive men will have to be replaced in the "shaved head" line. Dick Herman, Avery Summer, and Winfred Bailey leave the ranks. Herman and Summer join the pros. Bailey was in the top ten nationally for pass interceptions.

Coming back to defend the rankings of the Magnificent seven are George D'Allesandro, Frank Penille, Jack Schinholser, Bill McDowell, and Max Weinstein. Maury Elbert, Jim Massey, and Howard Elmer remain in the Forgotten Four.

The offense loses seven of its big guns including ace Steve Tensi, All American Fred Bittenshoff, Big Red Dawson, Tom West, Dale McKenzie, and Jack Edwards. Returning for the offense are Joe Avenasano, Del Williams, Wayne Giardino, and Phil Spooner.

The kicking game is not destined to be as effective and the offense is expected to be hampered in the beginning according to coach James. There are holes to fill and prospects to fill them.

CAGERS PLAY GEORGIA

The Seminole Cagers face Georgia Bulldogs tonight in the FSU game. The Bulldogs have never lost a game since their new coliseum has been completed. FSU goes into the game with a record against a 4-5 Bulldogs record. However, the Tribe in Georgia in their home ground for year 35-70 and both teams are turning with pretty much the same team.

The Cagers have a one shot before taking on the hot Hurricane of Miami and leading scorer Rick Barry. Miami boasts an 80-78 record winning the Hurricane classic for the second time in three years.

The Tribe is behind the series with Miami having won 13 and losing 16. FSU contains a fabulous Barry last year with victories with Miami.

It will be the Tribes first game since the holidays. The freshmen sport a 2-3 record as host Gulf Coast in a preliminary game before the varsity games Tuesday night.

Football Future Questionable

By MELODIE BETTS

Assistant Sports Editor

Hoarse throats are getting back to normal after the victorious Gator Bowl and the air is now filled with questions. Will FSU join the SEC? Is it profitable to become a conference team? Who will replace our graduating lettermen, seven of whom have signed pro contracts?

Is there a place kicker to take over Les Murdock's position? Can the defense be repaired to match this year's national ranking? What will happen to the offense?

It is doubtful that FSU will become a member of the SEC, according to first five games next year against the teams' coaches. The reason being that the SEC although losing Georgia, and Alabama, "Even if we two teams still has ten members making it one of the biggest southern conferences."

SEC recognition could be an asset of defect to the University. As a member of the conference, FSU would receive a percentage of all the bowl games and nationally televised games in which a member partakes. Schedules for all sports events would include top major teams.

It is possible that in the long run it would prove more profitable, to remain independent. If FSU is in contention for another bowl game within the next few years or has some of its games nationally televised, it would prove a bigger boost than being a member of the conference.

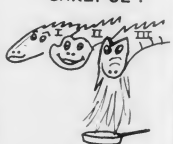

FSU's future schedule appears to be one of the toughest yet, with the first five games next year against Texas Christian, Baylor, Kentucky, Georgia, and Alabama. "Even if we two teams still has ten members making it one of the biggest southern conferences."

SEC recognition could be an asset of defect to the University. As a member of the conference, FSU would receive a percentage of all the bowl games and nationally televised games in which a member partakes. Schedules for all sports events would include top major teams.

However, FSU will not have the same team. It will be a rebuilding year for Coach Peterson and his staff. Phil McKinnon along with some freshmen are possible choices to replace kicker Les Murdock, James.

A strong defensive line looks to be for next year but the offense will still use the pro attack, will be instantly be hampered. Coach Peterson praised the student body for their spirit and support.

Burns Bypasses Regents Board: Goes To Cabinet

Haydon Burns served no role in the state yesterday that when something done it will be done if he has to do it himself.

At the inauguration speech Burns announced that he would investigate the transfer system to see if it was dropped. Yesterday he announced he will ask the Board of Regents to make up if the Governor's state Cabinet members for the first semester in state university.

SG Cabinet Discusses Teachers Evaluation, Seating Committee

John Merting, Student Body President, announced at yesterday's cabinet meeting that he will address the Senate concerning the complete program of all Student Government projects and services that will be available this trimester.

Merting first discussed the progress made on the campus wide teacher evaluation project.

"We will have a complete campus evaluation before I leave office," said Merting. He explained that the council of deans voted in favor of this evaluation of the faculty with the exception of Dean Karl Dittmer. Dittmer's reservations stem from his fear that the evaluations might turn in to some sort of "scandal sheet." However, Merting feels that if the evaluations were made before grades were issued, that the students could evaluate honestly and maturely.

It was also suggested that a seating committee be established. This committee would be in charge of all student seating at all campus events.

McPherson Lectures In Religious Series

Harold McPherson, Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs, will deliver two lectures in 'Ethics and Politics' at FSU Monday at 8:30 p.m. and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

The two lectures are free and open to the public and are part of the Religion in Life series at FSU. They are sponsored by the Department of Government and the University Committee on Religious Affairs.

This committee consists of students and faculty appointed by the President.

Topics of discussion deal with the relation of religion to all phases of life. One speaker per trimester is asked to deliver two lectures.

McPherson's schedule will include a luncheon at 12:00 noon Monday for the department of Government Personnel and a reception at 4 p.m. for student leaders and selected faculty.

He will lecture Professor Roddy's class in American political parties, Tuesday, a luncheon that afternoon at 12:30 for University faculty and staff, dinner at the KAT house and informal discussion at 9:30 p.m. at Sully Hall to answer any questions about his lecture.

McPherson attended Southern Methodist University before transferring to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he graduated in 1949 with a BA in English.

He began graduate study at Columbia, but left to join the Air Force after the outbreak of the Korean War. Discharged in 1953, he entered the University of Texas Law School and received his LL.B. in 1955. He is a member of the Texas Bar Association and the Federal Bar Association.

McPherson succeeded Lucius Battle as Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs last August. He had previously served as Deputy Undersecretary of the Army for International Affairs.

He was also appointed last April as Special Assistant to the Secretary of the Army for Civil Functions.

The Little Seminole Matinee Film Series will present "Tom Thumb" Saturday in Moore Auditorium. Russ Tamblin, Peter Sellers, Alan Young and June Tabor are featured in this story of the five-and-one-half-inch boy whose exploits are classic in the annals of children's tales.

The roles are performed by live actors and animated puppets. Two comedies have also been scheduled for the show, which will be at 3:25. Admission is $35 c. 1 opened to all students, university personnel and their families.

Other films to appear on the Little Seminole Matinee Film Series are Festival Award winning English film, "Land in Hand" and an adaptation of Tarkington's novel, "Penrod and Sam." The "Adventures of Robin Hood," starring Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland, and winner of three Academy Awards.

Twelve Named Wilson Finalists

Twelve FSU students have been selected for the final eliminations in the Wilson Foundation Fellowship program. These students and others from other colleges and universities in Florida will be interviewed in Orlando January 15-17.

The twelve students are: Carol C. Clifton, English; Julian E. Collins, government; Robert Darling, Physics; Richard L. Davis, mathematics; Gae E. Elder, English; Rodella J. Hayke, philosophy; Gregory S. McNeilly, physics; Charles R. Middleton, history; Thomas G. Pelham, government; Nan McC. Sumner, English; Deborah P. Snow, government; and Andrew W. Zimel, Spanish.

The FSU students were among 64 nominated by faculty members at the University. In the past, approximately half of the students invited to the oral interviews by regional selection committees have been awarded fellowships by the National Committee.

Fellowships pay all tuition and fees for first year graduate students and a living stipend of $1800, $2800 or more depending on the number of dependents.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation seeks to attract outstanding students to college teaching as a profession.

Prof. Publishes, Student Perishes

The student-professor relationship is one that has long interested me. This relationship is undoubtedly far from ideal, and this column will be concerned with one reason for this unsatisfactory circumstance.

"Publish or perish" best summarizes this aspect of the larger problem. Promotion is apparently based more on the number of scholarly publications than on effectiveness as a teacher.

The well publicized case of the Tufts professor who was discharged is a prime example. He was considered most effective in the classroom by the administration, but he had not published enough scholarly material. The fact that he had written a popular best seller called "Four Against Everest" did not matter.

Even if a professor desires not to publish, he is virtually forced to do so if he wishes to advance. In addition, the number of publications has become a new academic status symbol.

The pressure to publish affects the student in two main ways. First, the professor has less time to devote to the student's needs; and second, there is less necessity in being concerned with effectiveness as a teacher.

Certainly research is a necessity, but the present situation is much too artificial. There are professors doing research who should be spending the time in and out of the classroom with their students.

This situation is also compounded by the publication of "trash" which is in turn detrimental to the student's must research for papers.

Now the professors are being deprived of the right and necessity contributing to that education.

There seems to be an awareness of the problem. Even the "Tallahassee Democrat" has had at least one editorial on the subject.

One editorial states that in the teaching load decreased from an average of 12 hours per week to

During the much publicized variety of California protests, the publicized students protesting were treated as IBM cards. Some of these classes have 800 students per class. Part of the California protest was a result of a strong emphasis on research. The student protest seemed to do little good on the scene.

It's time for the students in U.S.A. to arise. But will they

Early Graduation

Since returning to school we have heard a number of comments on the scheduled graduation date for this trimester. The date has been set for the evening of Thursday, April 22. The office of Academic Affairs has explained to us that, with exams ending on the 21st, it seemed most acceptable to have graduation as soon as possible to avoid making students wait around until Saturday.

The complications of this decision appear great enough to reconsider the present date and perhaps schedule graduation Saturday, April 24. It will be next to impossible for families, especially those with both parents working, to make the trip to Tallahassee in the middle of the week to see their son or daughter graduate.

After four years of support, both moral and financial, we would like to have our parents see us receive the ol' sheepskin.

There is a possibility that nothing can be done at this point as a speaker has already been invited for the 22nd and a reply is expected next week. If the invitation is accepted the date will be definite, and all we can say is we should have looked at the catalogue a little earlier.

But, if the proposed speaker is unable to accept the engagement, and there is enough sentiment expressed by the student body for a Saturday graduation, it is likely the date could be changed.

This editor will be happy to receive all comments on this subject in order to ascertain a general pro or con feeling toward the Thursday graduation. As soon as definite word is received from the President's office we will report to you in this column.

Holley feels that these goals may be achieved by the promotion of a spirit of student co-operation and mutual understanding.

The coloring book urges students to voice their grievances to their seniors or to the Administration. According to Holley, the campus has shown a "pretty good reaction so far" to the publication.

The Mickey Mofu Coloring Book is being distributed off campus at $3.35 a copy. Students may obtain a copy by writing to FSU/SHS, P.O. Box 2531, Tallahassee.

Third Summer Science Institute Set

A summer institute in science for junior high school science teachers will be at FSU for the third year next summer. Dr. J. Stanley Marshall, director, announced today. Fifty-five teachers from Broward County will attend the National Science Foundation sponsored institute. Dr. William Long, assistant professor of meteorology will teach a meteorology course, and Philip For-dyce, science education, will direct a science education seminar.

The institute is financed by a $70,000 NSF grant.

Two guest lecturers will be Prof. Edwin R. Biel, recently retired head of the meteorology department at Rutgers University, and Dr. Richard Craig, professor of meteorology at FSU.

Biel is now a visiting professor at the University of Chicago. He holds the Ph. D. degree from the University of Vienna. A recipient of the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching, his special interest is climatology.

Craig has served as weather fore-caster and participated in research projects at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology meteorology department and radiation laboratory at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. His interest is the upper atmosphere.

Field trips will be made to the university's marine laboratory, the U.S. Weather Bureau's radar station at Apalachicola and the weather station in Miami.

Of special value to the institute program, according to Marshall, will be the science teaching center at the university. This site consists of model secondary school and elementary school laboratories, a large equipment display room (containing $75,000 worth of equipment), dark rooms, workshop, science curriculum library, graduate student careers, duplicating facilities and the offices of science education faculty.

Overtime Victory

FSU Streaks Past Georgia

By ED ROWLEY
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminole Cagers downed the Georgia Bulldogs 64-55 in overtime last night before a packed house in Athens. The victory gave the cagers a winning record thus far bringing the season record to 7 won, 6 lost.

The Seminoles got off to a slow start trailing the Bulldogs for the first five minutes by from two to seven points. With 10:15 left in the first half, however, the Tribe got hot and sank three baskets in two minutes.

Finally with two-thirds of the half gone, Ron Malmien scored a long set shot to put the Seminoles ahead for the first time 20-19.

The FSU squad kept the lead for four and a half minutes until Bill Fitts of Georgia tied the game 24-24. Allowing the Bulldogs only one more basket, Jerry Shirley and Ron Malmien hit for five more points to put the Seminoles ahead at half time 31-29.

Georgia grabbed the half time tip-off and Dwayne Powell scored two quick points with a fast breaking layup to begin the third stanza of play. Powell again got possession of the ball and added another two points to bring FSU's lead down to 31-30.

The Seminoles retained their lead until Georgia again pulled ahead 34-33 with 14 minutes remaining. Pulling ahead the Georgia squad maintained a two to six point lead until the last two minutes when Bill Peacock and Pete Gonzalez each scored two points to tie up the ball game 31-32.

FSU broke the ball in the last minute to put to sink two points and reach the game but couldn't, sending the game into overtime. The center for FSU was Gary Schell with 20 points followed by Jerry Shirley and Ron Malmien.

Tankers Journey To Tulane: First Meet Of The Season

The Seminole swimmers journey to New Orleans tomorrow for their first meet of the season against the Tulane Greenwave. Under the guidance of Coach "Firm" Saults the Tankers beat Tulane last season 57-34.

Despite the fact that FSU enjoyed a perfect winning season last year and that only two members of the '64 squad articulated, the outlook for this winter looks rough.

The squad is stronger this year but Saults feels the opposition has improved slightly more than the Seminoles. North Carolina State and the University of North Carolina have improved noticeably due to strong '64 fresh teams.

FSU swimmers to look for this year include Dick Abbott, who has school records in the 100 yard freestyle, 200 yard freestyle, and 200 yard individual medley. Gene Dayton, who holds the school record for the 500 yard freestyle. John Rangeley, with his record 100 yard butterfly time, and Richard Acosta who holds the 100 and 200 yard backstroke records.

JACK CANNON

With campus conventions starting next week, rumors about Student Government candidates for the coming elections have been flying around the SG office, and gatherings of the FSU 'leaders' are making speculations as to who will run in February.

Possible candidates include Jack Cannon and Jim Groot for President. Cannon is the present Men's Vice President and a member of the Student Party. Groot is a member of University Party.

Speculators put Larry Gonzales in the running for SG Vice President on the UP ticket.

Men's Vice-President has many contenders according to the insiders. Jack Siperly and Bill Wood are UP hopefuls. Jim McClay, Bruce Robinson, Steve Wynn, Rick Fritz, and Mel Smith are possible SP contenders.

Madra Nelson and Nancy Ashley may be in the running for Women's Vice-President. Miles Nelson is a UP member and Nancy is a SP candidate.

Don Loucks may run for Chief Justic of the Honor Court, but no one has been suggested for the Chairman of Judiciary.

Hank Houser has been rumored for various positions, but nothing definite has been mentioned.

'At present time, I can't give you any definite plans,' said Al Melton, chairman of Student Party.

The only candidate that Melton mentioned is Jack Cannon. Walt Martindale, chairman of University Party, was unavailable for comment.

Registrar Denies Unfair Criticism

Registrar Murray Kenna today denies rumors that there has been an unfair enforcement of the late registration fee.

'Whenever there has been a doubt, the student has been excused,' he said.

Kenna said that the fee was not implemented until after Wednesday since it had to be enforced. He stated that originally the enforcement was to begin last Monday.

'We were able to cut late registration fee. I can count on one hand how many late registered each day,' Kenna said.

'There is no more problem as far as the administration is concerned,' Kenna said.

'Concerning the fee for turning in late white cards later, Kenna said that no academic demerits are enforcing the fee.

He stated that he has been in touch with the academic deans and knows what they're doing. He does not seem to think that they have enforced the fee harshly.

'The fee has been a success in that it has accomplished its purpose,' Kenna stated. He cited the few late registrations as evidence that the fee has been successful.

More Efficient

Informed sources in Student Senate say that a bill to be introduced in Wednesday's Senate session will seek to make the position of Secretary of the Senate an appointive rather than an elective one.

There seem to be some rather strong reasons for the proposed change. Until now the office has been a regular political popularity contest, not determined on merit. Certainly the voters have not been asked to decide which secretary will take better notes.

As a result of politics, the office has fallen into desperate straits. Files are not up to date. Bills and resolutions are lost or prepared neither adequately nor in time for Senate action.

Also, there have been cases where the Secretary of the Senate and the Vice President of the Student Body who presides over Senate meetings have been from different political parties thus causing further artificial strife.

We are in favor of the proposed change. Anything that will permit the senators to spend more of their important time in pertinent affairs is a step in the right direction.

We urge Senate to consider carefully what improvements the legislation will have and report it back from committee with a favorable recommendation.

The Expensive White Card

I returned to FSU Tuesday night at 7 p.m. I went to the ballroom at the Union Wednesday morning around 8:15 to turn in my white registration card. A sign there and a man said to go to the Suwannee Room. Later I went to the Suwannee Room and no one was there who would take it. I could not stay and wait all day because I had classes. I asked around and no one seemed to know where to go.

Today, Thursday, I went back and they fined me $25.00 for not turning my card in by Wednesday! The lady sent me to "my academic dean." Did I get to see him? NO!!! I got to talk to three other ladies. The last one told me I "surely must not have cared very much" and "I could not have tried very hard." "Why didn't you cut your classes to turn the card in?"

I thought the whole point behind the fee was to be sure students did not return late and did not cut classes!! It seems to me that the whole purpose of this fee is out of hand.

Not only that, but I wonder if the people responsible for setting the amount realize just how much $25.00 is to a student? I am now sitting pretty with no money to buy my books.

for my classes -- instead, all my book money went toward a $25.00 fee for one little white card.

To Behold A Grinning Madras

I generally like to present a neat appearance when ambulating around campus. As a rule, which means when I don't oversleep, my shirts are ironed, my pants are pressed and my shoes are shined. I also make it a point to wear socks (with enough elastic to keep them from flopping over my ankles), and, on occasion, I have been known to sport a tie.

Now, what I'm driving at is very simple. I said "shirt" and not Hathaway or Gant; I said "pants" not H.I.S.; I said "shoe" and not Weejuin; I said "tie" and not Rooster on Lyons. And, more important than anything else, I didn't use the term "madras" even once. Peculiar? No, not really, that is, if you are willing to bet on your own ability, and not the ability of an "accepted" manufacturer or fad. It may sound old-fashioned, but I have always believed that it is the man that is important - clothes need only lend themselves to a decent and respectful appearance. In short, clothes do not make the man, but, instead, they are an external expression of a man's character.

Yet, it seems that there is a plethora of students who are so sure that they will not leave the house of fraternity or sorority house unless they are wearing penny loafers, wrap-around skirts, polished slacks, pants, and the God of the gutter monger, a Madras shirt. If I desire to observe a "madras" in first class, I suggest that you go to the business building any time during the day.

Actually, it isn't the style
"uniform" that is so objectionable.
It is the fact that there are so people who are willing to be pl in them. You know, I wonder the marines would look like madras fatigues.

Defends Date

This paragraph is in reference to the "Early Graduation" edit. In my years at FSU I have graduated the valedictorian of one graduation and the salutatorian of another. I am not one of those "early" seniors. Their greatest fear was to graduate as soon as possible after finals, a desire shared by all seniors. I am not one of those "late" graduates, either. I was a graduating student, in the opinion, be sheer stupidity; I scheduled graduation on Sat., April 20, one other day later than the scheduled date. I was not one of those "late" graduates, either. I was a graduating student with three days to do absolutely nothing to do, and more days of this if their friends did not come. There is nothing to be gained by the postponement of graduation by the imposition of discomfort upon those of us who sit around "fun filled" Tallahassee waiting for the opportunity to participate in the graduation ceremony and have our diploma sent to us. As for our parents, if they really want to see us graduate, they should make sure we graduate on the scheduled date. Two days off from school is not

Barry Held To 17 Points

Gonzalez Spearheads Tribe Victory Over UM

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

Seven seconds remained on the scoreboard clock. Five thousand pairs of eyes watched Pete Gonzalez bobble the basketball surrounded by Miami's defense. Gonzalez jumped, lofting the ball towards the basket. The sphere bounced around the rim, rolled, and dropped in for two points giving FSU a 67-66 victory over Miami.

Miami's Rick Barry, who excels in rebounding and scoring, set new records Saturday night in Tully Gym. His lowest scores and least amount of rebounds in one game. FSU held Barry to a mere 17 points, and the Tribe controlled the backboards most of the game.

Gonzalez, coming from seemingly nowhere to steal the ball from a Miami player and Gary Schull with 20 points led the Tribe's well planned attack.

Miami got off to a quick lead when Wayne Beckner hit a 20-footer. Bobby Lovell sank a foul shot and a field goal. But, Don Patrician, who spearheaded the Miami attack the first half, picked up four more points for the Canes giving them a 8-3 lead.

FSU and Miami traded shots by Gonzalez, Schull and Barry. The Tribe tied the score twice but just couldn't pull ahead as Patrician was hitting from everywhere on the court.

Ron Malmien, Gonzalez, and Schull dropped in alternate scores with Miami to tie the game at 25-25 when Jerry Shirley hit from the top of the key to give FSU the lead with five minutes left in the first half.

The final minutes of the first half saw Schull sink a 20-footer, followed by a 30 ft. shot by Shirley. Schull then hit from the far right side of the basket. The half ended with FSU in front 39-30.

The second half got underway with consecutive shots by Lovell, Schull, and Malmien. Then Miami began to come to life. They slowly whittled away at the Tribe's lead playing a general basketball game until the final few moments of play when the sparks began to fly.

Players were falling all over the court. Schull fouled Mike Whitman of Miami and both players had a few words and gestures for each other. The officials followed suit by gesturing them out of the game.

Miami's coach Bruce Hale almost joined Whitman, but he was escorted off the court by his team. Things settled down somewhat when Barry and Rick Jones hit for Miami.

A Miami man was called for going into (interfering with the ball on its downward flight) the basket and Peacock was awarded a scoring foul. FSU a lonely one point lead 65-64. Barry got his hands on the ball and scored with nine seconds remaining. Gonzalez made his fantastic shot.

Tankers Defeat Tulane; 57-38

Tulane's Green Wave was upended when they met the Seminole tankers Saturday afternoon in New Orleans. Leading the scarping party were Duck Acosta, Tut Heister, Ed Helquist, Acosta, Tut Heister, Ed Helquist, and Neil Allen.

The Seminoles chalked up seven firsts, five seconds, and five thirds for 57 points. Lloyd and Acosta set pool records in the 200 yard free-style and the 200 yard backstroke, respectively. Tulane earned only 38 points with four firsts, four seconds, and four thirds.

Thursday at 4 p.m., coach "Bim" Stults and his squad meet the University of Georgia here for their first home meet of the season. Georgia is the first team that the Seminoles will compete with in the new pool.

Saturday the tankers clash with the University of Florida at Gainesville. Riding on a perfect 7-0-0 '64 season the Seminoles are hoping for as fine a performance this year, according to Stults.

PETE GONZALEZ

... led the Seminole Cagers to a 67-66 victory in the final seconds against Miami. Gonzalez scored 11 points and headed the defense, stealing the ball six times from the hands of a Miami player.

Sailors' Prestige Grows

By HANK SCHOMBER

The FSU Sailing Association is one of the best up and coming fleets in collegiate sailing according to Dr. Michael Kasha, faculty sponsor. Since their first competition in the Fall 1963, the Seminole sailors have garnered a half-dozen trophies in Southeastern Intercollegiate Sailing Association (SEISA) regattas. This is an outstanding accomplishment for such a young fleet, believes Kasha.

He attributes the success of FSUSA to a wealth of "natural sailors" which Florida, with its numerous lakes and waterways, seems to supply. He added that Lake Bradford with its docking facilities, size and location gives the university an ideal opportunity for sailing. FSUSA was launched in September 1963, by a group of fifty interested students and faculty members, under the sponsorship of the Department of Student Activities. The fleet now operates under the University Union Program.

Despite their excellent competitive record, the association is most interested in getting the students and personnel to realize that sailing is for everyone. They sponsor free weekly sailing lessons at the reservation. Once a beginner passes a sailing examination he or she (there are many lake skippers in the association) is sent to sail as a member of FSUSA. The organization collects a $5 per trimester dues from its members. This money will eventually buy six new boats.

FSUSA's success in the Sugar Bowl Regatta during the Christmas holidays, has brought national acclaim to the young fleet. Finishing second to Yale by only 1/2 point, the Seminoles tested such long established fleets as Tulane, Dartmouth, Xavier and SMU. The sailors have already captured one of the six class trophies to be awarded this year by SEISA.

Referendum Vote Set Friday; Considers Trimester, Rights

By BOB CORNET

News Editor

Students will be given a chance Friday to sound off on two subjects of current controversy--students rights and the trimester--in a special referendum.

On the referendum will be a trimester poll to determine student reaction to the system and a statement of Student Principles.

Senator Joy Dickinson said that it is particularly important that seniors who were under the semester take the trimester poll for reasons of comparison with other systems.

Dickinson also said that for either part of the referendum to have any meaning at all there must be more than the required 25% of the student body voting.

Senator Gene Stearns, who presented the Student Rights resolution to senate, stressed this tool.

"We need a great many student voting on this referendum to show that the student body is really concerned with a clarification of their rights."

"If there is a strong enough vote on this referendum," said Stearns, "we will be justified in asking that they be amended to the Student Body Constitution."

He stated that there is a need for this codification of student rights since there is no clear-cut relation between students, faculty and administration.

Before such codification is possible, though, Stearns added, the student body must pass the constitutional amendment and the faculty senate and the administration must approve the change.

In discussion with Dean of Students Harry P. Day, said Stearns, the administration has reacted favorably toward the resolution.

The statement contains three parts, the first of which enumerates the rights of students as they should be in the Student Body Constitution. 1) the rights of Free Expression--which are the rights of free speech, peaceful assembly, petition, and free press.

2) the right to Self-Government--which in a university includes the right to participate actively in the formulation and enforcement of the regulations that govern the student as an individual.

3) the right of recourse to Public, Defined and Equitable Law--which guarantees adequate public statement of all laws; the communication of their necessity, intent and application; and the equal and impartial enforcement of these laws. 4) the right of Due Process of Law--which is the right to trial by equals, and the power of the accused to waive that right; the right to trial only after a complete investigation; the right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty, with no action taken until a final verdict is reached; the right to refuse to offer testimony against one's self, and the right to appeal a decision to a higher authority.

5) the right of association--which is the right to be held accountable only for those actions personally committed, and right of individuals to hold membership in an organization without being officially testes as such.

The second section calls for the codification of the rights and restrictions of University recognized organizations, which would include for these organizations the right of due process of law.

The third sections asks for "the creation of an appellate court composed of four students and four faculty members with the Dean of Students presiding. This court should have appellate jurisdiction over all aspects of campus life." Stearns said that if this resolution is supported Friday and then made a part of the Constitution there will finally be a clear defined relation between the students and administration.

AK Psi Sets Rush

The Beta Psi chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity will have spring rush tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Wicket Lounge of the Business Building. Informal rush will also be Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Alpha Kappa Psi house which is located at 318 W. College.

Regents Board Meets Tomorrow

The organization meeting of the newly-appointed Board of Regents for the State University System was called for tomorrow at 11 a.m. The meeting will be in Board offices in the New State Office Building.

First order of business will be the election of a chairman, Vice chairman and corporate secretary and the appointment of an Executive Director. Dr. J.B. Culpepper has been serving as executive director for several years under appointment of the Board of Control.

Four members of the old Board of Control were appointed to the new board.

Ethics Is Duty Says Speaker

Harold McPherson, assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, called a politician "the tinner with the machinery of government to whom each of us looks as our scapegoat and as our salvation."

Speaking in the first of two lectures on "Ethics and Politics" in the Religion in Life Series, he defined ethics as the science of human duty, comprehending the universe in moral terms. Politics he described as "the science and art of government dealing with the forms of state and the relations between states."

"Everyone is a politician," he said, "in using power in governing one's life." He added that "we who judge must remember we are judged in turn."

"Power doesn't absolutely corrupt a man," he stressed, "but it does prevent him from being an idealist completely open to others." He will speak again tonight at 8 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

Newspaper reports in Hoosick Falls, New York said of the bagpiper, "Invoked much Scotch humor throughout his talk. They learned more in one evening about the Scotch instrument and its music than they would probably acquire in a lifetime otherwise."

The Hamilton Bermuda press said, "At the Bermudiana Hotel... highlighted with bagpipes tunes--he finished his talk with a march around the room, kilts swinging and bagpipes playing."

"An original member of the 'Davies of Canada,'" Davie began his musical training at 10 with a study of violin. Later he was trained by the 'Davies of Canada' as a vocalist. Now he confines his singing to Scottish folk-

Dangerous Walk

It is always easier to realize the cause of an accident after it has happened than to avert a tragedy, but we feel many students who cross Tennessee Street every day are not taking even simple precautions to keep from being badly injured or even killed.

It has been called to our attention by the Dean of Men's office that nearly six years ago an underpass was built near the Business Building for the students' safety, and, since then, traffic lights have been installed at the corner one half block east. Students, late for class or a meal, are many times ignoring these two safe routes across Tennessee and are crossing at the most convenient place.

This is an especially dangerous practice in the early morning or early evening hours when traffic is the heaviest and fastest.

We ask that those students who have to cross Tennessee to get from campus to their dorms or fraternity houses exercise more caution than has been demonstrated recently. An injury or death might wake someone up, but we hope that such a tragedy will not be needed.

"Really Big"

Since we have been at FSU we have had a number of opportunities to attend good entertainment sponsored by the Student Artist Series and other organizations. There is no question the shows have been good but there still seems to be something lacking.

We hear of Peter, Paul, and Mary at Florida or Van Cliburn at Miami and ask, "Why doesn't that happen here?" We understand the biggest factor is a lack of sufficient space to accommodate the number of people required to make such a presentation financially feasible.

Westcott auditorium holds only 1600 people and the new Union ballrooms hold even less. A new 3000 seat auditorium is on the "want list" for the University, but that cannot be expected for some time. Until such a time it seems Tully Gymnasium might serve the purpose and allow us to see some "really big" entertainment.

Although the Gym might not accommodate certain entertainers we feel this space would be sufficient for larger groups who would surely attract a majority of the student body.

We ask that those responsible for scheduling campus shows consider the use of Tully Gymnasium when planning for the future.

Many Hundreds Die In "Jungle"

There is a constant tabulation of American deaths in South Viet Nam in the nation's newspapers. In the several years that we have had "advisers" in South Viet Nam, over 250 of them have died in action.

There have been many emotional and logical questions as to why all these Americans have died. I would like to discuss another area of the world where Americans (military and civilians alike) are being killed at the average rate of over 130 each day.

In this "jungle" there haven't been as many questions asked or public concern demonstrated, yet the death rate in two days approximately equals the total deaths in an active war in which quarters are neither given nor expected.

The "jungle" is the highways and roads of our nation. The most common reasons given for the fatalities are speed and drinking.

Several recent studies should cause enough doubt as to seriously questioning the above reasons. Deaths normally attributed to drinking and speed can better be explained by other reasons.

Driving inexperience in emergency situations, inferior tires, lack of safety belts and other safety equipment, lack of safety dividers between opposite lanes of highways, improperly marked highways and railroad crossings, etc., are directly or indirectly responsible for many fatalities attributed to other reasons.

What's to be done about this carnage on the highways? Attempts by several liberal Congressmen pass it up instead, and the professor trick. The professor was held in charge of aggravated assault and battery. Rudnitsky said that he "lost his head" and that all he was trying to do was to turn the radio down, but accidentally hit the woman with it.

Public reaction to Rudnitsky was almost unanimously favorable proposing such emoluments as a Congressional Medal of Honor, the Nobel Peace Prize, and a Federal grant to research the problem.

Letters were grouped under headings such as "Aids, Hurrah, Bravo," "Wrong One Arrested," and "Comes the Revolution!"

legislation standardizing tire construction were defeated in part by pressure from large rubber companies.

Basic safety equipment, such as seat belts, padded dashboards, and recessed steering wheels are still optional equipment on most American cars.

Driver education in schools isn't nearly as widespread as it should be and must be.

The various governments haven't designed and built highways with as many built in safety devices as are necessary to prevent the necessary traffic deaths.

Right here in Tallahassee there are no less than three separate deaths before any action was taken to rectify the situation at a dangerous railroad crossing.

I find it very ironic that a total of less than 300 lost lives are systematically prevented when the loss of 47,000 lives in one year isn't enough to stir enough concern to do something about it.

Surely the reasons for the loss of American soldiers in Viet Nam are more comprehensible than the death of a family in an automobile accident resulting from substandard tires on a new car or other senseless reasons.

Letters Policy

Students are reminded that all letters to the editor must include the student's signature, student number, and school address. All signatures will be checked against the current registrar's list.

Dr. Robert Mulliken Appointed IMB Distinguished Researcher

Dr. Robert S. Mulliken, a member of the University of Chicago faculty for the past 36 years, arrived this week to become Distinguished Research Professor of Chemical Physics in FSU's Institute of Molecular Biophysics.

At Chicago Mulliken was co-director of the Laboratory of Molecular Structure and Spectra, where he had recently been engaged in research on molecular spectroscopy with the support of grants from the National Science Foundation, U.S. Air Force and Office of Naval Research. He also was Ernest De Witt Burton Distinguished Service Professor in the Department of Physics and Chemistry.

Mulliken received his Ph. D. at Chicago in 1921. His early work is credited with laying the cornerstones for diatomic molecular spectroscopy. He has received numerous awards for his research.

The most recent award was the John G. Kirkwood Medal for research in the physical sciences given Nov. 12 in New Haven. The Kirkwood award is sponsored jointly by the American Chemical Society and by Yale University's Department of Chemistry.

He received the G. N. Lewis Gold Medal of the California Section of the American Chemical Society and the T. W. Richards Gold Medal of the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society, both in 1960, and the Peter Debye Award of the American Chemical Society in 1963. He is a Fellow of the American Physical Society and of the Chemical Society of Great Britain.

Dr. Mulliken's research interests are the separation of isotopes, molecular spectra, diatomic molecules, the theory of molecular spectra and electronic structure of molecules. Shortly after World War II Dr. Michael Kasha, present director of the Institute of Molecular Biophysics at FSU, worked with Mulliken at Chicago under an Atomic Energy Commission grant.

The new FSU faculty member was born in Newburyport, Mass., in 1896. He received a B.S. degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1917.

He was a junior chemical engineer with the U.S. Bureau of Mines in 1917-18 and in 1918-19 was with the Chemical Warfare Service.

UM-FSU Spectacular

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

FSU was treated to a Spectacular Saturday night with the University of Miami in Tully Gym. The basketball game resembled the usual meeting between the two spirited clubs. It was full of blood, bitterness, and protest.

Complaints ranged from poor officiating to a slow clock. Depending on the story you read, Pete Gonzalez took a pass at mid-court and flipped it down the floor near the UM basket.

He went up and down the court with the ball. He caught the ball at mid-court, dribbled three times and passed to a teammate, then called time.

Or maybe he caught it at mid-court, dribbled across the court three times and called time. Anyway, the big question that arises is, how could he do it in one second?

If it had happened like any of the aforementioned, it would be difficult to accept, however that wasn't quite the case.

The clock read eight seconds. Gonzalez took the ball at mid-court (the clock doesn't start running until the ball touches a player in bounds). He dribbled twice toward the sideline and called time immediately.

Now perhaps that might take more than one second, but a lot can happen in only one second of a basketball game. Gary Schull won the FSU-Tulsa game with a final second lay-up shot.

FSU was also accused of over-fouling Rick Barry since he didn't score very often. Hardly any credit was given to the superb job Ron Malmen and Schull did in keeping the ball away from Barry, who only attempted 10 shots.

A lot goes into winning a basketball game. Strategy for one thing. FSU has used the final seconds in close games to their advantage in well-executed plays.

In a basketball game, everyone in the crowd considers himself the referee and there are 5,000 different viewpoints. The officials usually have the most accurate.

FSU played determine ball Saturday and Miami may as well face up to the fact that they lost a hard fought game to a better prepared team.

GARY SCHULL

... prevents Miami's Rick Barry from scoring in Saturday night's routy game. Schull led both teams scoring with 20 points, and brilliantly defended Barry.

SWIM MEET TOMORROW

The FSU Tankers meet the University of Georgia tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the new Union Pool. Bleachers will be provided for spectators and admission is free.

Baby Cagers Even Record

The FSU freshmen basketball team evened their record for the year at 3-3 with a 84-73 victory over Gulf Coast Saturday night in the preliminary game.

Buch Stilson of the Baby Seminoles led the scoring with 22 points followed by Russ Forkey with 21. Jim Lyttle and Darrell Stewart headed the rebound department with nine recoveries each.

BUTCH STILSON

DARRELL STEWART

This was the first game for the Freshmen since last December when they handed the University of Florida a decisive defeat beating them 76-64. Stewart led the attack on Florida. He also heads the team with a 15.1 scoring average.

The Frogs travel to Pensacola tonight to play Pensacola Junior College. The next home game is with Memphis State Saturday preceding the varsity game with Memphis.

SPORTS On Campus

BILLIARD CONTEST: Tuck Tinsley leads the 125 Ball Billiard Challenge at the Crenshaw Lanes. The Challenge, determines the players who will represent FSU in the American College Union (ACU) Regional Championships.

FSU has been chosen as the host school for the event which will be held in February. Winners of the tournament go on to the National Championships.

Anyone can participate in the tournament as long as they still have an amateur status. (Anyone having received cash prizes in any sports area is considered a professional.) Players challenge according to rank, playing one position above their current standing.

Players must accept all challenges. The winner of the match pays the $40 fee for the use of the tables. Behind Tinsley are William Graham, Mike Shall, John Leavelle, and Floyd Clements.

BOWLING LEAGUES: The Wednesday and Thursday bowlers re-organize this week. All bowlers wishing to join either league must attend the meetings which are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. each evening in the Crenshaw Lanes.

Denny Lyons Wins Tourney

FSU's Denny Lyons caught James on the 16th hole of St. Petersburg's Lakewood Country Club 5 Years Invitational Golf Championship, and went on to defeat him in sudden death playoff.

Lyons, who was strokes off the half-way through Saturday's round started the final round four strokes back. He steadily cut the lead as he was only two down at the 17th.

Lyons walked off the 16th carrying a birdie four, James putted for a bogey six. Both parred the 17th.

Lyons hooked his drive on the 18 into a sand trap. He was not denied however, and his tee carried 200 yards to the green. The birdie fell three inches short of the cup. James parred. The stage was set for the overtime.

The first hole, a par three, powerful drives by both. Lyons within 18 feet and James 17. James two putted. James went into a trap on the second hole but recovered nicely, to send the playoff into the third hole.

Lyons hooked his tee shot into the grove of trees. He then exploded an eight iron shot that halted the feet from the cup. James followed his tee shot with an iron that set him 12 feet short.

A gallery of more than 1,500 on as James' putter fell short twice. Lyons dropped his second try and climaxed his long climb to the top.

Mertling Speaks On Progress To Student Senate

Student Body President John Mertling addressed the Student Senate before Student Senate met today. He will be with the Senate until 11 p.m. today, a challenge.

Mertling will take with him 3,000 copies of a brochure prepared by the Senate staff that includes a booklet titled "This is Your Student Government" and a listing of Student Government accomplishments for last year. A list of proposed projects for the coming year.

Mertling also will be in the nature of a "press report," said Mertling, who commended most of the Senate's work. He also said that he and the Senate are in close enough contact with the Senate's constituents.

For this reason, said Mertling, he requested the brochures to be distributed among the senators, Mertling said, they then can distribute them to their constituents.

This is part of a general effort, Mertling said, to renew interest in Student Government by the student body. He also said that he and the Senate are in close enough contact with the Senate's constituents. He also said that he and the Senate are in close enough contact with the Senate's constituents.

UP Will Convene In Ballroom

The Sixth Annual University Party Convention will convene tonight at 7 p.m. in Ballroom B of the Union. Delegates already chosen to represent every one hundred students will be seated in their reserved sections. Paul Hill is Convention Chairman and Hugh McElyea is Vice-Chairman.

Walt Martindale, Chairman of the UP Executive Board, will introduce the Convention Board and their committees. He will speak on student responsibility to their party and introduce the keynote speaker, Dean R.R. Oglesby.

Oglesby will address the convention on student interest in their Student Government.

Nominations will be taken and the delegates will vote for persons to fill the vacancies in the UP Board of Directors. Nominations and elections will then occur for the major student body offices: president, vice-president, women's vice-president, secretary of the senate, and the various court positions.

Julie Haydon Lectures On Stage Experience

The celebrated actress Julie Haydon will give a performance of readings from plays in which she has appeared tomorrow night in Moore Auditorium. Julie Haydon Memiors is the title of her program to be presented at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.

In addition to parts of plays in which she has appeared, the program will consist of unpublished material written by her late husband, the dean of American drama critics, George Jean Nathan.

Miss Haydon will later appear at the English coffee hour at Westminster House at 9:10 p.m. Friday. She will discuss Tennessee Williams and read portions of his plays.

Miss Haydon is best remembered for her sensitive portrayals of the heroines in such outstanding Broadway successes as 'The Glass Menagerie,' 'Shadow and Substance' and 'The Time of Your Life'.

Though she spent several years in Hollywood, her most memorable film was 'The Scoundrel', in which she starred with Noel Coward. This Hecht-MacArthur film is still considered one of the ten best ever to come from Hollywood.

Unlike most stage actresses, Miss Haydon started her career in Hollywood rather than on Broadway. She appeared there with the late Mrs. Fiske and later she played 'Tianzi' in Max Reinhardt's celebrated production.

FSUSA Sets Meet

The FSU Sailing Association will have its first meeting of the year tonight in SSS 1MB Building. The topic will be the coming sailing year.

dram of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream'. She also portrayed Fanny Gray in 'Autumn Circus'.

Miss Haydon made her Broadway debut at the Empire Theatre as Hope Blake in 'Bright Star'. This was followed by her first great success, the role of Bridget in Paul Vincent Carroll's 'Shadow and Substance'.

Then came one of her most popular successes, William Saroyan's 'The Time of Your Life', in which she appeared for the first time with Eddie Dowling.

Warning Issued On Bad Budgets

Bill Wood, Secretary of Finance, in a memorandum being sent today to administrators of budgets receiving funds from Student and University activities fees, warns that no organization should incur a deficit this year.

Wood also announced that the budget for the 1965-66 year will be presented to Student Senate March 3. Budget request forms will soon be sent out, according to Wood.

Wood said that alterations must be made because requests constitute total more than the approximately $450,000 that is received from Student and University activities fees for budgeting by Student Government. Wood also said that most organizations are staying within their budgets for this year. He said that the publications budgets, including the 'Flambeau', have done especially good jobs of "... exercising stable fiscal policies so far this year."

Statement Principles On Friday Referendum

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the complete text of the 'Statement of Principles' that will be voted on in a special referendum Friday.)

We, the students of Florida State University, with honest intentions and noble aspirations for the betterment of our University, present this 'Statement of Student Principles.'

University exists for the students. Its being is justified when the development of the educational experience is increased knowledge and a better understanding of the world environment by the students. The development of responsibility must be a primary goal of an educational institution, for intellectual attainment is severely limited when it is not accompanied by a similar growth of responsibility.

Responsibility cannot be taught in theory. It can only be developed in the atmosphere of mature citizenship, where natural rights may be freely exercised.

As a state university, Florida State is an extension of the state government. It is subject to the Constitution and Statutes of the State of Florida, individuals continue to be governed by that Constitution while they are students.

The rights of an individual are his as an individual. They exist before and during his tenure as a student.

As students, we are citizens of the academic community. Our rights as citizens in this community are the same as individuals in the state, modified only by the power of the Administration to act, in some respects, as a parent.

All legislative and judicial authority of the community is vested in the Administration. We are granted by the University, however, some aspects of self-government; an active Student Government and an effective court system.

Within the academic environment, our rights as citizens have been unduly restricted. In many cases we have been denied due process of law; we have had no recourse to public, defined and equitable law; and our right to appeal Administrative actions is non-existent. This denial of our natural rights has created an artificial atmosphere of citizenship which has hindered the development of social responsibility.

Student organizations do not have the rights of an individual. For the ultimate authority for group recognition on this campus is the Administration. Recognition can be extended or removed any time at the discretion of the Administration and such recognition precludes the privilege of using University facilities.

The absence of rights for these organizations, such as the right of due process, does not enhance our stature as a University and does little to improve the student's confidence in the Administration. Furthermore, there is no recognition of University law regarding behavioral standards or punishments for infractions.

We, the Students of Florida State University, recommend several changes in the social environment of this campus which, we feel, would provide not only a better atmosphere for learning, but an experience in self-government and the development of responsibility which is invaluable in the modern world.

First, the enumeration of our rights as students in the Student Body Constitution which should include:

1. The rights of Free Expression which are the rights of free speech, peaceful assembly, petition, and free press.

2. The right to Self-Government which in a university includes the right to participate actively in the formulation and enforcement of the regulations that govern the student as an individual.

3. The right of Recourse to Public, Defined, and Equitable Law which guarantees adequate public statement of all laws; the communication of their necessity, intent, and application; and the equal and impartial enforcement of these laws.

4. The right of Due Process of Law which is the right to trial by equals, and the power of the accused to waive that right; the right to trial only after a complete investigation; the right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty, with no action taken until a final verdict is reached; the right to refuse to give testimony against one's self, and the right to appeal a decision to a higher authority.

5. The right of Association which is the right to be held accountable only for those actions personally committed, and the right of individuals to hold membership in an organization without being officially listed as such.

Second, the codification of the rights and restrictions of University recognized organizations, which would include for these organizations the right of due process of law.

Third, the creation of an appellate court composed of four students and four faculty members with the Dean of Students presiding. This court should have appellate jurisdiction over all aspects of campus life.

Dual Mandate

Governor Burns has made it evident in the last week that he is diametrically opposed to the trimester system. He has declared that he will spare no personal effort to see the system abolished. In order to eliminate the trimester in Florida Burns has said he is willing to go over the heads of the Board of Regents and take action through the State Board of Education. There is considerable opinion in favor of doing away with the trimester in this and several other of the state universities in Florida. Students and professors alike frequently deride the system.

Yet, we would like Gov. Burns to take note of the fact that at the same time the people of Florida issued his mandate, they issued another mandate to all politicians to keep hands off the state's educational system. This mandate came in the form of the passing of Amendment number two, which created the board of Regents. From its inception this measure was designed to take education out of the sphere of politics - it was promoted as such and the people passed it with the same intent.

Gov. Burns had much to say about the trimester during his campaign. It is not unfounded to think of Mr. Burns mandate as a mandate for removal of the trimester. Yet, if all of the mandate is read - Mr. Burns will discover that the trimester must go by act of the Board of Regents not the Board of Education.

Twelve-Shooter Speeds Studies

A new "12-shooter" target chamber, built in a machine shop on campus, is now speeding up nuclear studies with FSU's tandem Van de Graaff accelerator.

The new device, built by 30-year-old German-born Eric Feldt, is more versatile than any available before in enabling researchers to probe the nuclear reactions which occur when the accelerator beam strikes a target, physics Prof. Robert H. Davis said.

By providing up to 14 different counter positions surrounding the target on rotating tables, it gives the nuclear scientist the equivalent of what a football coach would have if he could move 14 television cameras around to focus on all sides of a play," said Davis, principal scientist for FSU's tandem Van de Graaff program.

It also is more precise in that it enables us to be sure the small beam of nuclear projectiles traveling for more than 100 feet through the accelerator is focused exactly on the target, which is only one-sixteenth of an inch wide," he said. "An investigator can look through a small window and determine this. If not focused, a small-hand adjustment may be made and the experiment can proceed," Davis stated. The 12-shooter designation comes from a device on the bottom of the target chamber which will hold 12 targets, any one of which can be swung into position before the accelerator beam without breaking the vacuum through which the beam travels.

This and other features which are time-saving are important, says the accelerator is in use 24 hours a day seven days a week. Some seven-fifthly members and 30 graduate students now are using the accelerator on various experiments.

The chamber, is so close to what scientists want for a target chamber that a commercial firm has adopted it and already has orders from as far away as a tandem Van de Graaff laboratory in Germany, according to Davis.

It is the "fourth generation" chamber devised by Feldt since he came to FSU's Nuclear Research program in 1958 as instrument maker and designer.

A master craftsman who pursues his craft with mass production and automation all around him, Feldt had originally intended to get a university education and become a physician.

Ambitions for a medical career ended for Feldt when he was 10. His father was killed while serving on the eastern front in 1944. When Feldt completed his prep school work at 15 he began apprenticeship for a job.

He was able to take some courses at a technical college, however, and since his apprenticeship was at the University of Munich, he was able to attend some courses there.

His four-year apprenticeship completed, Feldt went to Canada in 1946 to work as an instrument designer and maker for the physics lab at the University of Toronto. He came from there to FSU in the fall of 1949 and now is an American citizen.

His fourth generation target chamber took months to build in FSU's Nuclear Research machine shop. Many of the parts are of stainless steel and this is difficult to fashion into the delicate parts needed and it is difficult to fit the parts together.

The parts are fired together as precisely, however, that the cumulative error is only .002 of an inch. Davis said it is valued at about $30,000.

After an article about the chamber by Feldt, P. B. Weiss, member of Lawrence Radiation Laboratory and Davis appeared in "Nuclear Instruments and Methods" inquiries came in from France, England, Germany, Denmark, Poland, Russia and other countries.

About 8,000 women hold jobs in engineering—a number constituting about 1% of the nation's engineers, according to statistics in the "Technology Review" of Dec. 1964.

The natural sciences claim only 15,000 women or 10% of the total. Figures show that the number of women in science and engineering is declining.

Ann Fleishel, undergraduate in biology, and Lin Pollard, graduate in geology, were FSU representatives to a "Symposium of American Women in Science and Engineering" sponsored by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Association of Women Students, where these figures were shown.

This conference, Oct. 23 and 24 at MIT, drew 700 delegates and visitors from universities and professional occupations throughout the country. It discussed the waste of valuable intellectual resources in the United States.

Chairman of the MIT Corporation, James R. Killian, Jr., cited the paradoxes of the status of women in America. Although significant numbers of women in the United States have access to higher education longer than women in any other country, the "1960 Report of the President Commission on National Goals" emphasized that "The fullest development of every individual is hindered by underestimating the potential of a majority of women."

A similar conclusion was indicated in a national Manpower Council Report on "Women Power," which showed that women fill a smaller proportion of the U.S. Professional and semi-professional occupations than they did 25 years ago.

Major employers of professional personnel in science and engineering insisted, however, that opportunities for women are steadily increasing.

Killian summed up the statistical trends and the employer comments, "The rapid growth of population in the professions, especially in science and engineering, will bring enlarged opportunities for women, although the increase in opportunities will not be in proportion to the increase in numbers of scientists and engineers."

"The role of women in the professions must be designed to be compatible with marriage and the raising of families. This means especially that new and convenient ways must be devised so that women may have families and still continue their education."

Alice S. Ross, assigned to the Committee on Human Development at the University of Chicago, has concluded from her research and personal experience that the question of marriage is a determining factor in understanding why so few women number among the nation's scientists-engineers.

"The more degrees a woman possesses beyond a bachelor's degree, the less likely she is to marry; and women who choose to dedicate themselves to some of these more demanding professions may not marry, not because they are not chosen by men, but because they find fewer men worth accepting, and because marriage is not an exclusive life goal," said Miss Ross.

She urged the cultivation of the analytical abilities necessary in science and the encouragement of independence and self-reliance in women. For the woman who wants a family life, in addition to working, part time employment doing light work or computer programming were suggested by other speakers. President J. A. Stratton conducted the welcoming ceremony, which was followed by an opening address by Bruno Bettelheim.

Dorms To Close For Honor Code

All women's dorms close tonight at 10 p.m. for a special meeting at which a member of the Honor Bureau will speak on the Honor Code.

The period of Jan. 14-26 has been selected as Honors Week. At 10 p.m. 18-21 the bureau has engagements at sorority houses, and off campus housing.

The men's dorms and fraternities will have a speaker between Jan. 25-28.

The Student-Faculty Honor Committee has set up the Honors Week program in an effort to make the student body more fully aware of a working Honor Code," said Chief Justice Hines Boyd.

"The strength of a true Honor Code lies in the individual students realization of his personal feelings toward such a Code. He must understand that no code is perfect and that the Honor Code, no matter how perfect, has and always will face certain inevitable problems," said Boyd. "It is hoped that the program will bring the students closer to these problems and make him aware of the Honor Code's role in building a greater university," concluded Boyd.

Meet The FSU Tankers

Abbott, Allen, Acosta Direct Team

by MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of "Meet Your Teams," a weekly page devoted to a varsity team on campus. The swim team christens the new Union pool today with their first home meet of the season.)

The swim team, under the direction of Coach Bill Sults, holds one of the most impressive records on campus. In fifteen years Sults' teams have won 123 meets against 22 losses and two ties in dual competition.

DICK ABBOTT

Sults is assisted by Denny Flandra, coach of the 12th Naval District swim champs while in the Coast Guard and Jack Simmons, assistant professor of English education.

Dick Abbott in Sults' opinion is the best all-around swimmer in FSU's history. Abbott, only a junior, was voted the team's most outstanding swimmer by his teammates last season.

Abbott is capable of swimming in any event. He has tremendous ability, desire and competitive spirit. The South's most outstanding springboard operator is found in the person of Neal Allen. He's been defeated only twice in his varsity career, both times by teammate Larry Profumo. Hard work and improvement could make him a national contender according to Sults.

Richard Acosta is usually the young man who paces the team to victory in the backstroke and medley relays. Slowed by illness last year, Acosta appears stronger than ever this season.

Voted the team's Most Improved Swimmer last year, Doug Kruger holds FSU records in both the 100 and 200 yard breaststroke. His secret is hard work and plenty of it.

Mike Blouin is ace anchor man in the freestyle relay. Last season, against Florida, Blouin made a tremendous comeback from behind effort to win the relay and help boost FSU to its perfect season.

Gene Dayton has been the number one man in distance events for two years now and Sults looks forward to his best season this year.

Jim Mahdin, who swims with great ease and finesse, is one of the most dependable freestylers on the team. Bob Durocher will probably be fol-

All sports staffers meet today at 3:30 p.m. in the Flamee Office. Assignments and schedules will be worked out at this time.

TANKERS BATTLE GEORGIA TODAY

The FSU swimmers after defeating Tulane last week, will be going after their first home win in the new Union pool today at 4 p.m. It is the first time the team has competed in high diving.

Bleachers will be provided for spectators and admission is free.

BOR Names Champion President

DR. WAYNE MCCALL AND J.B. CULPPER confer at yesterday's BOR meeting in which Dr. John Champion was named acting President of FSU.

By MAX COURTNEY
Flambeau Staff Writer

Dr. John E. Champion, 42, Vice-President for the Administration at FSU since 1962 was appointed acting President effective Feb. 1, by the Board of Regents yesterday.

Champion expressed appreciation to the Board of Regents for their confidence. He noted that "because President Blackwell has devoted particular attention to getting everything in proper order, I am certain that the transition will be a smooth one."

"In addition, I know that the fine administrative team selected and developed by President Blackwell is prepared to exert every effort to insure continued progress at FSU."

"With the cooperation of this team, the faculty and the staff, I am confident that we will be able to function smoothly and effectively during the interim."

Champion, a member of the faculty since 1956, has been an active leader in civic and academic affairs of Tallahassee for many years.

He is immediate past chairman of Leon County's successful United Fund campaign for 1964, and was recently elected to the 1965 Board of Directors for the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce.

He holds the Ph. D. in business administration from the University of Michigan and a full professorship in accounting at FSU's school of Business, where he was serving as assistant dean when named to the vice-presidency of the University in the fall of '62.

He is a native of Chichester, Ga. and is an alumnus of the University of Georgia where he received the BBA and MBA.

As an educator and administrator he has a distinguished record of scholastic and professional honors, including coauthorship of a widely used textbook, "Accounting in Business Decisions," with Dr. Homer

A. Black. Champion and Black have pioneered the University's graduate professional program in accountancy.

Other honors accorded Dr. Champion include memberships in Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Beta Gamma Sigma and Beta Alpha Psi honorary societies; and in professional organizations Delta Sigma Psi, Alpha Phi Omega, the American Accounting Association, and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Champion replaces Blackwell who is returning to his alma mater Furman, where he graduated summa cum laude. He received his MA from the University of North Carolina and his Ph. D. from Harvard.

Blackwell said on the Champion appointment that it was a logical and sound choice.

In two-and-a-half years he has demonstrated his capable administrative ability and keen perception on the broad mission of the Uni-

Merting Advises Senate; Elections Code Modified

Seating committee is needed by university. Seating arrangements are a mess... this would straighten them out," said John Merting, student president, yesterday in an address to Senate.

The committee was one of the areas of legislation Merting called for by the Senate. Other areas he listed included the creation of a four-college seminar to orient transfers from these colleges. This would bring more students to the campus.

He also called for a student government seminar between outgoing and incoming officers. "This would better coordinate student government. It would further called for action on voter registration, to cut down on confusion during elections; and for a news service staff to help some new about students and the University."

He was asked for a university promotions committee and a student government publicity committee.

Following Merting's call to take action on the possible discontinuance of the student repository, a committee was established to investigate the matter.

Following Merting's call to have a student evaluation of faculty they were left off.

A vote of elections was modified by the senate. They discussed the changing of ballot boxes for elections in Alumni Village and the trailer lot. However, some of the Senators felt this would be granting special privileges to a minority group.

Dr. Thomas Wright of the music department addressed senate asking them either accept or dismiss his presentation of a new victory march. He wanted to accept it as the official victory march of FSU.

JOHN MERTING

Dorms, Fees Close

All women's dorms close tonight at 10 p.m. for a special meeting at which a member of the Honor Bureau will speak on the honor code.

Information given yesterday to the "Flambeau" incorrectly stated the dorms would be closed last night.

Friday is the deadline for April graduates to pay their $5 diploma fee. This fee may be paid at the University Union store.

BOP Schedules Spring Retreat, Elects Chairman

A retreat for members of publications staffs was set up by the Board of Publication in its first meeting of the trimester late yesterday afternoon.

Meeting in offices in the University Union the board set the retreat for the weekend of March 19-20 at the Reservation.

The session is designed primarily for persons already working on publications but others may center. Discussion at the retreat will center on technical matters.

Earlier in the meeting Al Galbraith was elected the new board chairman. Wayne Cowart was seated as a new member of the board pending final student senate approval of the appointment. There is one appointive position still open on the board.

Dr. Reid H. Montgomery, Publications Advisor, reported that though it would be possible to register the nameplate of "The Flambeau" this measure would not lend any significant degree of legal protection.

DR. JOHN CHAMPION

versity. He has worked effectively with our governing board, the budget director, and legislative committees. This experience will be helpful said Blackwell.

"I shall leave FSU with confidence that a strong administrative team is in charge, and that the students, faculty, staff and alumni will give Dr. Champion their full support."

Blackwell has taught at Furman and the University of North Carolina. He has served as editor of "Social Forces" and has written or co-authored five books and numerous articles.

He has served as a member of the commission on Administrative Affairs of the American Council on Education and on the Executive Committee of the State University Association.

Presently he is member of the Committee on Plans and Objectives for higher education of American Council on Education and the Commission on College Administration of American Association of Colleges.

BP Nominates Groot President, Gonzalez Named Running Mate

By BOB COKNET

Following former Student Government President Jim Groot's announcement the nomination for Student Body President last night for the University Party.

Groot was accepted by the convention as nomination as his running mate, Larry Gonzalez, campaign for Vice-President of the University.

At the other two contested races last evening Bill Wood won the election for Men's Vice-President and Jerry Sippert.

At the other two contested races, Women's Vice-President, Nancy W. and Sandy Clark.

At the third race was for members of the University Union Board. Lou Clark, John Pfeiffer, and Pam Wilk were selected to run by the party, and were elected on Tolerton.

A resolution on nominations passed was to be named for Chief Justice of the United States.

Dr. John E. Champion was named Chairman of University

... was named the Student Body Presidential candidate for the University Party in its convention last night.

The Board of Regents also approved a new five year contract—through 1969—for head football coach Bill Peterson. The new salary is $20,000. He now gets $18,000.

Blackwell said the University's recommendation for writing the new contract for Peterson—longest ever given an FSU football coach—was forwarded to the Regents three days before the 39-19 Gator Bowl Victory over the University of Oklahoma.

Controversy too, was involved in yesterday's meeting. Blackwell took exception to recommendations by the Board of Regents that FSU receive only $229,220 out of $1,707,200 in revenue surplus and interest earnings under the university bond program.

Blackwell noted that this would reverse previous priority and that these recommendations violated the Legislature's intent on what would be built under the bond program.

"New" Rights

We urge every student to vote for the "Statement of Principles" in tomorrow's referendum ballot, but only after the student has a full understanding of what is involved.

This is not an "administration go to hell" statement nor is it intended as a rebellion against the administrative authority of the school. If this were the case we could not urge a favorable vote.

The statement is, in essence, a clear-cut voicing of the rights that students feel to be inherent in the university community. It says we are ready to accept the responsibility that goes with the rights and that we have the mature attitude that is called for when accepting this responsibility.

There has been a certain feeling since the Pow Wow incident that a lack of good judgement by the student will result in discipline handed down swiftly by the administration.

If the student accepts the responsibility for his actions (as the "Statement" implies) then the manner in which future discipline is determined will hopefully depend primarily on the student.

We are then saying two basic things by voting in favor of tomorrow's "Statement of Principles" referendum; 1. Our basic right as a university student is to accept and exercise responsibility for our actions. 2. We have the responsibility to judge and discipline anyone who abuses this right.

These are simple concepts but carry great import. We ask that all students consider their ability to accept the mature responsibility called for before voting.

Referendum Ballot Is A Must

"Well, if you ask me,..."

The above quote is the inevitable preface to some of the most lengthy and fantastic spels on record in the annals of the dorm bull session. It has also been used to introduce some of the most imaginative letters any newspaper editor has ever read.

Unfortunately, the net effect of gripe-letters is zero, due to the limited audiences and lack of concerted action on the part of those with axes to grind.

However, the referendum scheduled for Friday will give the student body a chance to sound off on two topics which are close to the heart of every student -- the trimester system and the proposed Student Bill of Rights, as explained in Tuesday's Flambeau.

Naturally, most everyone has formed his opinion of the trimester-one way or the other.

Unfortunately, not so many of us are familiar with the Student Bill of Rights, or the reasons behind such a proposal.

The bill has its origins in the well-publicized Pow-Wow festivities last fall (you DO remember THAT) and particularly in the surprisingly swift retribution which followed.

Yet, the author of the bill was concerned less with that particular incident than with a vast area of student concern which has never been defined with any degree of mutual acceptance. That's why it took so long to write, and re-write. The result is a comprehensive statement which I hope is accepted by both faculty and administration.

The final step--acceptance by the student body--remains to be taken. The referendum Friday is the first step. Acceptance by the student body leaves only the writing of the bill into the Student Body Constitution. But--there is one catch. A least 25 per cent of us must vote.

Failure to cast the minimum number negates the entire ballot regardless of the outcome.

This is the crucial step--and off! If you have ever griped your roommate, written a scorching letter to the Flambeau, or even muttered under your breath about either topic, this is your best possible opportunity to get something done.

And the voting process takes a minimum of the day--you can drop in between classes.

Just do it!

Writer Asks All To Vote

As many students know, the newly formed FSU Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Students has satirized life at Florida State University in a recent publication. It is not our intention or purpose, however, to sit idly by and criticize the University without offering positive suggestions for remedying certain ills which are troubling our school.

In our platform of goals and principles we call for 1.) "A thorough State investigation of the inadequacies of the trimester system--changes to be made to make the present system workable, or elimination of same and the substitution of another." and 2.) "A more objective definition of the rights and privileges of the students of Florida State University--with the definition to be in as close accord as possible with the precepts of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States."

A special referendum regarding these above principles will be held this Friday, January 15. A number of people have contributed a great deal of time and effort in arranging this referendum so that student opinions on these controversial topics may be clearly and unmistakably registered and progress made with higher authorities on the solution of the problems involved.

While we consider Sen. Stearns' Student Bill of Rights as an excellent proposal and continuation of the present trimester system as a threat to Florida education, we urge all students, regardless of their opinions, to cast their votes in this referendum--considering the issues they may be the most important that you ever cast in a student election.

Airlifts Sparked Congo Killings Says YPSL Speaker T. Riggins

By TOM MIMMS

Tom Riggins, founder and past chairman of the FSU Young Peoples Socialist League, at Liberal Forum Sunday night blamed the United States for the recent Congo massacres.

Speaking on "American Imperialism in the Congo, Riggins charged that the Moise Tshombe government, supported by the United States, had slaughtered thousands of Congolese Blacks. In retaliation, he said, the Black insurgents of the National Liberation Front had killed a few Whites.

He maintained that the United States intervention on behalf of Tshombe had led directly to the killings.

"The United States-Belgian airlift into Stanleyville," he claimed, "sparked the killings of whites there." He added that "it has never been definitely established whether these whites were murdered or were killed when they got in the way of the fighting there."

He characterized the Tshombe government as a "brutal dictatorship maintained by the United States and Belgium to enable their business interests to exploit the Congo's resources."

The Congolese National Liberation Front, he felt, represented the patri-tribal, nationalistic interests of Patrice Lumumba, the assassinated first Congolese premier.

"The Liberation Front wants to exploit the Congo's wealth for the benefit of the people," he continued. "This is unacceptable to United States and Belgium business interests," he said.

He described Tshombe and his predecessor, Cyrille Adoula, as "pawns" of these business interests, only interested in what they could "get out of the deal for their own personal interests."

Admitting that the Congolese "rebels" received aid from the Soviet Union, Red China, and certain African nations, he said that these nations were not economically able to give much material aid, but only moral encouragement.

"The Congo," he concluded, "shows the West, struggling for freedom against the Old which tries to justify itself by repeating the same old lies."

At a business meeting after Riggins' talk, Liberal Forum voted to send Lloyd Lewis as a delegate and Walt Reed as an official observer to respond to an invitation by Jim Groot and the campus University Party to appear before their platform committee.

'More Of Same' Johnson Policy Says McPherson

By SARA ANN SLOAT
Flambeau Staff Writer

"It will be more of the same. The style will probably change. The representation will be more firm concerning negotiations. But, the present policy is the only one that makes sense," stated Harold McPherson in an interview when asked how he felt about the foreign policy under the Johnson administration.

McPherson, who was the speaker for the Religion in Life Series last night, holds the position with the State Department as Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs.

"This office," said McPherson, "was created in 1948 and I am the third person to hold it. It is a tool for our foreign ambassadors through education and culture."

"A $60 million program is authorized, $30 million of which is through Fulbright Fellowships," he said. "The Fulbright Fellowship is sometimes able to establish cultural threads with a nation when our ambassadors are unable to establish any ties. About 7,500 foreign students per year are sponsored."

"Another portion of the program is the Foreign Leaders," he said. "People from our country, who are trained in a specific field are sent to another country to set up shop. The people there can learn the business."

"The Department also has Cultural Presentations. They finance foreign tours for big-name musical entertainers and symphonies."

McPherson's lecture for the series was "Ethics and Politics." When asked the policy was on an ethical level, he stated, "There are dirty politics, but everyone is a politician, and politics are relative to the situation. You cannot condemn a politician anymore than you can a business man."

Asst. Coach Durham Holds FSU High Scoring Record--43 Points

"Come on, let's hustle. Don't let your guard take the ball from you," drills the soft-spoken Hugh Durham, assistant to the varsity basketball team.

Coach Durham hails from Louisville, Kentucky, where he first learned basketball in grade school. In high school, he lettered 14 times and had already signed a football contract with the University of Kentucky when he decided to choose Tallahassee for his home base.

While playing basketball for the Tribe '55-'59, Coach Durham worked for his Masters in Business Administration. He holds, along with Dave Fedor, the FSU all time single scoring record for a game--43 points.

For three years he was on the All-State team and made All-American Honorable Mention in his senior year.

After graduation, he coached the freshman team for a year and had a 9-1 record until he was named assistant coach under Bud Kennedy in 1960.

Speaking about past players, he said, "Dave Fedor was the best basketball player ever for the Seminoles. Another excellent tribesman was Ray Swain."

When asked about this year's team, Durham replied, "Defense is the key factor to the success that we have had so far this year. Each individual is taking more pride in team defense and this has enabled us to stop outstanding opponents such as Jim Pitt, SEC's highest scorer, and Rick Barry, the nation's leading scorer." The father of two boys, Dave and Doug, Durham believes that FSU is a good school with fine prospects for the future. He feels that the "big ones" coming up will be Memphis State this Saturday in Tully Gym and Georgia Tech. In conclusion, he said, "FSU has never had a losing year and the team plans to keep it that way."

HUGH DURHAM

... assistant coach to the varsity basketball team believes that the key factor to success is the defense. It will be one of the things stressed for the Memphis game this weekend.

Seminole Go 'Tiger' Hunting Sat. In Tully Gym

The FSU basketball team goes "Tiger" hunting when they defend their 8-6 record this weekend against Memphis State Saturday night at 7:45 p.m. in Tully Gym. Since 1953 when the teams first met, Memphis has controlled the scoreboard winning seven games out of eight. The only defeat suffered by the Tigers came exactly one year ago on January 16 on the same Tallahassee stage in Tully Gym.

It was a high point game that saw the Seminoles win in the final seconds by a score of 91-90.

The Tigers return with five members of last year's squad led by forward Craig Alexander who averaged 22 points last season.

A new year's resolution of the Tribe appears to be Victory. They haven't lost a game since the beginning of the new year having defeated Georgia and Miami.

Ron Malmen, Gary Schull, Bobb Lovell, and Pete Gonzalez have been the Tribe's big guns all season.

RON MALMEN

... Leading defender for the FSU ... and Rogers will direct the FSU attack, Saturday night against Memphis in Tully Gym.

Tankers Win No. 2

By HANK SCHOMBER

The FSU swimmers splashed to a 66-29 victory over the University of Georgia yesterday afternoon at the University Union pool.

A crowd of more than 2000, the largest to see a home meet, was on hand to watch when four meet records fell. In the diving competition Larry Profumo continued his mastery as he edged out Georgia's Danny Garth 253.25-251.65.

The Seminole Mermen swept to seven firsts, while the Bulldogs paddled to three.

Georgia's Roy Hall topped two meet records with 2:08.9 in the Individual Medley, and a 2:12.5 in the Backstroke.

Two records went to FSU winners Tom Lloyd and Gene Dayton. Lloyd dropped the 200 yard Freestyle mark to 1:56.3 Dayton chopped 14 seconds from the 500 yard freestyle slipping in a 5:22.3.

The team travels to Gainesville Saturday to take on the Gator tankmen. They return to Tallahassee for a meet with Alabama Jan. 23. The 29th and 30th they go against the University of North Carolina and N.C. State respectively.

Track Team Predictions

FSU's cinder circle is turning up shoe soles as the 1965 Seminole Track Squad prepares for their first meet in the Coliseum Relays at Montgomery, Alabama, scheduled for February.

Led by Captains Al Cato and Jerry McDaniel, the team will be defending their unblemished record of last season.

Concentration will be in strengthening runners Cato, Bob Sable, and Ken White, a transfer student, in the sprints and middle distance events.

The quarter mile, run by McDaniel and Don Ferry, is hoped to be a winning event, says Coach Mike Long, as well as the 880, which is dominated by Ross Winters and John Brogle, another transfer student.

Returning school record holder and 1965 Orange Bowl Champion Don Pharis will head the pole vaulting department. Pharis won the Orange Bowl New Year's Eve Meet by vaulting 14 ft., 9 ins.

Another Orange Bowl winner, Lee King, backed by Sut Gaily, is a strong contender for the broad jump, says Long.

The triple jump (hop-skip-jump) headed by Gaily and sophomore Don Castree, should be a strong event for the Seminoles, believes Long. And Floyd Lorenz is expected to finish on the top in the high jump division.

"I like any other team, however, we do have our problems this year," said Coach Long. "Scholarship losses, along with other personnel losses, are the heaviest in the past ten years. This problem, plus an impressive dual meet schedule that involves three out of the top four SEC leaders puts quite a burden on the returning veterans."

Commenting on the '64 squad's record, Long remarked that the achievements gained included "pressure-packed" wins over arch rival Florida and SEC Champion Tennessee on the same weekend.

The Thursday Mixers, bowling league resumes tonight. A short re-organizational meeting is set for 6:30 p.m. with bowling following at 7 p.m. All interested leggers are invited to attend.

Day, Stearns, Falck Speak On Vote

Bill Falck, the only senator against the Students Principles resolution when it was first passed last trimester in Student Government, released this statement today:

"The resolution will be voted on in the referendum."

"About two weeks ago, I was the only senator who voted against the 'Bill of Rights' for the students."

"Since that time, all the senators have indicated a change of heart. Why? Because on the surface, the bill seems to be underneath the superficial, however, there flows a sea of ferred with the then Attorney General of the State of Florida. He pointed out that certain traditional legal principles are indirectly violated in the 'Bill of Rights' statement."

"In our nation, all men are 'free'. All authority lies within the people, since they can vote to replace the nation's leaders. But a university is not in any sense a nation governed by the people. In the words of Admiral Rickover, 'A University is not a democracy.' It is, instead,

"The morning of that heated session, I had a lengthy discussion with a well-known professor, respected for his clear reasoning ability, clarity of intellectual expression and a genuine interest in academic freedom and responsibility."

"He pointed out the bills wealth of errors and erroneous interpretations of factual conditions. It became obvious that a careful reading of the bill would reveal profound and far-reaching errors in Sen. Stearns' understanding of the historical principles of university and student operation."

Dean Day For Rights Code

Dean of Students, Harry Day, today issued a statement concerning the Student Bill of Rights to be voted on today by FSU students.

"Basically I am in favor of the student statement of rights and responsibilities, but I have some reservations about the language."

"I think that it is inaccurate to say students have been denied due process of law and the right to appeal. I think, however, there are some changes which should be made in the court."

"I would like to see jurisdiction for an appellate court studied very carefully."

"Finally I'd like to see a complete statement drawn-up giving an explanation of court system we now have and the present appeals system as I think such a statement would clarify questions."

"The idea of drawing a statement of rights and responsibilities is im-

Senator Gene Stearns, who originated the "Statement of Student Principles" resolution that will be voted on today in a referendum bill issued this statement today concerning that statement.

"The basic premise of a 'Statement of Student Principles' is the belief that a 'university exists for the students'. Rarely is this point ever debated."

One senator, however, chose a rather unusual position stating that a university exists for the state, not for the students.

GENE STEARNS

The real problem though, centers around the method of best providing for the student's intellectual and social needs."

The Senate overwhelmingly approved several suggestions which we feel would improve the relationships between the students the faculty and the administration on this campus. None of these suggestions were in the slightest way extralegal or unreasonable."

Should we have the right of due process of law? Should we have the right to not testify against ourselves? These rights are as necessary to students as they are to individuals in a state."

Expulsion from a university is a "black mark" which will follow that person for the rest of his life. Surely, the students on this campus innocent or guilty, deserve all of the benefits of justice which have historically evolved in our civilization."

The statement itself recognizes that the administration need not grant us our requests. We have presented them in good faith and we are confident that the administration will accept them as such."

I can only encourage all students to carefully consider this statement and vote for its passage," concluded Stearns.

25% Of Students Validate 'Rights' In Today's Vote

The referendum election is a statement of student opinion. It is the law for an amendment to the constitution. It is simply an appeal to the student body and must have the support of the student body to be valid. It is hoped that at least 5,000 students will vote," said Ken Hey, Chairman of Elections this morning.

The voting hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in front of Bryan Hall, in front of the library and at the Union House. The post workers will be Freshman Flunkies, Hey.

The vote will also be a ballot for student opinion on the trimester system referendum. This will include results on the number of hours and the point average of the semester.

The results on the principle vote are known about 10 p.m. However, the trimester opinion vote results will not be known until Monday morning to Hey.

"This is a student opinion poll that is being specifically with student members. Each student should carefully read the statement of principles and vote accordingly."

"During its first three years the Peace Corps has proven to be an extremely effective influence abroad for contributing to the life of developing countries and for creating a better atmosphere of international understanding," said FSU President Gordon Blackwell today.

"Because I feel that the Peace Corps provides an opportunity for FSU men and women to meet difficult challenges in the world today, I am pleased that the week of January 17-23 is being observed on our campus as Peace Corps Week," said Blackwell.

About five Peace Corps staff members will be on campus next week for recruiting and informational purposes. A Peace Corps center will be located throughout the week in the arcade of the Post Office and the University Union Building.

These representatives will be available to speak to individual groups and organizations. Arrangements for this can be made immediately through room 247 of the University Union, ex. 3171.

M. Van Doren Play Premieres With J. Haydon In Lead Here

A new play by Mark Van Doren, Pulitzer prize poet, entitled "Never, Never Ask His Name," has been selected to premiere at FSU March 24-28.

Miss Julie Haydon, Broadway star who created such roles as Laura in "The Glass Menagerie," Kitty in "The Time of Your Life," Brigid in "Shadow and Substance," has been signed to play one of the leading roles--that of the character Elizabeth Hard.

Miss Haydon will work with University Theater students and speak at the Coffee Hour today at 4:15, and both she and Van Doren will be here Feb. 28 to begin rehearsals. The play will be directed by Richard Fallon, co-director of University Theater.

This will be the second play by Van Doren. His first was premiered at FSU two years ago.

The first play, "The Last Days of Lincoln," will be presented in April in the reconstructed Ford's Theater now part of the Library of Congress in Washington. It will then move to Springfield, Illinois, for a number of performances, and open on Broadway sometime in April, Lucille Lortel is producing.

This will mark the first FSU premiere to go to Broadway from its initial performance at FSU. Fallon, who directs the premiere, has been given the touring rights to the play. Last year's premiere, "Tracy" by James Forsyth, is currently under option for a possible performance at the Gate Theater off Broadway.

Miss Haydon is spending the week at FSU. In addition to speaking to various classes she gave readings from some of the plays in which she has appeared and from unpublished material written by her late husband, George Jean Nathan, last night at the University Union. Today she is speaking to speech classes before going to Miami for an engagement.

Carlos Montoya Artist Tickets Go On Sale In Union Monday

Tickets go on sale Monday, for a Student Artist Series program by Carlos Montoya, Flamenco guitarist, who will present a recital at Florida State University Thursday Jan. 28.

The program will be at 8:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium. Tickets are priced at $1 for FSU students, $2 for the public. They may be obtained at the Central Ticket Office on the ground floor of the University Union. Mail orders are accepted.

Montoya, who has revolutionized the Flamenco music world by building up one of the most extensive repertoires of any living guitarist, is one of the handful of masters of the instrument who is able to devote an entire evening's program to Flamenco.

He was the first guitarist to work without a singer or dancer. Most of them still require the presence of other performers to round out an evening's recital because of their limited repertoire.

Rest?

In our four years at FSU we have noticed a diabolical scheme to undermine our mental stability. The scheme is masterminded by those people who are responsible for building the rest rooms on campus and more specifically those people who pick the tile that goes on the floor of said rest rooms.

Perhaps those more fortunate than we find suitable reading material and do not have to contemplate the intricate, incomprehensible patterns fiendishly put down by some master schemer. Those who are caught without a "Playboy" or "Flambeau," however, know of what we speak.

Unless each one of those tiles was laid by hand by some master-craftsman, there is no possible way those floors could have been put in. If one spends too much time trying to figure this problem out, one not only stands a chance of losing one's mind but also of forgetting the business at hand.

We would ask those people responsible for choosing the floor patterns in our rest rooms to take into consideration the trauma experienced by the concerned students who cannot comprehend the intricacies involved.

Please couldn't we go back to linoleum.

Students Have A Chance. . . Now

This academic year has been marked by an unusual amount of student-administration friction. As I look back over the past four years, 1964-65 stands out as the year of the Pow Wow, the year of complete disillusionment with the trimester system, the year of MOFST, and the year of the crucifixion of the Greeks. Most of us have felt some degree of involvement in at least one of these issues. We have publicly and privately criticized both the trimester and the lack of understanding of the student and his problems by much of the administration. Few of us feel very close to the majority of the Ivory-tower deities on the hill.

Without rehearsing these already souped-up topics, I wish to point out a well-publicized but little-known fact. HERE IS OUR CHANCE. We have the privilege TODAY to "shape our piece," both on the trimester and our rights as students. No matter where you stand, or QUIT GRIPING.

"Accept the logic written into the text, and you reject the right of the university to administer without fear of constant contradiction and harassment.

"If students honestly feel a need for a demonstration of responsibility on their part, they should seize this opportunity today to vote against the Stearns bill. This time, I know I will not be the only Senator opposing it; there are many," concluded Falck.

PAPFI Provides Full Scholarship

A $500 scholarship which will support the education of a student from his freshman through his senior year in FSU's School of Engineering Science has been provided by the Pan American Petroleum Foundation Inc.

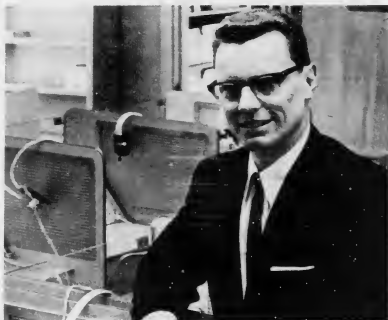

Dr. Grover L. Rogers, dean of the FSU School of Engineering Science said the recipient will be selected on the basis of both scholarship and leadership abilities. Financial need will not be a major consideration. School officials believe it is the largest scholarship under university administration for an entering freshman at FSU.

Dr. Rogers said: "The award of the scholarship to Florida State is an additional recognition by American industry of the important role that graduates of the School of Engineering Science will play in our expanding technology."

Announcement of the award to FSU was made by George W. Clarke, foundation vice-president in Oklahoma City.

First recipient of the scholarship will be a member of the 1965 entering freshman class. The selectee will receive $800 for his first year's year, and $1000 a year for each of the final two year's study.

The School of Engineering Science will receive $200 and the recipient's high school science department $200 to support its academic program. The Pan American Foundation was created and is supported by the Pan American Petroleum Corporation.

MARTESIA STRIATA!

The object of our concern was a small, wedge-shaped mollusk found in southern waters where we planned to lay telephone cables.

Like others of its genus Martesia (of the family Pholadidae), it is a borer.

Usually it bores into limestone or some other substance to find a home.

Would it—could it—bore into our undersea cables?

At the time, we were testing the performances of proposed dielectric materials for undersea cables at various simulated depths, temperatures and ocean pressures. We also tested for resistance to marine biological attack.

The testing showed that our cable covering wouldn't be attractive to pholads, and in nearly fifteen years of experience with undersea telephone cables we have peacefully shared the ocean bottom with them.

But we had to be sure we could. In the telephone business, reliability is everything. We must do all we can to safeguard service from interruption. No threat is too small to ignore, not even that posed by a tiny mollusk.

Right now we've got other problems.

Out in the Dakotas, hungry squirrels and field mice are nibbling on our wires.

We have to run.

'Who's Who,' 'Hall Of Fame'

Point Systems Will Be Revised

The Who's Who and Hall of Fame point system is being revised this year. Joyce Killian, Student Government vice-president and chairman of the committee in charge of the revision, announced today.

"Many honors and positions were left off the present point system and it is generally obsolete," Miss Killian said.

The relative value of some activities has changed over the years and the points allocated to these activities no longer represent their worth.

It has been several years since a revision has been made and positions have been arbitrarily added according to Miss Killian. Examples of this addition are the Union Board positions.

Members of the committee are comparing the past system, suggesting revisions and will submit their reports to Miss Killian in two weeks. The committee will discuss the changes and present a final draft to the Senate for approval sometime this trimester.

Members of the committee include Dean of Students, Dean of Women, Dean of Men, Director of Student Activities, Hall of Fame Chairman for last year and this year, Who's Who Chairman for last year and this year, and President and Vice President of the Junior class for this year and last year.

The committee members do not necessarily have to attend all meetings but may send representatives.

Price To Give Lecture Tonight

Dean Don K. Price will lecture on "The Scientific Community in the U.S. Constitutional System," today at 8 p.m. in the Library Lecture Hall.

This talk will be given again for the Graduate Seminar tomorrow in the Honors Program Seminar Room, 210 Longmire, at 9:40 a.m. These lectures are open to the public.

Price was born in Kentucky and graduated from Vanderbilt University. He has served in various capacities with the Home Owners Loan Corporation, Social Science Research Council, Public Administration Clearing House. Also the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch (First Hoover Commission), U.S. Coast Guard, University of Chicago, and the Ford Foundation, the latter as vice-president from 1953-1959.

He has been Professor of Government and Dean of the Faculty of Public Administration at Harvard University since 1958.

Dean Price has been working on problems of the government's relation to science ever since he was given the assignment, in the U.S. Bureau of the Budget during the Second World War, to study the management of the government's research program and its postwar plans for the support of science and the control of atomic energy.

He served as Deputy Chairman of the Research and Development Board of the Department of Defense in 1952 and 1953.

The student body voted "yes" Friday on the referendum concerning the "Statement of Student Principles", Ken Hey, Commissioner of Elections, said today.

Undergraduates voted 2165 to 259 in favor of the Statement with 320 abstentions. This is more than the necessary 25% needed for the note.

Graduate voters were counted separately. They voted 115 to 13 in favor of the Statement with 34 abstentions.

In all, a total of 2,906 students voted. There were 2280 votes for and 272 against the total of 354 abstentions.

In percentages 78.5% voted "yes", 9.3% "no", and 12.2% abstained.

"We were sorry that more students didn't vote but since there were only 3 polls, two of which closed for 1 hour during the day, and since it was Friday, we feel the voting was as heavy as could be expected," said Senator Gene Stearns, sponsor of the Statement.

"The results are encouraging in that 78% of those voting, voted 'yes', he added.

Student Senate is already working on plans for the appellate court, section three of the "Bill" according to Stearns. With the help of the Dean of Students, other Deans, and Hines Boyd, chief justice of the Honor Court, plans are being made for the jurisdiction of the new court.

They are attempting to decide who will be members of the court and how problems such as those which arose last semester and before will be handled. They hope to be able to solve situations suitable to all, he said.

In addition, a committee is working on incorporating the Bill of Rights into the Student Body Constitution.

"The committee worked this week-end compiling the results from the vote on the trimester system poll, but because of the necessity of counting all 3000 ballots by hand, we will not have them until late today," said Miss Joy Dickenson, chairman of the Senate committee on the trimester system.

Questions on the poll included evaluation of students' opinions by a rating system of 1, 2, or 3, in order of importance. Students were asked to rated what they liked and disliked about the trimester.

Talking to Richard Fallon of the FSU theater Miss Haydon was enthusiastically appreciative of the drama effort on campus. She described it as "healthy, imaginative, and enchanting."

Miss Haydon and Fallon both spoke sentimentally of times past when commercial theater was running in a fresher and more lively vein. Perhaps, with your help we can create that kind of beauty again, commented Fallon.

"Never, Never Ask His Name," a new play by Mr. Mark Van Doren will premier on campus with Miss Haydon in the female lead and Fallon directing March 24.

Remembering the first Broadway production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" with Miss Haydon playing Laura, Fallon borrowed a phrase from one of George Nathan's books calling it an "image of magnificence." The theater, Fallon asked Miss Haydon if she thought of Laura as an unhappy role. "What do you think?" responded the actress.

"Not really," "You're right." Actually she was "very happy," continued Miss Haydon. Laura lived in a dream world, but dreams aren't really that far from reality, "not any farther than the world of the absurd" she concluded.

Calling up impressions of her husband Miss Haydon found him "most of happy." "He was a reflective, but always ready for a lark," she said.

Peace Corps

September 22, 1961 Congress established the Peace Corps, and with it set forth three main objectives. These objectives are:

1. Help people of other countries meet their needs for trained manpower.
2. Help promote a better understanding of the American people on the part of the peoples served.
3. Help promote a better understanding of other peoples on the part of the American people.

Since its inception the Peace Corps has come a very long way. In the some four years it has existed, the Corps has grown until, at present, it can boast of 10,000 workers in 42 countries around the world.

We feel this is an accomplishment one cannot overlook. It's not easy to recruit volunteers when about the only drawing cards are extremely low pay, hardship conditions, and little individual recognition.

Evidently the Americans now actively engaged in Peace Corps work around the world feel, as we do, that the purpose and the results of their work far overshadow the hardships endured.

It is apparent that the Peace Corps has proven to be more than a fly-by-night political tool. It was conceived and has progressed in a spirit of international good-will, and a desire to extend brotherhood to men of all nations.

In this era of skepticism such idealistic concepts might be considered "square" by some people, but 10,000 young Americans don't seem to think so.

This week has been proclaimed Peace Corps Week on campus by President Blackwell. We urge every student to support the various activities sponsored at FSU by the Peace Corps during the next few days.

FLAMBEAU FORUM

Questions Validity Of Rights

The "Statement of Student Principles" is the most overbearing bit of nonsense to come along in awhile. The authors of this verbal goulash modestly proclaim the university exists for themselves. And this remains the main flavor despite a heavy larding of high-sounding phrases: academic community, liberty, equality, and less explicitly, fraternity. The children, as it were, have voted to raise their allowance.

The university is pretty much a benevolent oligarchy. To achieve its twin functions of discovery and dissemination of truth and understanding, it would best remain that way. Would you give an athlete equal vote with the coach? Would you give the student body equal voice with the chairman of the board?

I'm not suggesting the university is either a sport or a corporation; but it is not a toy town council, as this proposed appellate court would have it. The apprentices sit in the councils of the masters? I can't think of a quicker way to degenerate the quality of education.

It is ironic that the proposal should come out of student government. The social responsibility of that body was well demonstrated in last year's effort to integrate the restaurants. Faced with a real and vicious challenge to individual dignity, racial intolerance, student government exercised its leadership and did an effective thing. Now they try to instigate a kangaroo court in the name of racial rights.

Their comprehension of rights apparently ends with the rights of spring. Any institution needs constant constructive criticism. The university maintains among other things student unions and a free press for that purpose. Let students make cogent proposals on specific issues through these channels, rather than waste time trying to arrogate absurd privileges. If the current regimen is intolerable and can't be changed in a reasonable way, the student can transfer, an unassailable right. Or one can always resign and write colorful books.

Letters Policy

Students are reminded that all letters to the editor must include the student's signature, student number, and school address. All signatures will be checked against the current registrar's list. The "Flambeau" will attempt to give recognition to all letters received, excepting those which are slanderous or in obvious poor taste.

A NEW THREE TIERED FOUNTAIN
... is now under construction on Landis Green.

New Fountain, Other Improvements

Work Beautifies Landis Green

The Building and Grounds Department recently undertook several small improvement projects on campus. Together they probably don't cost as much as the roof on the unitary tool shed but they promise to make the campus a more beautiful place.

Most unavoidable of the new projects is the cause of the diggings and plowing on Landis Green. When all the mud has dried and the holes are filled up, students will discover a set of criss-cross sidewalks on the green joined in the middle by a new fountain.

The fountain at the center of the green will be a circular pool 14 feet in diameter surrounded by a 12 foot band of sidewalk. The fountain itself will be three tiers of spray rising out of the center of the pool. The lowest tier will fall almost to the edge of the pool. The second will be a little smaller and the center of the fountain will be a single jet of water rising vertically to about eight feet. At night the new fountain will be lit from below the water level with colored light which will constantly be changing through blue, red, amber, and green. Pastels will be visible between the moments of plain color.

Conservation minded students will be happy to hear that the grass in the area around the construction site on Landis is being taken up and replanted in the area around the University Station.

Since trucks will be crossing the ground where the grass now grows while the fountain is being built, it would have to be replaced upon completion of the fountain anyway.

Tells Of Circle

Processionary caterpillars feed upon pine needles. They move through the trees in a long procession, one leading the others following -- each with his eyes half closed and his head snugly fitted against the rear extremity of his predecessor.

Jean-Henri Fabre, the great French naturalist, after patiently experimenting with a group of the caterpillars, finally enclosed them to the rim of a large flower pot where he succeeded in getting the first one connected with the last one, thus forming a complete circle, which started moving around in a procession, which had neither beginning nor end.

The naturalist expected that after a while they would catch on to the joke, get tired of their useless march and start off in some new direction. But not so --

Through sheer force of habit, the living, creeping circle kept moving around the rim of the pot -- around and around, keeping the same relentless pace for seven days and seven nights -- and would doubtless have continued longer had it not been for sheer exhaustion and ultimate starvation.

Incidentally, an ample supply of food was close at hand and plainly visible, but it was outside the range of the circle so they continued along the beaten path.

They were following instincts -- habits -- custom -- tradition -- precedent -- past experience -- "standard practice" or whatever you may choose to call it, but they were following it blindly.

Office Modernization Underway

By DAVE NELSON
Flambeau Staff Writer

"The Dean's offices at the south end of the second floor of Westcott are being remodeled at the estimated cost of $8,000," Assistant Dean of Students John K. Arnold said today. This is another step in the modernization of Westcott which began over a year ago with the remodeling of the executive offices in the north end. Since then the Business Manager's Office and Counseling Service have been modernized.

The work, being done by the University maintenance dept., will result in a complete facelift of rooms 201 and 202. The ceilings will be lowered and new lighting and air-conditioning ducts will be installed.

Wall to wall carpeting will replace broken linoleum tile, and wood paneling will cover the old walls. New type windows and sun deflectors will be installed for better use of light and less glare, said Arnold. Room 201 is being divided to accommodate the Assistant Deans of Men and Women, Institutional Research and Service which previously occupied room 201, will relocate in the old Assistant Dean of Women's office in Longmire. The Assistant Dean of Men's office in Longmire will be occupied by the University Chaplain.

Dean Arnold, who is temporarily located in the basement of Longmire expressed hope that the work will be finished by Feb. 1.

Tribe Sinks Long Shots

Seminoles Bag Tigers 74-61

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

The FSU 'Fiery Five' basketball team romped to a 74-61 victory over the Tigers of Memphis State Saturday night in Tully Gym. It was a touch and go battle until midway in the first half when Gary Schull put the tribe ahead 18-17 with a 30 foot jump shot. The Seminoles controlled the scoreboard the rest of the evening.

The Tigers pulled to within six points of the Tribe with five minutes remaining in the game. Bill Peacock was in the free throw line when a technical foul was called against the Tigers. Peacock and Ken Leakey both hit from the line. Schull then scored to put the Tribe ahead 60-50 to thwart any further Tiger threat.

The big difference between the two teams came from the field goal percentage. Schull and Ron Malmen were the big guns for the Tribe with 22 and 18 points, respectively. The Tribe contained the Tigers shots causing Memphis to shoot off stride. The Tiger defense at times appeared to have ten men on the court. Every pass of the Seminoles seemed covered by two Memphis players, but their speed wasn't enough to contain the mighty Tribe as the Seminoles hit from everywhere on court.

Malmen put FSU on the scoreboard first sinking a 30 foot shot from the left side. Craig Alexander quickly evened the score. Jerry Shirley sank one from the right side only to have Memphis' Tim Morgan tie it up again.

Schull then broke loose for a goal and followed it with a free throw. Alan Mirrieles, and Morgan drafted shots with Bobby Lovell and Schull. The Tribe led by the slight margin of one point when Jamie McMahan of Memphis scored to put the Tigers ahead 10-9 with 14 minutes remaining in the first half.

Mirrieles, Malmen, Schull, and Alexander took turns scoring as the lead sea-sawed back and forth until Schull hit on two consecutive shots, one which was set up by a fine jump and fake by Pete Gonzalez passing to Schull under the basket. The first half ended with the Tribe ahead by nine points. The Tigers came out the second half playing

... led the Tribe to victory over Memphis State with 22 points Saturday night. Schull was 4-13 from the floor and hit a perfect 1,000 on the foul line sinking four for four.

RON MALMEN

Tankers Swim Past UF; UF Winless Against FSU

The FSU Tankers remained undefeated when they downed the University of Florida Saturday afternoon in Gainesville. The third win of the season for Bim Stults and his team gave FSU another victory over the UF who has not won a single game against the Seminoles this year.

Frosh Tankers Edge UF 48-47

The Freshmen swimmers, led by Seeley Feldmeyer's two firsts, raced to a 48-47 victory over the Florida Frosh Saturday at Gainesville.

Feldmeyer set two Freshmen standards and anchored the decisive 200 yd. Freestyle Relay. FSU built up an early lead, but the Gators chewed it down and the outcome hinged on the final event, the 200 Relay. A new Freshmen record was set when Dave Gibson, Jim Matthews, Bill Anderson and Feldmeyer, combined for a 1:30.9 and the meet victory.

The swimmers won only five of the 11 events but hung in closeup until eight seconds and padding the score further with five third place finishes.

The score read FSU 46, Florida 42 going into the final freestyle relay event, a winner take all affair. Tome Lloyd, Jim Mauldin, Charley Robertson, and anchor man Abbott left Florida in their wake as they sped to victory in 3:24.5.

Dick Abbott gave the Seminoles their first win by outdistancing Charles King in the 200 yd. ind. medly.

Frosh Cagers Lose To MS In Overtime

The Freshmen Cagers dropped an 81-76 overtime decision to the Memphis State Freshmen Saturday night prior to the varsity game.

Memphis was led by former high school all-American Mike Butler while handling the baby Seminoles their second loss in as many outings. Butler led the Tiger Cub charge with a total of 29 points. The spunky guard harassed the FSU cagers both offensively and defensively as he lived up to his pre-game laurels. FSU was paced by Darrel Stewart and Jim Lytle with 23 and 13 points respectively. Loren Price of FSU led all rebounders with 12.

The Seminoles fought back from a four point half time deficit to knot things up at 68-68 with less than a minute remaining. After getting control again they waited for one last shot. A jump ball short and the game moved into overtime.

Memphis jumped to the lead in the overtime play and was never headed. The Seminoles couldn't find the range and the Tigers held a nine point advantage at one point in the final five minutes.

Pol Finds Strength, Weakness Of Trimester Says Dickinson

"We were trying to find what students considered the strengths and weaknesses of the trimester system," said Student Senator Joy Dickinson, chairman of the Senate committee today concerning the poll on the trimester system taken Friday.

"We picked 10 things from articles and comments made by educators and politicians which are usually mentioned as strong or weak about the trimester," she explained.

Miss Dickinson considers the two sections measuring those factors to be the most important features of the poll.

Students rated the strength and weakness by 1.2 or 3 as to the factors they most disliked or liked.

These numbers were counted on a scale of one equals three votes; two, two votes, and three, one vote.

Counted this way, the poll showed that 5376 feel that the trimester was ending before Christmas is the most favorable aspect of the trimester.

A longer time to work in the summer received 3835 votes as the most favorable aspect. Being able to graduate in less time received 2147 votes.

A better chance for seasonal employment received 1406, and less expensive, 1345.

Students think increased pressure and fatigue is the least favorable aspect of the trimester giving it 4395 votes. Close behind this was the lack of overall education in depth with 3938 votes.

Less time for extra reading and research received 3148, and less time for extracurricular activities 2336.

Only 1534 votes were given to not enough holidays (especially in trimester II).

Students do feel that the average course content has been adjusted to fit the trimester system. They gave 854 votes to an average adjustment; 837, good; 775 poor; and 317, excellent.

In a separate section students who had attended college under another system as well as the trimester, were asked to answer questions.

Of these students 872 feel that there is increased pressure and 288 feel that the trimester is less stressful.

Students overwhelmingly voted 100 to 259 that the trimester has cut down extracurricular activities.

Under the trimester, reading for pleasure, outside work, and extra research, 805 feel it has decreased, 307, remained the same, and 44, increased.

Retention of course material has remained the same according to 511 students, decreased, 306, and increased, 121.

Overall grade point averages have remained the same feel 455, decreased, 360, and increased, 304.

Nine Fraternities, Dorms Lose Party Accreditations

By BOB CORNET
Flambeau News Editor

Nine fraternities and nine dorms will not be represented at the Student Party convention tonight, according to Commissioner of Elections Ken Hey.

Hey said that the Student Party had not turned in a list of delegates from these organizations by the Friday deadline.

Consequently said Hey, these organizations can not be recognized on the convention floor. Should the Student Party try to seat these delegations, he said, the convention would be declared unconstitutional.

The eighteen groups are: Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities; Broward, Catton, DeGrass, Dorman, Gilchrist, Magnolia, Jennie, Reynolds, and Salley women dorms.

Hey said that he had anticipated difficulty for both parties in lining up their delegates within the required time since the convention came so early in the trimester.

Therefore his commission had extended the delegate filing deadline from seven days to three days before each convention.

Al Milton, chairman of the Student Party, said that his party will have to comply with the Commissioner's statement.

He did say, though, that individuals from these organizations may pay membership cards at the door and participate in the convention as spectators.

Should any of these card holding individuals, said Milton, wish to make a nomination they could do so by having a legal delegate recognize him and yield the floor to him.

Hey said that the University Party will under the trimester last week, also had delegates ruled ineligible for the same reason.

International Experimental Living Representative Now On Campus

Mr. Lars T. Carlson, field representative of the Experiment in International Living, will be in room 145, Union today from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. and tomorrow, from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m., to discuss the program with interested individuals.

The experiment is an educational exchange organization, founded in 1937, devoted to creating mutual respect, understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world.

Like other non-profit, private educational institutions, it is financed by the fees of its participants, by foundation grants, and the contributions of its alumni and friends.

It provides an opportunity to learn first-hand how the people of another country live and think. The most important aspect of the program is the homestay, which was originated by The Experiment. Participants live for a month in a private home—not as a guest, but as another member of the family.

The second month is spent in traveling informally through the country with a group, usually accompanied by a member of the family. At the conclusion of the informal trip, participants spend a few days in a major city somewhere along the route to the point of embarkation for home.

Faculty members form a group of ten American Experimenters. The leader's first duty is to help each group member to have a successful and enjoyable first hand experience with the problems of International understanding, said an Experiment spokesman.

Using the discussion method, a faculty member conducts an intensive orientation program, prior to embarkation, to prepare the group for its adventures in human relations.

Polls Needed

It seems that although voting was good last Friday, the polling places were extremely insufficient for the size of the FSU student body.

This problem has been noticed in the past, specifically in the campus-wide Student Government elections, but we have never heard any suggestions to change the situation. We believe the often times poor turnouts for elections might be improved if all students had easy access to a poll.

In the referendum election of last Friday there were three polls on campus; one at Bryan Hall, one at the library, and one at the University Union. These are good locations, but it is entirely feasible that even half the student body didn't pass any of these points during the day.

Generally during political elections, there is one more poll set up, at Smith Hall. We would like to suggest a few more locations that might prove advantageous to a large voter turnout when we elect the next student body president.

A polling place could be set up on one of the heavily traveled walkways both behind and in front of the Math-Meteorology and Education buildings. Other good spots might be near Florida or Dorman Hall, in front of the Seminole Club, and if possible, in front of the heavily populated Sweet Shop.

Voting regulations might prohibit this last suggestion, but it does indicate the possibilities that could be explored.

We realize that Student Senate recently defeated a move to place a poll in Alumni Village. Perhaps it wasn't needed there, we're not certain, but we hope the vote didn't indicate an attitude that no more polls are needed on campus.

We would ask the Elections Commission to seriously consider giving the students more polling places.

Students Question Village Poll

I am a married student who is concerned with the present state of affairs in Student Government. I was amazed and shocked at the Student Senate's rejection of the bill proposing a polling place in Alumni Village.

As I understand it, when the bill was brought up, Gene Stearns, a Junior Class Senator, by his own admission, opposed the bill with Jack Cannon, opposed the bill with a statement that it would be unfair advantage for the opposition since he lives in Alumni Village.

Going further into the matter I discovered that Cannon's opponent, Jim Grant, lives at 924 W. Pensacola Street, quite near campus.

The following day after the "Stearns" attack the following statement appeared in the Flambeau: "The code of elections was modified by the senate. They discussed the placing of ballot boxes for elections in Alumni Village and the trailer park. However, some of the Senators felt this would be granting special 'privileges' to a minority." (Florida Flambeau 1/14/65)

This statement causes me to ask the Student Senate what they consider a minority.

In conclusion, might I ask whether certain campaign managers are in fact trying to get more students interested in student government, or win elections? In either case it is my opinion that they are missing the mark.

FLAMBEAU FORUM

Gives Evaluation Suggestions

One of the first orders of business Florida's new Governor Haydon Burns will address himself to is the abolishment of the controversial trimester system. In recent Tampa speech, Governor Burns (reported in the St. Petersburg Times) made it clear that the trimester system was a failure and that no study was needed to show him of this fact. It seems strange that a man who stressed the need for new and more vigorous statewide research programs in his inaugural address would express the opinion that it would only a few days later toward an area desperately needing some objective, soundly investigated information. It's an uncomfortable feeling to know that the governor's first important project is to bypass a newly created and hopefully non-political Board of Regents to sway the Board of Education into a decision about a problem that might need only thoughtful revision.

Let me state at this point that my newly appointed Board of Regents convictions lean toward a trimester-type university system simply because it seems more feasible to meet the upcoming educational needs of the state, but that if some carefully planned and objective investigation showed this system to be impractical and desirable than some other system - then my opinions would be changed.

At this point, however, it seems essential to pose certain questions that any person who is genuinely interested in the educational policy of Florida's universities should ask before making quick decisions about a revamped program.

1) What actual evidence is there to show that the trimester system is inferior to the semester system? Are students doing poorer work now than they did before or do they only claim to be doing poorer? Are there psychological or motivational factors that are present now that weren't present before, that are making the trimester system ineffective? If so, what are these? Are the graduates under the trimester system less capable than those under the old system and if so, have employers made this known?

2) How much would it cost to return to the semester system? Would it actually be worth it?

3) Has the trimester system really been given a long enough try to show weaknesses or advantages?

4) What are the actual differences between the various school year systems? Do these differences lead to academic learning differences among students or only differences in students' opinions?

5) Is there any test system? If so, what evidence is there to back it up? Undoubtedly, more general and specific questions have been left out that should be included. For people who are unfamiliar with educational research methods, let me state that answers to the above questions are not easily found. There would be a large amount of time and effort expended to get a partial answer to any one of them. Let me suggest, however, a tentative research program that might shed some objective information on the trimester-semester problem.

This investigation would be jointly participated in by the State's three major institutions: The University of Florida, Florida State University and the University of South Florida. Each school would select one high level administrator and one educational researcher from its staff. These would be selected on the basis of competence to objectively engage in a project of this sort - not on the basis of being pro or con on the trimester issue.

These six individuals would meet at a central location this summer to investigate the research avenues that could be taken on this question. Both the Board of Education and the newly appointed Board of Regents should be invited to participate. However, the actual research procedures should be developed by the university members. Also at this time, various students and faculty members' opinions on both sides of the question should be explored - which may help in forming questions to be placed in a questionnaire, suggest problems that might arise, etc.

The main purpose of this symposium would be to outline and draw up an acceptable research program that could go into effect September 1965. At this time and continuing through the first trimester, the data gathering process would be used to analyze the information and to begin working in a report outlining the results and serious proposals. This information would then be given to the Board of Education and the Board of Regents for a final decision. Let the evidence be their guide.

In the past, this issue has been one of opinions. It's time for all the schools to put their heads together to look at some real evidence in the trimester-semester question. It seems to me this is a better procedure than to say without sound basis, "The system is a failure - let's change it."

'Why Shouldn't A Girl Smoke A Pipe?'

"Why shouldn't a girl smoke a pipe? After all it is very relaxing," said Lois "Schmertz" Reit today. "I started smoking cigarettes in high school. In my senior year I intermittently smoked cigars. (Tampa Nugget and later the room soaked kind)."

"When I started FSU last Sept. I decided to see what smoking a pipe was like. I bought a 98¢ corn-cob model and found that I liked it. Later I got a better pipe and started using a cherry blend tobacco," Schmertz said.

"Now I never smoke cigarettes and only occasionally smoke cigars. I feel that a pipe is much more satisfying. Besides it's less expensive and it's neater."

"Sometimes it is a nuisance on a date because it smudges lipstick, it's hard to keep lit, troublesome to clean and often the boy objects, though I cannot see why," stated Schmertz.

"Most girls, though, think it is marvelous and want to try it. As a matter of fact four of them have bought pipes of their own."

"The response so far seems to indicate that many girls on campus will start smoking cigars or pipes. It might even become a fad."

"However," she said, "men insist on making a big fuss everytime I smoke my pipe in public. It isn't that I dislike all of the extra attention, I just don't understand the reason for it."

"I will probably quit before I finish college because it is not a habit. Rather it is an enjoyment that I will most likely tire of in time."

Schull Wears British Walkers; Allen, Profumo, Lead Tankers

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

The mighty "Five" are undefeated at home this season beating favored foes like Valdosta, VMI, Miami, Florida, and Memphis. They have won their last three games, including a victory over the Georgia Bulldogs in Athens.

Tomorrow night, the Tribe looks for number 4 and their 10th win when they battle Georgia Tech in Tully Gym at 7:45 p.m. The series with Tech is in its third year with the Yellow Jackets holding a 2-0 edge over the Seminoles.

This will be the first time the series has been played in Tallahassee. In their last meeting at Atlanta, Tech squeezed by the Tribe 77-74 in overtime. FSU will have to contain six-foot-eleven, Jim Caldwell and six foot-three Ron Scharf.

Leading the Seminole attack will be six-foot-seven Gary Schull who has scored 20, 20, and 22 points in the Tribes last three outings. Schull explains his high scores this way, "It's my new British Walkers; I've worn them for good luck to all three games."

Schull is somewhat superstitious and has an affinity for James Bond movies. The team has affectionately given him the title of .007. He leads the Seminoles in points, rebounds, minutes played, shooting percentage, field goals and free throws.

Directing FSU at the top of the key, is Speedy Pete Gonzalez. Gonzalez calls the plays for the Tribe and intercepts, blocks, and steals the basketball from opponents.

Another victory minded team are the FSU swimmers headed by what is probably the South's most dangerous one, two diving punch in the persons of Neil Allen and Larry Profumo.

They spearheaded the team to a wire finish win over Florida Saturday in Gainesville.

The Tankers are now preparing for the Alabama meet this Saturday at the Union Pool. The chill wind blows and the freeze slowly sets on the water, but the swim team still practices each morning at 6:30 a.m. (Burr).

Meet Fred Hatfield Ex-Major Leaguer; Now Seminole Chief

By HANK SCHOMBER
Sports Writer

Fred Hatfield, a former major league third baseman, is beginning his second year as coach of the Seminole baseballers.

Hatfield was in professional baseball for 23 years as both a player and manager. He spent eight years in the majors, holding down the hotcorner for the Red Sox, Tigers, White Sox, Indians and Redlegs. In 1952 he had the best fielding average among American League infielders.

In his first year as a manager he was named manager of the year in the Southern League. That same year he led Little Rock to the championship. After a second place finish the following year Hatfield went to the California State League for a season, and then to Jamestown, N.Y. in the Penn. State League. When asked why he gave up pro ball for college, Hatfield replied, he felt that the future of the young ballplayer is in college ball and not in the minor league set up which new exists.

He believes that in the very near future the majors will agree not to touch a ballplayer until he has completed his education.

He foresees that each major league team will have only one or two minor league teams, and that the money now used for their farm systems will be put into a fund to aid college ball.

It is hoped that the majors will be able to work out an alternate year to the draft now used by the football clubs. Hatfield says the bonus situation will also have to be controlled.

Asked why he opposes the draft, he answered that he thinks a player will play better and show more desire if he is with a club of his own choice.

Concerning this year's team at FSU, Hatfield feels they have the chance to go all the way.

"The playing field at FSU is the finest of any I have played in and the only improvements I could ask for are a set of lights for the baseball diamond. Lights would enable the team to play before larger crowds, and would give me an added recruiting inducement."

'O Promise Me'

OP

very shortly, the FSU student body will find itself in the position of the youngest banker's daughter. All the boys in town -- campus politicians -- will be wooing her with promises of golden promises.

Like the banker's daughter, the voters will hear about plans that are very often appealing, but raise the question "are they going to be there after the honeymoon?"

Look at last year's promises -- that propositions -- should be appealing about the reliability of legislative slogans, and party platforms.

While the executive power, after a hot summer that saw John Kerrington of the Student Party take over the original University Parliament, rests with the Student Party, neither party has a commanding legislative majority.

But the lack of a legislative majority leaves other party could have conceivably carried out their programs as promised in last year's party platform. But they didn't.

Of the nine separate planks in the University platform not one was carried out. The Student Party was not much better making six original promises and only making motions at accomplishing one.

Of the 11 planks common to both platforms, one was carried out, two are in the planning stage, one has created more problems than it has remedied, and one was put into effect by the previous administration.

The one project that was carried out was the filming of a university promotional movie. Merring said that the movie resulted from no one's definite plan, but really came about because the former promotional movie was obsolete.

Merring then said that the present movie was not actually helpful in recruitment for FSU since it dealt with the university system in general rather than this university in particular.

Student Government's part in this project was a $1,000 allocation for its production.

Still in the planning stage is a $50,000 field house -- permanent circus building, and a revision of women's rules. Women's Senate has taken the lead in the revision study, by polling women's dorms of the subject.

The two other planks the lawmakers even considered were improving the transportation system on campus -- a situation that has gone from worse to worse -- and the formation of a personnel bureau -- which was done in the last weeks of the John Smith administration.

On the list of half accomplished aims could go the ambiguous phrase "better communications with the student body, administration, and legislature."

Here certain members of the student body (dorms, house, and fraternity presidents) administrators, and the state legislators receive the "SG News Letter."

The University Party at least looks like they are making an attempt at carrying out last year's platform this year. The party's platform started with a promise for more active part in student government for married students, Jim Groce, UP presidential candidate, fits that category.

Other planks were: stronger relations with the Dean of Students; Olympic trials and Pam-Am games at FSU after the pool is completed; effect Student Government program for new union (the union has its own governing body); foreign student exchange.

Co-operation with the Southern University Student Government Association (something that's been done for several years); utilize student artist series to get better entertainment.

More participation by graduate students; and more co-operation with junior college transfers.

The Student Party has thought about one of their planks, anyway, that of reappointing senators -- Senate's formed a committee. Other parts of the platform, which was written while FSU's negro students were being refused service at off campus restaurants, included a civil rights plank.

The rest of the platform called for: a better tutoring service ("Most students just don't have time for that," said Merring); more money for minor sports, good third trimester student government (whatever that is), and better university hospital facilities.

I. Cannon SP Choice G. Stearns Named VP

Jack Cannon accepted the Student Party nomination for Student Body President last night with a speech saying that he wants to initiate more student service projects as the chief executive.

The party nominated Gene Stearns as Cannon's running mate for the office of Student Body Vice-President.

Margaret Patterson's naming as the candidate for Women's Vice President was the only other major office on the Student Party slate. The party made no nominations for Men's Vice President, Traffic Court, or University Court.

SP did nominate three people to the Union Board and two to the board of publications. Rick Booth, Mary Lou Romeka and Ricky Peacock were the Union nominees. Salley Ann Huffaker and Al Galbraith were named for the BOP.

In party elections Bruce Robinson was selected party chairman and Mickey Monchick, vice chairman. Jay Tillman was given the nod as treasurer.

Paulette Oswley was chosen Recording Secretary and Katie Sweet was picked Corresponding Secretary.

Irene Deak took over the job of Publicity Chairman and Gary Roberts was elected Party Campaign Manager.

Cannon's name was placed in nomination by Carl Butler, who is a former Student Body President of FSU and current grad student. In his nominating speech Butler said that he was nominating Cannon because "...this is not a job for someone with no experience in Student Government."

In accepting the nomination Cannon said that he believed that Student Government had not been working hard enough in fulfilling its obligations to the student body.

He felt that noteworthy service projects had been planned for the students and this had led to students criticism of Student Government.

He said that he wanted to alleviate this problem and would present an explanation of this projects to the student body in the next few weeks.

Cannon closed his remarks with a statement that it is nice to be important, but that it is more important to be nice and considerate and respectful at all times.

From An Adobe Hut To Palace Two Places For Peace Corps

From an adobe hut to the Presidential Palace. A South American says to riches story?

No, just two of the stoppings places in the Peace Corps career of Vivian Davis, a student at FSU.

Miss Davis, a native of Marianna and graduate of Chipola Junior College, served two years in Ecuador. She worked with 4-F clubs (similar to 4-H) and the home demonstration agent and clubs.

Such fields as nutrition, sanitation, first aid, recreation and home improvement were incorporated in her work. "Some of the conditions were unbelievable," she said.

Miss Davis spent two months at Montana State University prior to her field work where she went through intensive training. "We had to learn the customs, culture and language of the country," she said, as well as undergo a vigorous physical program.

"There were 60 in the beginning; 40 of us served in the Peace Corps. We were sent to Puerto Rico for a week to train in community development. We were paid $100 a month, but all of our expenses had to come from this."

Wanted: Polls

Jim Groot, University Party candidate for student body president, will address the Student Senate today in a plea to increase the number of polling places.

Groot has carefully researched the situation and has obtained the use of 20 voting machines from City officials that can be used in the upcoming election.

By utilizing the machines, the elections commission will be able to tally vote totals in a matter of minutes, thus eliminating the necessity of long and costly hours at the IBM tabulation office.

With the machines, the number of polling places could be increased from the present four or five. This would give the entire student body a chance to cast a vote and thus, for the first time, fully participate in the election of their representatives.

The idea that "any student who really wants to vote will go to one of the already existing polling places" is outdated. With the vast crowds around the existing polls during class changes, the large number of students that have classes far from the present polls, and the many married and graduate students who must find time to manage a family, a job, and classes much less have time to vote, make multiplying the voting stations imperative.

While the "Flambeau" does not necessarily support Groot's plan against any others that may be proposed we do hope that Senate will think of their constituents on this problem and find a method of improving the polling procedure.

FSU Male, UF Coed Rescued In Cave

"I felt helpless—I even analyzed my philosophy of life then and there," said George Miller, an FSU student, after being lost in Warren's Cave near Gainesville with a U of F coed.

Miller, along with John Evans of FSU and Jane Sniffen of U of F entered the cave around 11 a.m., Sunday morning to do some exploring.

After successfully crossing "suicide pass" and crawling through the "squeeze", a narrow passageway about 40 feet long, Evans decided to rest. The other two continued.

"We wanted to go on. The guide wire kept going, so we kept going. When it finally came to an end, we followed it back. I guess our wires got mixed up," reported Miller.

The couple crawled for two hours before they found a rayed exit. Evans, according to Miller, ended in a room branching into three unlit passages. "I checked to find the other end of the wire but there were no exits."

"Our light sources were pretty low so we used our flashlights sparingly. There were bats flying around and we were totally exhausted," said Miller.

Evans waited for his companions for two hours outside the cave. When they failed to return, he notified the sheriff's department. A rescue party found the students asleep exhausted after five hours of searching.

"We were frightened but didn't panic," said Miller. "We kept trying to get out until we were exhausted and fell asleep. I awoke to a big light coming from the searching party."

Campus Men Disagree Over Woman's Worth

by CATHY KNUTSON
Flambeau Feature Writer

"Women are baby factories," says Moe Bloodworth, FSU basketball player.

Bloodworth just doesn't go around saying this—he was asked. He and many other male students on campus were asked their views on the question of women's place in the world today.

A question as loaded as this could not help but provoke other such questions as: Should women hold high positions in business? Why do women seek college education? Should mothers work?

Danny Rector, Tony Fernandez, and Frank Loner agree with the adage, "A woman's place is in the home." Buddy Steele feels that when a couple first marry, the wife should work to supplement the income, but "in time, kids start coming and then she should devote her whole time to being a mother."

Ken Doyle expressed that a woman's place is "as a challenging partner to the male and as a housewife, mother, and responsible parent." He also believes women come to college for one of three reasons: "to find a husband, get an education, or get away from home."

Bill Hoffman said simply, "You can't live with 'em, but you sure can't live without 'em."

Jerry Steele, a business major, stated that "A woman's place is where she wants it to be. There's no 'one' place—it's antiquated to say that a 'woman's place is in the home.'"

Gary Schull said "A woman is in the best position to serve her family and make her husband happy in the framework of the household. Marriage is a two-way, cooperative relationship—the man should provide, the woman should be provided for." "Woman's place is not what it should be—it should be 100 per cent equal to the man but subject to biological difference. Women as subordinates is an illogical holdover from a traditional past," said Charles DeFoor. Concerning what motivates coeds to come to college campuses he said, "Forty per cent come because it is expected of them, 40 per cent come hunting a husband, and 20 per cent come because there's nothing better to do."

Sam Register and Ernie Elliott agree that you can't determine a "place" for women in general.

Is it important that you know for your daily life, the message of the gospel and what was revealed to man by God? Does God exist? Can you prove it? Did he send his son (Jesus Christ of Nazareth is his son) to the earth for our salvation (if we can be sure there is any hope of eternal life)? Would you reject the truth if you knew it? Are you satisfied that your belief in beliefs are sufficient for your life? ## FSU Researcher Studying Sand

A graduate student, Stanley V. Margolis, is using an electron microscope to study surface markings of sand grains and thereby help establish their origin under the J. M. Huber Corporation Fellowship in Economic Geology newly provided to FSU. The Huber Corporation, one of the principal suppliers of kaolin to the paper industry, has a Clay Division with headquarters at Huber, Ga., near Macon.

Prof. B. F. Buie of the Department of Geology has served as consultant with this division for the past several years in exploration for new kaolin deposits.

It was through this connection that $2,180 was made available by the company for a one-year fellowship which is unrestricted as to type of research.

Margolis is the holder of the fellowship. He studied for three years at Queens College and for one at the University of Miami, getting his bachelor's degree in marine geology at Miami last June.

At Queens Margolis worked with Dr. David Kinsley, who developed a new technique by which surface markings of fine grains of sand can be magnified 7,000 times under the electron microscope, showing in sharp detail the telltale surface markings.

The markings have been used to determine the difference between wind-transported sand, such as is found in dunes, and water-transported sand, such as is found on beaches.

Margolis hoped to be able to distinguish between sand grains which have been transported by salt water and those which have been washed by fresh water.

By determining how the sand grains have been transported Margolis will have clues as to the conditions and environment of deposition of sands and also may obtain some clues with which to locate clays and other materials found in association with particular sands.

Long Sports 144-7 Record

ED ROWLEY
Sports Writer

Every afternoon a slight-built man dressed in a gar-net and gold warm-up suit, holding a stopwatch, is seen standing by the pole vault pit on FSU's track. He is Coach Mike Long, who's beginning his 11th year as varsity track coach of the Seminoles.

MIKE LONG

Long coached track for several years in Sarasota and Ft. Myers before coming to FSU in 1953. His first two years in Seminole land he served as assistant football and basketball coach. In '55 he was promoted to varsity track coach.

Last year marked Long's fifth undefeated season in 10 years. His overall record in dual competition stands at 144 wins 7 losses and no ties.

Long attended college in his home state of Minnesota, first at Macalester College and then at the University of Minnesota. He received his degree for physical education in 1937.

After graduation he began coaching at his Alma Mater where he remained for five years.

It was the war that brought Long to Florida. As he explained: "In 1943 I had a 1A draft status. My wife's parents lived in Florida. I moved here in order that she could be close to her family in the event I was drafted."

Change Highlights Senate Meet

Stars Shown Strange Things

Student Senate was treated to a small display of political intrigue yesterday afternoon.

Unprecedentedly, the Senate, which is usually a "politically motivated" University Party presidential aspirant, Groot was yielded the floor and asked the Senate to pass a bill and a resolution concerning election code.

Drive for Senate passage was hurried by the UP's Abe Lincoln, Julian Proctor, who introduced the bill to change the Senate election voting day from Tuesday to Wednesday and to install a twenty new regulations around the Senate.

Despite his position as Senate President and the most influential legislator in the UP's Abe Lincoln, Julian Proctor, who introduced the bill to change the Senate election voting day from Tuesday to Wednesday and to install a twenty new regulations around the Senate, seemed at first to be in the face of certain defeat. It was certain that he was not helped by the Senate's SP running mate Jack Canine, who reportedly pulls the strings in the Senate.

It is certain that he was his in the mass exodus of female students who reportedly left for school in Rush.

Some of his rare political skills were finally yielded, although admittedly still angry over what he considered lack of consideration for regular Senate procedure.

Dunscombe Gives Recital

The first FSU faculty recital of the year will be presented by Harry Dunscombe, cellist, Friday, in Opperman Music Hall.

Dunscombe will present the program at 8:15 p.m. with Roy Johnson of the music faculty as pianist. Owen Sellers, assistant dean of the School of Music, will assist in one number and musicians from the University Symphony will open his program with Zoltan Kodaly arrangements of two organ chorale preludes by Bach. Dunscombe performed one of Kodaly's works in Athens last summer and earned the following comment by Athens critics: "The American cellist was exactly what was needed, and amazed his audiences with his incredible technique, which attained the quality of acrobatics in the finale."

Also in the first half of the program will be one of Beethoven's most popular sonatas, the Sonata in A major for piano and violin.

Another cellist on the FSU faculty, Owen Sellers, will join Dunscombe for five duets by Leslie Bassett, contemporary composer now on the University of Michigan faculty.

Dunscombe, during April and May of 1964, toured in Greece, presenting concerts in Athens and other major cities.

Dunscombe studied at the Conservatoire Royal in Brussels with Maurice Dambols (Fulbright Award) and received a premier prix for violin-cello in 1953. In April of 1960 he attended a master class under Pablo Casals at the University of California, and was chosen along with four others to play in two recitals at the end of the month. He joined the FSU faculty in 1963.

TWO 100-YEAR OLD CELLOS

...will be used by Harry Dunscombe, (left), and Owen Sellers in a School of Music faculty recital at 8:15 p.m. Friday, in Opperman Music Hall. Both the instruments are by Alessandro Gagliano and were made in Naples. Dunscombe's cello, which he owns, was made in 1722.

Student Senate yesterday passed a bill and agreed to study a resolution designed to bring about sweeping changes in FSU student elections.

The package of legislation was presented to the Senate by a task force of University Party candidates and office holders including Jim Groot, UP candidate for Student Body President, and Julian Proctor, unofficial UP Senate floor leader.

Proctor introduced the bill, which would change election day from Tuesday to Wednesday and run-off from Thursday to Friday, commenting that he felt this would allow a larger number of students to vote. Senate passed the bill despite strong opposition from several Senators led by Senator Gene Stearns.

One of Stearns major objections to the bill was that it bypassed the work of the committee established by an earlier resolution. Stearns said that the Senate was ignoring the study done by the previous committee and proceeding against the advice of some of its own members.

When the resolution was brought to the floor it was also the subject of a heavy floor fight and was amended twice, changing substantially the effect of the measure. The original resolution called for the establishment of a list of polling places and the use of voting machines for the 1965 student body elections.

By means of the two amendments Senate deleted all but the enacting clause of the resolution and changed it to direct the elections and appointments to investigate the use and location of voting machines on the campus.

It was Stearns move to send the resolution to the elections and appointments committee. After Proctor had introduced both the resolution and bill he then yielded the floor to Groot for an explanation of the legislation.

Groot strongly recommended passage of the bill citing the fact that in two recent student body elections less than 30% of the student body voted.

Asking why so few students voted on the referendum last Friday Groot noted that only three polling places were set up on campus for that tally.

"We cannot expect 12,000 students to move through three polls in less than three hours" said Groot.

According to information Groot quoted from Mrs. Wilma Sullivan, Leon County Supervisor of Registration, there should be one polling place for each 300 students and each poll should be kept open for 12 hours.

...questions voting changes.

Groot also encouraged the passage of a resolution recommending the establishment of a list of 20 polling places on campus.

This would have replaced the present list of 6 polling places if the resolution had been made into a bill amending the presently existing statutes.

If the original had become an amendment to the election statutes, the combined effect of the bill (which was passed) and resolution would be to change election day from Tuesday to Wednesday 2) change run-off day from Thursday to Friday 3) allow voting from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

4) prevent any returns from being counted until after all polls had been closed, 5) provide for stamping voters' hands with 24 hour indelible ink to prevent multiple voting.

6) Establish use of voting machines and 7) provide for a list of 20 polling places including one in each dormitory, several at other strategic locations around campus, and Alumni Village.

He continued his education with the study of French at Sorbonne University in Paris.

DeWan has taught mathematics on the secondary level in Sierra Leone, and is now stationed in West Africa.

One Day

The opponents are chosen, the battle lines are drawn, and active combat will start in a matter of days. Like the tournaments of old, one of the aggressors will be jarred from his white charger into defeat, the other will ride into the golden sunset, victorious.

The upcoming student government election will not possess quite so much romance, but it does promise to be a good fight.

We would ask two things, one of the candidates, one of the student body.

We would ask the candidates to use every available means, within the election commission's statutes, to represent themselves to the student body. Organization and advance planning now will insure smooth, above-the-board campaigns that will not only be beneficial to the candidates but, more importantly, to the voters.

And we would ask the student body to read, listen, inquire, and discuss until each person is satisfied they have determined the better candidate.

Considering the factors involved, especially in campus elections, we hesitate to be too idealistic in our suggestions. But the course of student affairs for one year will depend on one day of voting.

Let's take that day seriously!

'Things Future'

In the January issue of "Playboy" magazine we read an article by Ray Bradbury entitled "Remembrance of Things Future." Although some may object to the publication, we feel this particular essay conveys ideas that are definitely food for thought for today's college student.

Mr. Bradbury lists three major considerations of man in the next century, the most interesting being the search for a common enemy. The enemy suggested by the essay was outer space and the frontier it will present to man.

This is a concept we have thought about ever since our indoctrination to science fiction stories many years ago. So space is there, why should man spend millions of dollars and risk human lives to get away from gravity's pull.

We can see two or three general reasons which in turn suggest many others, until the justification for space travel becomes a very real thing.

Man's need for an enemy other than his fellow man on which to vent his combative instincts might be found in the cold, unyielding vacuum of the universe. The migrations of peoples to new, inhabitable worlds could serve to unburden the already overcrowded earth. The possibilities of space travel seem almost as endless as the infinity of space.

Perhaps one would say we are having a touch of science fiction fever, but, on the other hand, perhaps in the next few years we'll be involved, as will our fellow students, in the war against "space."

Pacifism Becoming Virtue Of Society

The Oxford dictionary defines pacifism as "the doctrine that the abolition of war is both desirable and the possible." Few people would think it is not desirable. However, war is the result of man's decision and is not something which happens outside man's control, therefore it is never inevitable.

The concept of democracy implies that all citizens not only have a right to influence a decision, such as whether to go to war, but also decision. A decision as to whether to take part in war must be a personal one as well as one taken at the level. Indeed we have no right to expect the best government to decide not to go to war unless each of us as individuals has made a similar decision.

A Christian can find guidance in the gospels. The whole circumstance within which Christ was born, his own refusal to be conscripted as a leader of a national revolt, his method of dealing with evil, culminating in the cross, make plain that his purpose cannot be achieved by violence and that war is contrary to his method and spirit.

The non-Christian can examine the evidence of history which shows clearly that modern war is so totally destructive that it can't solve any of the world's problems. But preparation for war does not lead to peace but to the tensions which make war more likely. He can recognize the truth of Gen. McArthur's statement to Congress that, "I have known war as few men now know it... its very destructiveness on both friend and foe has made it useless as a means of international disputes."

Those who want to maintain peace should both emphasize and exercise the right of the individual to choose the best and, if possible, to refuse the bad. If someone renounces war as a principle and merely out of expediency, he is setting a dictatorship and is helping to create the free society.

Pacifism begins with renunciation, and goes on to the attempt to remove the causes of war.

FLAMBEAU FORUM

Sees Lack Of Communication

Why doesn't the individual who has a personal investment in another eventually ask that individual how he or she regards that investment?

In my social and personal experiences on this campus, I have repeatedly found that there is a propensity in one or both individuals who are emotionally involved, to never directly and openly ask one another how he or she considers the relation. Of course, one would expect such an inquiry to occur after a certain point has been reached when one or the other individual involved "deserves" to know. I have seen mature young adults, maturing young adults, graduate students, seniors, ex-servicemen go for weeks in a quandary because they didn't really know to what degree their girlfriend or boyfriend had involved herself or himself.

In response to this state of affairs some, I think, would say that part of the pleasure of going together (mentally and sexually) others might say "what's the hurry" (deferred gratification). Actually I think these pronouncements can be freely interpreted as "I am afraid to ask because I might not hear what I would like to hear." What is this - a product of campus egoism?

Probably, reasons for this hesitancy to inquire do not lie at the social level, if one supposes that a large percentage of college people feel insecure (if you don't prefer such a strong word, you may use unsure) due to fear of social inability, personal failure, unfulfillment, parents etc., then possibly this "better - to - live - in - doubt - than - take - a - chance - and - ask" attitude is a symptom of this.

One doesn't enter a relationship expecting mental torment, so again, why allow yourself to undergo one pang after another? You are on the edge of your ego-see, testing hypotheses like: "Let's see, if she (or he) does so and so, I can feel pretty safe in assuming she (or he) feels such and such a way about me." Do yourself a favor and find out! Most people, when somewhat pressed for such a personal question, tell the truth, or at least make the truth available through deduction.

Lastly, the relation between two people is very complex, requiring many hours for a good psychologist to come to terms with, but at least consideration of this uncomfortable state, or perhaps relief from it, is possible if you ask yourself why you are not asking.

Obviously, this article is not intended for those people who already know their personal position, who do not really care to know, or those who are primarily interested in perpetuating the state of uncertainty for their own gains. It is for those who seek resolution of frustration arising from interpersonal relationships.

Sans Shoes

A couple of nights ago, I was watching television in the presence of one of the women's dormitories. I happened to take off my shoes as it was late at night and my bare feet passed within a matter of minutes of the feet of a male student who was behind my back. Needless to say it was a dormitory, one of the last remnants of Puritanism was still being found on our campus today.

The voice said, "I'd like to take shoes off too, but I wouldn't dare." Why wouldn't she dare? Wouldn't she have caved in? Wouldn't she have come down with a plague? Anyway, it seemed as if she had committed some horrible sin by removing my shoes.

Still recovering from my disbelieve the voice went on to say, "After all this is our parlor." It seems to me a parlor should be a place for moderate relaxation. If knowledge for College, we shouldn't take off our shoes, I would say that discrediting should be something to know for 1984 or something similar. I know what some of these student freedom organizations are striving for. This is a very nice example, but it sure hits home. I don't propose to write a column on this, but let's give Student Senate a little more freedom in which to revise some of the ancient ideas which prevail at FSU.

the world from which war has been eliminated, and to find in nonviolent resistance the alternative and better method of dealing with evil in every disguise.

The more the conscience of mankind is repelled by the weapons which modern war must use, the more the conscientious objector, in asserting his right to freedom of conscience, is voicing the real conscience of the community. There is, therefore, no need to apologize for the position of the C.O., or to regard him as someone who is seeking special privileges. He is standing for the inalienable right of everybody to refuse to do what he believes to be wrong. He is representing the intention of the community at its highest as he stands for fundamental truth and righteousness.

As a man claims the right to break a bad law he renders to God that which is God's. As he is ready to suffer punishment, he renders to that which is his. As he renounces war he is asserting the highest form of national service he can and, as such, should be supported by all those who believe in democracy, value freedom, and seek to preserve those moral values without which life is meaningless.

TRIBE WRECKS GA. TECH

Melodie Betts
Sports Editor

The Seminole Cagers remained undefeated at home by smashing Georgia Tech 72-65 last night in Tully Gym. It was a battle of who could foul the least and keep from traveling. The Seminoles were sure-footed and scored high.

The final seconds of the game seemed to take 10 minutes as the officials hands were in the air more than the ball and four Yellow Jackets fouled out in the last seven minutes of play.

Leading the scorers was R. D. Craddock of the Yellow Jackets as he compiled 29 points for the evening. Ron Malmen was high man for the Seminoles with 23 shooting 1,000 from the free throw line (9-9) and completing 7 for 9 field goals. Malmen had been in the lifeline with the 24 hour flu and wasn't expected to play to his full capacity. The Tribe held Tech to seven completions on 19 attempts the first half and allowed only half of their goals the second period.

The first half got off to a nip and tuck battle with FSU leading the way. Bobby Lovell put the Tribe in the lead with a jump shot following a foul shot by Tech's Jim Caldwell. Tech used a strong half court press and then settled back into a solid zone late in the first period. Caldwell hit for Tech, then Jerry Shirley, Ron Malmen, and Lovell sank baskets from alternating sides of the court to give the Tribe a 10-5 lead after five minutes of play. Malmen one-handed a 30 footer and Gary Schull came to life with a lay-up. R. D. Craddock, a yellow jacket, scored, followed by teammate Pres Judy's foul shot. Pete Gonzalez hit from the top of the key to boost the Seminole lead to 16-8.

Craddock and Charles Kenny for Tech thinned the lead with three shots. Schull sank a jump shot, Lovell scored again and FSU led 20-14.

Georgia began to battle back. Craddock, Caldwell, and Kenny of Tech, traded points with Gonzalez and Malmen. Yellow Jacket John Arnold hit and the scoreboard read 28-26. Caldwell sank two free throws and Tech tied the score at 28 all with 5:40 remaining in the first half. A technical foul against FSU, put Georgia ahead by one and the seasaw battle continued. Schull and Tech's Kenny scored. The Tribe was behind 30-31 with three minutes remaining.

The Seminole Five then chose to bring the ball to mid-court and pass it for three minutes to bring Tech out of their zone. The stubborn Yellow Jackets held firm. With 10 seconds left, FSU went for a shot, but time ran out.

The first five minutes of the second period saw the lead bounce back and forth like a tennis match. Malmen, Kenny (Tech), Malmen, Craddock (Tech), Lovell, Kenny, and Shirley traded consecutive shots. Schull laid in and followed with two free throws. FSU pulled out in front 42-37.

Malmen backboarded one in, Craddock scored for Tech. Shirley sank another and Georgia's Scharf connected. Shirley tipped one up and the score read 47-39, FSU.

The Tribe never lost its lead building it up to 10 points with 4:37 remaining at 62-52.

Tech's top men slowly exited with five personals, the first being by Scharf. Caldwell fouled Malmen for his fifth. Kenny tripped Gonzalez and left the game. Arnold exited when he fouled Schull.

Tech made a valiant come-from-behind effort in the final moments spearheaded by Craddock. FSU's defense held staunch and the game ended 72-65.

(Editor's note: This is the second of a weekly series "Meet the Team." This week the page is devoted to the basketball team headed by Coach Bud Kennedy.)

The basketball mighty "Five" is composed of a number of men with varying likes and dislikes, but they all have one thing in common, they can stand in the back of a room and see everything going on in the front. Pete Gonzalez stands 6'10" and is the "trash collector" of the team. A guard, Gonzalez is a crowd favorite.

standing cager of all times. Malmen entered FSU after discharge from the Air Force, where he was discovered at near-by Eglin AFB. Malmen scored 18 points against Memphis last Saturday night boasting his total to 164.

He has scored 120 points for the Tribe, with a .720 field goal percentage. Helping Gonzalez maneuver the ball down court is 6-2 Ken Leakey. Chosen All-City player back home in Fort Wayne, Indiana, Leakey comes through in the tight situations for the Seminoles having an .889 goal percentage.

experienced player on the team. He struck with mononucleosis in October and has seen limited service this season. However, he managed to compile 102 points, the highest for the team this year. Lovell is hitting 818 from the floor. Bill Peacock, 6-4 forward, all-State center, three years ago. Peacock has managed 101 points this season with a .636 percentage on the floor. Peacock adjusted to disciplined shuffle defense and reacts quite freely on the jumpers.

He's quick, agile, and a home game competitor. The big number "Four" thrills the crowd with its footers and close-in "Dunk" shots.

The tallest man on the team this season (by half an inch) is 6-7 1/2 Bill Phillips, center for the Tribe. Phillips is a junior this year and takes over the center job for Jerry Shirley, who has been battling with mononucleosis. Jerry Shirley, 6-5 1/2 center, most

Freshmen Drop Third Straight;

FSU Freshman basketball team threw a scare into the Baby Yellow Jackets from Georgia Tech tonight, before bowing 80-70.

The Baby Seminoles, led by Jim Lyttle, turned on some offensive fireworks in the first half that had them leading by seven at one point, Tech battled back however, and took a one point advantage to the locker room.

The second half was a reversal of the first. The Cagers came out looking like a new team. They slowly pulled away and were all but out of sight by the final buzzer. In the second half Tech bottled up the top of the key and plugged up the Seminole's shuttle offense. Bad passes and erratic play added to the boards, out rebounding FSU almost two to one in the last half.

Lyttle led the Seminole's scoring with 26 points, 21 of these coming in the first half. Russ Foy followed with 19 and Darrel Stewart had 15.

Bob Brisendine was high man for Tech with 17. Phil Wagner and Pete Thorne were right behind with 16.

Wagner led the Jacket's second half surge pouring in 14 points.

FSU Gator Bowl Win Will Be Rebroadcast

FSU will get to relive the climax of its greatest football season ever Tuesday night over WFSU-TV, channel 11, when the Gator Bowl will be rebroadcast at 7:30 p.m.

The 30-19 slaughter of Oklahoma by the Seminoles will be hosted by Ray Weissinger, newsmen for WCTV. He will be backed-up by assistant head coach Don James.

Four of the game stars, Fred Blumenthal, Steve Tensi, Jim Massey and Jack Shihohiser, will be on hand to give the players' view of action. Duane Francischi, program director of WFSU-TV, said the two and a-half hour long program will include all the Gator Bowl except the half-time show.

The Bowl came as the finale of an 8-1 season that started with a win over Miami and finished with the Seminoles' first win (6-7) over the University of Florida.

In the Gator Bowl win the nation got a look at the men who have made the team go all season, breaking almost all the major passing records at FSU -- Blumenthal and Tensi.

At Jacksonville bowl game Jan. 2 the two combined again to break still more records. Tensi threw for 303 yards and five touchdowns. Blumenthal caught four of the tally tosses.

The Tribe also racked up the highest score in Gator Bowl history despite the loss of Les Murdoch, Tribe place kicker. The loss left the Garnet and Gold with no field goal kicker extra-point man, or kick-off artist.

'FSU Forum' Sunday

'FSU Forum', the Student Government's new program, will be broadcast at 10 p.m. Sunday night over WFSU.

The program, consisting of John Mertling, Student Government president, Erik Collins, 'Forum' editor, and two guests will discuss issues of current campus interest each week on the half hour program.

The program is hosted by Ray Davis and Brian Kilgallen of WNTN news.

the Spaniards say, "gypsy-animal four sides". This directly affects his music, for to play flamenco, it seems to be almost essential that one have some gypsy in his blood. A guitarist from the age of eight, at which time his mother was his first teacher, Montoya was soon playing in the "cafes cantantes," in the heyday of flamenco singing and dancing.

Montoya's real training, came in the school of experience. When the late Antonio Mercé - a Argentine - came to Madrid looking for a guitarist, he chose Montoya. He left Spain for the first time to tour Europe with her for three years. This was the first of many concert tours which took him all over the world.

In 1945 he decided to take an unheard of step - appearing as a solo artist in a full evening's program of flamenco music, something that had never been done, because it was thought that a flamenco guitarist could not sustain himself for an entire evening without the help of singers or dancers.

'Hand in Hand' Seminole Film

The "Little Seminole Matinee Film Series" will present the British film, "Hand in Hand" tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in Moore Auditorium. This film is a drama of great warmth with a lesson in human understanding taught by the friendship of a little Catholic boy and a little Jewish girl. The message of brotherhood transcending religious prejudices of this film has won it widespread praise.

Besides an Edinburgh Film Festival Award, it has also won the Parvati Magazine Family Medal Award.

"So lovely, so charmingly developed that it becomes irresistible," said one and impressive. One of the noteworthy films of the year; A charming and poignant film," are some of the comments that this motion picture received.

Senator Stearns Replies To Bill

Senator Gene Stearns today, gave the "Florida Flambeau" this statement concerning Senate Bill 10, which Senate passed Wednesday.

"Senate Bill XVI passed Wednesday by Student Senate, amended the elections code by changing the voting date from Tuesday to Wednesday.

"Strangely enough, this bill will have no effect on any elections. This is because it places the statutes in direct conflict with the Student Body Constitution which, of course, take precedence.

"That document states that the primary election must be held on the second Tuesday in February. The amendment process for the Constitution involves not only a two-thirds vote of the Senate, but a referendum of the entire Student Body.

"So the statutes now read that the election shall be held on the second Wednesday in February. In this case, the change Senate made yesterday is worthless.

"In the future, the Senate and the student body should be wary of apparently simple solutions to campus problems.

"In no instance, should political pressure force the immediate adoption of legislation without consideration by the Senate. Due consideration certainly not given to major legislation during a two hour Senate meeting," concluded Stearns.

T. G. I. F.

We have uncovered another devious inroad into logical thinking on the FSU campus.

It seems that the idea of freedom of choice has deeply imbedded itself into the minds of many people here at school. In fact it appears this idea is so dominant that if you don't exercise this freedom, brother, you're a kook.

We attempted to buy a pack of cigarettes the other evening in the University Bookstore. The young lady operating the cash register politely asked us if we preferred the pack of the "crush proof" box, as she packaged something for another customer.

We threw back something like, "It doesn't matter, just grab one." Little did we know the import this innocent statement carried.

After a minute or so we received a sweet look as she asked, "Have you made up your mind yet?"

"It really doesn't matter, either one is fine," we replied.

"Now wait a minute, you've got a choice here."

"Ma'am I can get them out of the pack as easily as I can get them out of the box."

"The cigarettes are longer in the pack than they are in the box."

"You know, I'd never realized that before. How does that reduce my chances of getting cancer?"

At this point the girl manning the other cash register entered the fray.

"Don't even give him those cigarettes, give him another brand so he won't have to make up his mind," she suggested, with great insight into the problem.

This did it. We bought our cigarettes from a machine in Morrison's Cafeteria. It didn't ask any questions.

We attended the Student Senate meeting last Wednesday.

We urge every student to attend whenever possible. What an experience!

J.B.

In reference to the article "Woman's Worth" appearing in the Flambeau on January 20, 1965, concerning what motivates coeds to come to college campuses, "I would like to disagree with Mr. Doyle and Mr. DeFoor who said that one major reason girls come to college is to find a husband. . . ### Adopt Italian Girl

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity recently became the proud fathers of a 15-year-old girl, Angela Arena, from Italy.

Slender, dark-eyed Angela was adopted by the fraternity through the foster Parent Plan, Inc., New York.

The adoption is strictly personal (not legal). Lambda Chi pays $15 per month toward her support. Angela receives $8 a month and the remainder is used to obtain clothing, counseling, food, and medical care for herself and members of her family.

Concerning the adoption, Wally Schaeffer, corresponding secretary of the fraternity, says, "The fraternity brothers feel very strongly about it. We plan to keep up the project even beyond the one year minimum."

The Lambda Chi's are expecting a letter from their "child" soon. They will receive her original copy and a translation from PLAN. Angela also receives a translation of the fraternity's letters with the original.

John Coatta, football defensive coach, has resigned to take a similar position at University of Wisconsin, announced Bill Peterson, Neil Schmidt, a former Texas A&M assistant, was named to replace Coatta.

"We have to lose John," Peterson commented, "He has done a real fine job for us."

Coatta has coached at FSU since 1959. He worked with the defensive ends and the linebackers. He will be returning to his alma mater and his wife's home. Peterson added "It's one of those things and all we can do is wish him well."

Schmidt comes to FSU after several years of coaching under Hank Foidberg at Texas A&M and Wichita. Peterson is "Very Impressed" with the former Purdue University star's ability on the field and as a recruiter which he termed "most important."

Peterson also stated that spring practice is slated to start Feb. 27 with the Garnet and Gold game scheduled for Mar. 27.

LEX WOOD

The Seminoles main strength rests in the unbeatable diving skills of Neal Allen and Larry Frohmo. Dick Abbott leads the Tankers in the free-style events. In close meets, Abbott usually swims anchor in the relays. Mike Blouin and Gene Dayton swim the distant events and have won past events against previous opponents. Doug Kruger and Richard Acosta specialize in the breast stroke and back stroke, respectively. Reserved strength and determination will mark the difference in tomorrow's meet.

'Raquet Squad' Opens Season

Player-coach Lex Wood and FSU's 1965 tennis team open their Spring Sports dual competition against Mississippi State tomorrow at Pensacola.

The team will compete for the Bill Crow Memorial Trophy in Pensacola's new Tennis Center. The award is named in honor of the "State student manager, a resident of Pensacola, who recently died of leukemia. The match marks the varsity debut of Paul DeZeeuw, Wood's South African countryman and a rangy 6-2 sophomore who will play number two behind Lex.

The remaining four positions are held by Paul Bennett, team captain, Steve Gise, junior, and Stewart Brunner and Terry Poore, two transfers. Miss. State Coach Tom Sawyer has put together a team of international stars that includes eight foreign junior champions. Graham Primrose, last year's SEC singles champ, lost his number one position to fellow Australian Bob Brien. He once took a set from Roy Emerson and narrowly missed making the Aussie Davis Cup team.

In addition, Sawyer's aggregation includes former national champions of Argentina, Chile, Venezuela, and Colombia.

Wood, now a senior and FSU's finest ever, was only recently named Seminole coach. He will take a squad of eight, including freshmen twins Cliff and Clint Murphy along with Russ Langstroth. Other varsity players will be Steve Burt and Randy Cameron.

Secretary of State Tom Adams, seated by Mrs. Blackwell, greeted the several hundred diners attending the banquet.

Yearbook Dedicated To Dr. Blackwell

FSU has climbed to new heights in many fields over the past few years. A great boost to these achievements has been the exceptional, selfless spirit between the FSU student body, faculty, and administration," said Susan Fincher, Editor of the "Tally-Ho" in dedicating the yearbook to President Gordon Blackwell Friday night.

The year has contributed greatly to the spirit. He has given untiringly to his talents to spur on accomplishments, generate interest, and create campus activities.

He has created an atmosphere in which the voice of the student is not only heard but is listened to. He has helped to form a mutual admiration and respect between faculty, administration, and student body, recognizing that this atmosphere is the heart of our American society to which we dedicate the 1965 Tally-Ho to our departing President Gordon W. Blackwell," concluded Fincher at the farewell dinner for Blackwell and his family Friday night, attended by the student staff and student leaders of FSU.

Blackwell leaves next Monday for Tallahassee to be the president of his alma mater, Furman University, after completing nearly 4 1/2 years as the chief executive of FSU.

Milton W. Carothers, who was acting president for five months before Blackwell joined the faculty in 1960 and now professor of higher education, presided as master of ceremonies.

"No, I didn't know that the bill was in violation of the Constitution," Jim Groot, UP candidate for student body president, said today.

The bill in question was Student Senate Bill XVI concerning revision in the Election Code. Principally the bill would have changed the election from Tuesday, Feb. 9, to Wednesday, Feb. 10. Groot, as a guest of Senate, was the principal supporter of the bill.

Though Senate passed the bill, it was later discovered by Sen. Gene Stearns that the bill was in conflict with the constitution.

Senate haggled over the bill for the majority of their meeting Wednesday, waived the regular rules of procedure, and then passed the bill under the false impression that what they were doing was completely constitutional.

Groot said that when he and Sen. Julian Proctor, who introduced the bill, were preparing the legislation they did not even think about the constitutionality of the measure. "I suppose that the people working on the bill were just so concerned with doing what they thought was the right thing that they didn't concentrate on its constitutionality," said Groot.

Besides it seemed so unusual that the elections regulations would be considered anywhere but in the States," continued Groot.

Groot said that he still thinks the content of the bill is good even if it is of questionable constitutionality.

When asked why he, a candidate for the major political office on campus, would personally address Senate on election procedures Groot said that it was because he was very concerned with the election procedures used in student elections.

He said that he had been concerned since last trimester about the ease to "fix" elections and the poor turnout at the elections.

Groot continued by saying that he had presented his ideas earlier to the Elections Commission and they had not done anything about the situation.

He said that his address to Senate had not been politically motivated, but only came from a deep concern about improving the elections code.

Groot was then asked why he just didn't give his information to Sen. Proctor and let him present the material instead of having a political candidate address Senate on election procedures.

Groot said that he had the facts from his own research, and that he had backed various senators (including Joyce Killian, vice-president) if they thought it would be in his taste to address Senate and had been told it would be acceptable.

Miss Killian is also a member of University Party.

Groot said that he was sorry that the bill had not been thoroughly enough researched, but that he also felt that he shouldn't have had to be the one to suggest the election revisions in the first place.

He felt that the Senators should have taken the trouble to make these changes before.

"Nobody else took the trouble. They're the ones elected. They've got the committees. Why weren't they concerned enough to do something about this before now?"

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today I begin my eleventh year of writing this column in your campus newspaper.

I wasn't sure I'd be coming back this year. After a decade of doing this column, I had retreated to my country seat, tired but happy, to enjoy a nice long rest. But last night as I sat on my veranda, peaceful and serene, humming the largo from A Long Day's Night and warming my chin, a stranger suddenly appeared before me.

He was a tall, clean-shaven man, crinkly-eyed and crooked-nosed, stalwart and virile. "How do you do," he said. "My name is Stalwart Virile and I am with the Persona Stainless Steel Razor Blade people."

"Enchanted," I said. "Take off your homburg and sit down." I slapped my hands sharply. "Norman!" I called. "Another chair for Mr. Virile!"

Obtidently my dog trotted away and returned directly with a faithful chair of Malaysian rattan. He is the smartest dog in our block.

"I suppose you're wondering why I am here," said Mr. Virile, smiling himself.

"Well, sir," I replied, my eyes twinkling roguishly. "I'll wager you didn't come to read my meter."

You can imagine how we laughed at that one!

"That's a doozy!" cried Mr. Virile, finally catching his breath. I must remember to tell it to Alice when I get home."

"Your wife," I said.

"My father," he said.

"Oh," I said.

"But enough of wit and humor," he said. "Let us get down to business. How would you like to write a campus column for Persona Stainless Steel Razor Blades?"

"For money," I said.

"Yes," he said.

"My hand, sir," I said and clasped his. Warmly he returned my pressure, and soft smiles played upon our lips, and our eyes were moist with the tears of tears, and we were silent, not trusting ourselves to speak.

"What will you write about in your campus column?" asked Mr. Virile when he was able to talk again.

I will take up the burning issues that vex the American undergraduate!" I cried, bounding to my feet. "I will explore, with all fear or favor, such explosive questions as: Are romances satisfactory? and Should pretenses be given a salvia test? and should capital punishment for pledges be abolished? and Can a student of 19 find happiness with an economics professor of 80?"

And will you also say a pleasant word from time to time about Persona Stainless Steel Razor Blades?" asked Mr. Virile.

"Sir," I said simply, "what other kind of word except pleasant could I possibly say about Persona Blades, which give me more sure slaves than Beep-Beep on any other blade I might name?"

"Another of my products is Burma Shave," said Mr. Virile, "and you find it in your heart to mention Burma Shave occasionally."

"But of course!" I declared. "For is not Burma Shave the stinker-wiltingest father in the land?"

"Yes," he admitted.

And then he shook my hand again and smiled bravely and was gone—a tall silhouette moving eerily into the setting sun.

"Farewell, good totalitarian!" I cried after him. "Aloha!"

And turned with a will to my typewriter.

Theater Production

'Pied Piper Of Hamelin' Given Saturday

by MAX COURTNEY

The FSU production of the "Pied Piper of Hamelin" will be given for the general public and students Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Conradi theater.

The script is from a new play which was recently presented at the Pittsburgh Playhouse and which has been adapted for production here at FSU. According to the director Kent Wood it is a very good children's script. There will be eight performances, six for elementary school children, one for the Tallahassee Junior League and one public performance.

Wood noted that this play is based on the standard Pied Piper story. The town is plagued by rats and the Piper takes the rats away but he gets no pay.

So he then takes the children away and promises to return them when happiness comes to the town.

"The best part of this play is that money doesn't buy happiness," Wood stated. The play is filled with music and dancing and lively action. The settings in the play are not complete, i.e., for a home there is only a roof. The costumes were done by the FSU costumer in 14th century design.

The cast includes, Kurt Becl Blatz; Bertram Von Braun, Alex Kurjack; Bernice Von Braun, Laila Holiday; Pied Piper, Don Cunningham; Duffmeister, Rich Cogburn; Mayor Von Braun, Andy Paulson; Dame Duffmeister, Lyndie Jane Meyer; Also Doctor Duffmeister, Brenda Wright; Doretha Duffmeister, Judith Herr; Farmer Schmidt, Sam Weis.

In addition to Kent Wood, director, other staff members include, Martha Meyer, assistant director; Charles Reimer, set designer; Harlan Shaw, costumer; Jerold Gray, sound.

THE PIED PIPER

... will again chase the mice and lead the children when the University Theatre presents the children's classic on stage.

FSU Battles Auburn

The FSU "Five" meet Auburn here tonight at 7:45 p.m. for the second clash between these two teams this season. The Seminoles dropped the first match 92-78 in Alabama, the Tribe's first road game and defeat of the year.

"The Auburn Tigers have one of the finest front lines in the league," believes Coach Bud Kennedy. "Our boys will have to play their finest game tonight to come out on top." The Tigers topcats are Lee DeFore, 6-6, who scored 28 points against the Tribe last December, "Freddie" Guy, 6-7, and Joe Newton 6-8. Auburn will most likely choose to defend the Seminoles from a zone, which is the best defense against the FSU shuffle.

Ironically, the Tigers also use the shuffle offense, and the over-all principle of both the Auburn and FSU shuffles is basically alike. "I won't even try to go into the distinct differences in the two," said Kennedy. "They used an option up there that we had never seen before and it got them six layups before we could adjust."

PETE GONZALEZ

... who suffered a knee injury in the Georgia Tech game last week is expected to be in good shape for tonight's clash with Auburn. Gonzalez intercepted or stole five balls from the Yellow Jackets and mustered nine points for the evening, playing the final minutes with his bruised knee.

ROTC Rifles Win

Allen, Blouin Head Tankers Victory Over 'Bama 69-26

By ED ROWLEY

The Seminole Swimmers glided past Alabama, 69-26 last Saturday for their fourth victory of the season. Blm Stult's squad remained undefeated by downing the Crimson Tide, who haven't beaten the Tankers in four years of dual competition. Despite the fact that neither Larry Profumo nor Dick Abbott did not compete, the squad captured eight wins and seven second place finishes to Alabama's three wins and two places.

Neal Allen and Bob Cruickshank finished one-two in the diving and Profumo displayed his skill with an impressive exhibition. Freestyler Mike Blouin anchored the 400-yd. relay giving FSU its first victory of the day.

Tom Allen of Alabama and Bob

Durocher, FSU, set pool records in the 200-yd. freestyle and 200-yd. butterfly, respectively. Alabama's ace Doug Long tied the pool record for the 100-yd. freestyle with a time of 52 seconds flat.

Sophomore Tom Lloyd, FSU, won an impressive victory over the Tide's Long in the 50-yd. freestyle in 0:23.3.

Other winners for the Tribe were Tut Heisler, 200-yd. individual medley, Jim Mulloy, 200-yd. backstroke, and Jack Barncastle, 200-yd. breaststroke.

This weekend could prove to be the turning point in the Seminole season. In a double header with North Carolina colleges, the Tankers will be under the most severe pressure they have felt all season.

Ford Motor Company is:

variety

Robert Anderson
A.P., Vice of the Ford
M.B.A., Stanford University

It's been written that "variety is the spice of life." But at many companies it's difficult to obtain a wide range of work experiences. A college graduate can join a company, get locked into one type of activity and stay there and stay there and stay there. That's not the way we do it at Ford Motor Company where our young men may work in several areas to develop their full capabilities. We believe that a thorough grounding in many phases of our business is one of the best ways to cultivate management talent. An example: Bob Anderson of our finance staff.

Since Bob came to us in July, 1963, he's been actively involved in five important areas of the Company. As a member of our finance staff, he has reviewed budget and cost programs of a division marketing cars, another manufacturing tractors and subsidiaries engaged in automobile financing and insurance. In addition, Bob was selected to assist in the 1964 national labor-management negotiations. His present assignment is as a staff budget analyst for product engineering and styling. Because of experiences like these, Bob will be able to channel his career toward the activity that interests him most.

As a large automobile concern, Ford Motor Company needs people who can handle a wide variety of assignments. Our college graduates come to us with all types of educational backgrounds. And many of them move into management positions unrelated to their degrees. If a fast-moving career appeals to you, see our representative when he visits your campus. He may have the spice for your future.

Every good yearbook should fulfill the five yearbook functions or purposes according to ACP's policy of judging. These functions are a record of the year, memory book of students, public relations medium, student project, and reference book.

The yearbook is the only permanent record of the year's history in many schools, and as such it should "be as complete as possible in coverage of facts and events," said ACP judges.

ACP believes that the yearbook's first purpose is to serve as memory book of students. "The popularity of every yearbook, regardless of quality is in direct proportion to the number and quality of the pictures of students in the book," they said. As a public relations medium, the yearbook acquaints readers in the community with the school and its activities.

"The yearbook should give students opportunities for expression of talent and exercise of important responsibilities," said the judges. "As a reference book, the book's plan and design should make facts, faces and information easy to find," said ACP officials of the fifth function.

Judging is based in nine divisions each of which is rated from poor to superior. The first division is concerned with yearbook design which emphasizes the plan of the book, special pages, design details, type, plan.

The other eight sections—administration and faculty, academic content, seniors or alumni, underclasses, organizations and activities, athletics, student life, special matter—judge photo content, editorial content, content display, and content treatment.

"The Tally-Ho is again an excellent yearbook," said the ACP judges.

Shaw's 'Joan' Shown Tonight

George Bernard Shaw's drama, "Saint Joan," will be presented by the Bishop's Company at Trinity Methodist Church tonight at 8 p.m. There will be no admission for students.

This drama is considered to be one of the finest of plays about Joan of Arc. It begins with her life as a simple farm girl who hears God's commandments giving her faith and purpose.

About 500 students who were on hand to join in the pool party helped him finish the cheer and then joined in singing the "FSU Fight Song." Blackwell had expressed a wish for a typical pool party at homecoming this year. Student Government sent a letter to various organizations this month announcing plans for the ducking fall. ## ACU Tournament Try-Outs To Start

"The FSU University Union is preparing for its largest undertaking of the year, the Association of College Unions Regional Tournament (ACU) which FSU will host in February," said Rick Booth, student director of the tournament.

The tournament is open to all student in various Union sports as bowling, billiards, ping pong, and chess.

Booth expects 23 participating colleges from the four states composing the region, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, and Florida.

FSU begins its local tryouts this week for the various teams.

There will be one men's bowling team, headed by Shelby Francis, and a women's bowling team headed by Melodie Betts.

Robert Ludlow is taking the responsibility of the chess team.

The tournament for the ACU will be highlighted by a weekend of competition, February 25 topped with an awards banquet, Feb. 26.

Winners of the regional tournament go to the national finals in Minnesota at April.

Additional tryouts for the men's and women's bowling teams for the ACU will be held in four sections. Women must bowl six games, men nine. Bowlers have a choice. They must attend at least two (women) or three (men) practices to be eligible for the team.

Bowling try-out times are as follows: Tomorrow 4-6 p.m.; Thurs. 4-6 p.m.; Friday 4-6 p.m. and Saturday 1-3 p.m. Three game sets will be rolled at each scheduled match.

The one stipulation of the tournament is that participants must have an amateur status.

Anyone who has been associated with ABC or WIBC sanction is ineligible.

Bowling for both tryouts and the tournament is free of charge. Men must average 175 and up to try out. Women must carry at least a 125 average.

FSU representatives for the billiard tournament will be selected through the use of the 125 Ball Challenge Ladder. Entrance to the ACU regional will be based on a round-robin playoff among the top six positions on the Ladder tomorrow at 6 p.m.

Students wishing to play table tennis can sign up through tomorrow at Crenshaw Lanes.

Tiffany Turns VP Race Into Three-Man Contest As 'Loner'

Independent candidate Charles Tiffany today turned the campaign for Student Body Vice President into a three-way race by announcing his decision to oppose Gene Stearns (SP) and Larry Gonzalez (UP).

"The time has come to do something about the party system which is strangling free initiative at FSU," said Tiffany.

"In the past Student Government has failed to protect student-teacher liberties against Burns' attack. The independent candidate, Tiffany believes that Governor Hayden Burns will be here to 'round-up votes and stop the freedom of speech of the FSU teachers,'

Student Government will provide leadership to protect student-teacher liberties against Burns' attack. "The vast mass of students need someone to act in their interest and not the interest of a particular group or organization," he explained.

Tiffany's qualifications include a 3.6 at FSU last trimester. He is a transfer from Daytona Junior College where he was Student Body President.

"I have no strings or concessions attached to me," he declared.

"If I am elected I shall be fair and impartial in my decisions," Tiffany said.

The FSU campus is too small for political parties Tiffany believes. A bureaucracy exists in the parties which limits freedom.

He has been following the Student Government system closely, said Tiffany, and due to his past experience he feels that he will be able to fill the office of Vice President.

"By the time I assume office, I'll know what's going on," Tiffany said. Tiffany speaks of the Vice President as the "soul of the Senate."

'To Sleep' Documentary

"And so to Sleep," a documentary movie featuring India's late Prime Minister Nehru's biographical sketch and his funeral procession will be shown by the India Student Association tonight at 7:30 in Moore Auditorium in celebration of the 15th anniversary of the Republic Day of India.

Remember When

Remember when we used to have a "student" center. Any night of the evening we could journey down to the old SC, have a coke, slip some change into the juke box and dance, or shoot the bull with some friends, remember?

Remember the friendly face that always greeted us as we walked through the door? The smile that glamed below the flower in her hair. Remember Mom Bateman, the student's friend? She would walk around the dance floor, play a hand of cards, or just give you the small talk that you needed to brighten your day. Remember?

Remember all the good times we students, stag or drag, had at our "student" center? A place for enjoyment, study, and partying with friends. Remember when?

Now our "student" center has been replaced by the "University Union". No more dances, no more cokes, no more juke boxes. (Except if it's a "University" sponsored dance for couples with a set price to enter, or a coke in the dining area, NOT in the "University Union" building.)

Our Mom Bateman was asked to resign last July because there was no place for her. (There was no place for a student's friend.) She had been Mom of the "student" center for seventeen years, ever since FSU became a co-ed college.

If you're lucky, Mom may substitute for your dorm counselor some weekend. Otherwise, the flower in her hair droops, for it has nowhere to be worn.

Yes, we shall always remember our "student" center of years past and cherish the fun moments we shared.

As for our new "University Union" . . . Oh well . . .

... Forget it.

One of the most perplexing questions in higher education today is what is the purpose of the college and the university? Does the student still have an integral part in the purpose, or has he become somewhat incidental to it?

The student seems to be becoming more and more insignificant. Part of this is due to the size of the modern university and the resulting impersonal bureaucracy of administration.

Several years ago I was a male and now I am a line. Even my religious preference is now assigned a number. IBM is progress and progress only multiplies.

The above is only one reason for students feeling insignificant. It appears to me that the main reason for the student's loss of interest in his relationship with the university is that he does not receive the feeling that you are imposing when you ask a professor for some of his time? Have you ever found it to be virtually impossible to even see some professors outside of class?

This situation can be accounted for by numerous reasons. One could be that the increased salaries in higher education have attracted people who have little real interest in education. Not too many years ago had to be dedicated to the cause of the low salary.

Another reason is the possible research grant. The research facilities available in education today. The student interested in teaching, or in the opportunities for professional advancement as advisers to both the public sectors of the economy and the private sector, should be considered.

All of the above reasons may interfere with teaching and research. The main fault seems to be that he called the system.

In the system the hierarchy of the system is determined by what he has to do. Thus the slogan "publish or perish" is not a slogan.

Just what the system is doing to teach is not clear. The professor is advanced to larger and larger positions on the basis of his publications.

The student is being sacrificed on the altar of the publishing industry. He should be a professor, he should be teaching or with his students.

If his career depends on what he publishes?

John K. Gilbrat writes in his books that the professors at Harvard feel that they are giving of themselves if they are several times a week. The profession is not unique to Harvard.

He means. Should the professor be responsible for a position and the system forces him? No, I think what can be done to change the system is to change the role of the professor.

I would certainly object to the professor's sitting in his office evaluating the professors' teaching, and I know that V.I. also heartily disagree.

How should a professor's abilities and thus his career be determined? I don't know but I do know that some change must be made.

The present situation seems much too detrimental to the student who is assigned almost any position in the university, and some change is made it can come increasingly worse in the future. Maybe if the student is asked it will make things better.

Losing Concern For Student

FLAMBEAU FORUM

Defends Candidates' Rights

The editorial printed in the Flambeau of Jan. 25 was in poor taste in my estimation.

Bill XVI dealt with election procedures. Elections are political. How anything that deals with a political procedure is beyond my comprehension!

May I remind you that the Senate is a political body, made up of party candidates as well as independents. Its duty is to legislate. Each and every senator is able to sponsor legislation regardless of it is his own idea or one suggested to him by another. No senator is a god unto himself. He must listen to his fellow students for those are the ones that elected him. If a reform is suggested by someone outside this body must be ignored it? I think not.

The Bill's main purpose was to allow more students to vote and to make voting simpler and faster as well as make more locations available for the student to cast his vote. To me this seems rather advantageous to all. For years we have been crying out "please fellow students, take an interest in your student government and vote." Many times amendments to the Constitution have failed simply because the necessary 25% of the student body did not vote.

There are some of these senators of Bill XVI and as an independent married student I urge you to find the time to come, watch and judge for yourself.

Sees Justification

Taking the advantage to see our Student Government in action at last Wednesday's controversial Senate meeting, I was disgusted by Sen. Stearns' constant attempts to read political motivation into the proposals presented to the Senate in Mr. Groot's speech.

Now it seems that all the blame for political motivation has been placed on Mr. Groot and the University Party. In my opinion this charge is unjustified. I think Mr. Groot could have capitalized upon the inadequate election system on this campaign. Instead, he acted as an interested and deeply concerned student, and brought it to the Senate's attention, only to be crucified by heedless flinging of charges.

As a witness to Sen. Stearns' performance in the Senate meeting, I can only say that he is acting extremely unfairly. "I didn't come up with the idea, so it's no good." He and his gang didn't hit upon the idea, so called "intensive" study of the election code. He was obviously unaware that it was unconstitutional Wednesday and I'm sure he spent all night looking for a way to regain his lost prestige. His smug statement in the FLAMBEAU shows this.

In the meeting he admitted that this proposal was a good idea, but "not for this election." Why? Perhaps he doesn't want a large turnout; he might want to depend on a tried and true minority.

"I think this speaks well for our university," said Maloy. "They have seen that we have good material and good instructors. The more people we place in these educational systems the more people will know of FSU. It is good publicity for the university."

"We are moving toward an automated program in which we hope to keep up with placed students, help them in career planning."

"We don't have the statistics, but we are participating in the placement of about 80% of the undergraduates and approximately 60% of the graduate students," said Maloy.

The Educational Placement office has been operating for about four years, but has been under the system of Internship and placement. It is considered a university wide function and has split because of the growth of its activities.

The Placement Office is under the direction of William Maloy who formerly worked with the State Dept. of Education.

Tribe Takes Auburn 58-55

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

The FSU "Mighty Five" remained undefeated at home, unbeaten this year by out-shuffling Auburn 58-55. Both halves saw the two teams play completely different ball. The game began at a fast pace with a synchronized shuffle working for both teams.

The second half was a game of stalls and deliberate playing. Before the game Coach Bud Kennedy said it was going to be a good game. When it was over he exclaimed with a broad grin, "It was a great game."

The game got off to a fast pace with the Auburn Tigers scoring first, a few foul shots later by Gary Schull and Pete Gonzalez and the game was tied at 4-4. Jerry Shirley then put the Tribe out in front. Lee DeFore and Larry Cart hit for Auburn and took over the lead, at 6-7.

For the next 17 minutes, the Tribe played a come-from-behind game to have the Tigers keep pulling ahead. At one point, the Seminoles trailed by six points.

But on fine playing on the part of Gonzalez who tied the game at 12-12 and deflected or stole four balls, Shirley who helped Pete by catching a few of Auburn's passes, and Ron Malmgren jumping and sending the ball 20 and 30 feet through the air into the basket, the Tribe caught up to the Tigers with 56 seconds left in the half.

Ken Leakey jumped and sank one from in the key to tie the score at 30-30. Gonzalez then layed one in to give the Tribe a two point lead. Bill Phillips then brought the crowd to their feet when he stole a Tiger ball, bounded down court and dunked one through the rim.

Malmgren then scored another 30 footer. Bobby Bullock connected for Auburn with two foul shots and the half ended 36-32 in favor of the mighty warrior cagers.

Malmgren and Auburn's Cart led the scoring at half time with 10 points apiece, Shirley and Gonzalez connected for seven each, and Gary Schull sank six. The half time percentages were as close as the hair on the wolf's chimney-chin.

The second half saw a new Auburn team come to the courts. Playing the Tribe from a zone as opposed to the first half man-to-man defense, they began to outplay the Tribe and slowly whittled away at the lead.

With 12:50 left the Seminoles held onto a slim 44-41 lead which was on to a one point time and again cut the lead. The Cagers then began to hold the ball at half court in an attempt to once again force a team out of their strong defense but Auburn like Georgia before them remained tight. The crowd then enjoyed an exhibition of ball passing and footwork.

No basketball, but excellent "hot-potatoes".

In a series of hot-passes in which the Seminoles proved prosperous when Malmgren sent one flying for two points, the game tightened up as Greene sank two baskets in a row.

The Tribe led, 47-45. Auburn then played "dirty pool" with deliberate fouls to stop the clock. Peacock fouled Cart with 10 left. Filbe fouled Peacock. He put in two, Cart then drove for a score. But the game ended with the ball in the Seminoles hand and victory in their laps at 58-55.

Cart was high score with 16 points. Jerry Shirley led the Tribe with 15.

Meet The Coach

'Bim' Stults, Tanker Chief

He is a small man by stature, but he does things in a big way. He is a balding ex-naval officer who began his career with FSU in 1948 shortly after FSCW became coed.

When asked what the N.B. initials stood for, he jokingly replied, "No Brains."

"Bim" Stults began his swimming career in the Ohio circles. After graduating in 1930 from Washington and Lee with a B.A., he went to Ross High School in Fremont, Ohio as the swimming coach.

BIM STULTS

There, his teams won the state championship five times and finished third in national competition on four occasions. In 1939, he went to Ohio State University to serve as the assistant swimming coach. World War II saw him in the Navy and afterwards he returned to Ohio before joining FSU in 1948.

His record with the Seminoles speaks for itself. In his 15 years as head coach, Stults's teams have splashed the way to 123 victories, 22 defeats and 2 ties for an .850 av. The Tribe has had five undefeated seasons (1951, 1954, 1954, 1960, and 1964) and have swept several significant team titles.

Tankers To Dedicate Swim Meet To Dr. Blackwell

The FSU Tankers and Coach Bim Stults will dedicate their swim meet against the University of North Carolina Friday at 4 p.m. to Dr. Blackwell. Blackwell has supported the team throughout his years at FSU. This will probably be the toughest meet this season, pitting the top swimmers in the South against each other.

Splits fell like one pin spares before the keggers when Sally Dzobia made the 5-8-10, Keith Wheeler picked up the 5-7-9, Bill Mathouse converted the baby 4-5, Gary McCullister shot the baby 3-10 and the 3-7-10.

Leading the league with a 6-2 record is Team Two with the Blue Devils only 23 pins behind them with a 6-2 also. Powell is sitting high for the men's averages scoring a 185. Next is Mike Sedwick with 164.4 and Jack Jackson with a 164.3.

BYE, BYE WESTCOTT

The fountain will remain, but no longer as the place for pool parties. Parties have moved on to the new pool in the Union which was better designed for drinking.

Dunking Designed' Pool Ousts Westcott Fountain

As announced by President Gordon W. Blackwell's recent venture, the specially designed reflecting pool in the University Union, the administration apparently approves of pool parties.

In an interview Ray Green, assistant business manager of the University, stated, "The University architect designed the pool to take the place of the pool parties away from the Westcott Fountain because of the problems involved with the traditional fountain."

Westcott has waterpipes and slanted sides that can possibly cause serious injury. The new pool at the Union is designed with pool parties in mind. The sides go straight down and it is deeper than the one at Westcott.

Another characteristic of the pool is that the water jets are made of bendable material. Therefore, if someone should hit the pipes upon entry into the pool, the pipes will merely bend or possibly break off. This accounts for the rather unperpendicular paths of the water at times.

Green when asked why the fountain was designed as it was replied, "President Blackwell saw the design on the cover of a magazine and asked that they be installed in time for the dedication of the University Union."

"The main purpose of the spouting water is to wake up daydreaming students and warn them that they are approaching the edge of the brink," he reportedly, some people have already entered the pool, quite by accident.

Informers' Shown

The classic Film Series will present "The Informer" this evening in the Auditorium at 7 and 9 p.m. The film of betrayal and punishment, set against a background of the Irish Rebellion, has been widely praised for its maturity of subject, economy of time and place, imaginative direction and artistic photography.

The psychology of the informer is revealed with a sureness and effectiveness rare in cinema, through the sensitive use of images and intelligent editing. The result has been a classic drama of man's inner voice.

"The Informer" received four Academy Awards, the New York Film Critics Award and the Best American Film of the Year Award. Lewis M. Allen states in "The Rise of the Informer in Film" that this is "one of the most important contributions to the silent sound."

Registration To Hit New High If Legislators Give Consent

FSU students may expect an increase in their registration fees for the next few trimesters, with the probable new figure reaching $130. Dean of Students Harry Day cited student health and student activities today as the areas of greatest need on the FSU campus, causing the registration fee increase.

"Our new infirmary will need money in order to have the proper staff," said Day. In regard to university and student activity funds,

Day commented, "We have been short on both sides this year and we haven't been able to meet many of the demands placed on us."

In requesting new funds from the Board of Regents, Day's original plan for FSU was to ask for an overall increase of $7 in the registration fee.

The $17 increase now being proposed came from the Board of Regents office after consideration of the needs of the University of Florida, South Florida, and Florida Atlantic, as well as those of FSU.

Besides health and activity funds, Dr. Robert Willis, budgetary analyst for the Board of Regents, cites the building funds of the schools as being inadequate.

"The money is just not accumulating on students fees fast enough to retire the building bonds," commented Willis.

"The legislature requires our institutions to charge fees that are in line with the rest of the country," said Willis. "Right now we are slightly below."

Willis explains that it is the new student unions on both the Florida and FSU campuses "feeling the pinch right now."

Since the State of Florida has no policy of differentiation of fees among its state universities, "if we raise for one school would hike the fees state-wide."

"We have resisted having differentiation," said Willis. "We are not cutting the needs of one school are not usually peculiar and we want the schools to have comparable opportunities."

Now still in the planning stages, the proposed increase is before the council of Presidents awaiting their approval sometime this week.

"We are not trying to get anything ready for the legislature," stated Willis. "In fact the budgets have been presented to the legislature without an increase in fees."

No date has yet been set for a change in the fee.

Montoya Gives Show Tomorrow

"The reason Carlos Montoya is so great is that he can single-handedly, without the support of dancers, present such a wonderful concert," said Miss Marie Williams, program director of the University Union, today. Montoya's performance tomorrow night will consist of 17 songs based on Spanish gypsy music and Cuban rhythms that date back to the Spanish colonization period.

Montoya considers Flamenco more difficult than jazz because "there is more elaborate harmony and counterpoint." His most recent composition is a concerto for Flamenco guitar and symphony orchestra.

"We are very fortunate to have him come here. I am very happy that the students will have a chance to hear 'real' guitar music rather than electric 'gitar' noise," stated Miss Williams.

The cost of the 8:30 p.m. program will be $1 for students and $2 for the public.

The attraction is sponsored by the Student Artist Series. The profits which usually go to the student activities fund, will instead be donated to Campus Chest. "The reason for this action is to make up for the lack of contributions caused by the decreased fraternity and sorority activities," said Norbert Martin, Secretary of Internal Affairs.

DEAN HARRY DAY

Women's Senate Revamps KC

The Women's Senate passed yesterday in a regular meeting, a Senate resolution which provided for the complete revamping of the Knowledge for College handbook.

Introduced by Senator Diana Singleton, the bill resolved that 1) The rules and regulations governing women students be reorganized into a new handbook; 2) It be given a name other than Knowledge for College; 3) This handbook be mailed to all new women students preceding their entrance; 4) The test which is currently given to undergraduate women students in their first trimester at FSU be eliminated and a substitute testing or review measure be enacted in accordance with the new rules book.

Ken Hey, Commissioner of Elections said, "Filing for the next election is now closed. Active campaigning will begin next Tuesday and posters may go up at 5 p.m."

"The election will be Feb 9 and conventions are filed for 17 and 18 Feb. Merring mentioned that the Student Depository needs student support and it cannot be turned into a commercial bank due to state laws. He also said radio station WTN will have a 30 minute program on Student Government Sunday night."

Norbert Martin, Secretary of Internal Affairs said, "Student insurance sales have reached an all time high with gross proceeds between $85,000 and $90,000. This year we did more in the fall trimester than we did all of last year."

"The student Artist Series is doing well, Montoya is nearly sold out and has been in the black since Monday."

No Voting Machines Possible States President John Merring

Student Body President John Merring said "there is no possibility of having voting machines for this election," at yesterday's cabinet meeting.

"The machines would cost $20 place at a discount price and we need at least 40. With about 20 people on the ballot each student would need one or two minutes to vote. This means that only about eight students could vote between classes."

"With the usual IBM forms many students can vote at once because it only requires having an ID card punched and dropping a completed ballot in the box," he said.

He further commented that "more people are required to operate the machines."

Changing topics, Merring said, "we are trying to get bus service again. Busses from here would cost about $3 an hour and running two or three busses all day five days a week can be covered by a charge of five cents or weekly charge of $5.50."

FSU Composers Concert Tonight

Compositions by nine FSU students will be presented at a Campus Student Composer's Concert sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity, at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

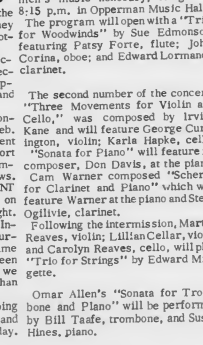

The program will open with a "Trio for Woodwinds" by Ed Edmonson featuring Patsy Forte, flute; John Corina, oboe; and Edward Lormand, clarinet.

The second number of the concert, "Three Movements for Violin and Cello," was composed by Irving Kane and will feature George Curlew, violin; Karl Hapke, cello, "Sonata for Piano" will feature its composer, Don Davis, at the piano. Cam Warner composed "Scherzo for Clarinet and Piano" which will feature Warner at the piano and Steve Ogilvie, clarinet.

Following the intermission, Martha Reeves, violin; Lillian Cella, violin; and Carolyn Reeves, cello, will play "Trio for Strings" by Edward Meringate.

Omar Allen's "Sonata for Trombone and Piano" will be performed by Bill Tate, trombone, and Susan Hines, piano.

Fraternity Discrimination

We read recently of a move by the University Michigan Interfraternity Council Executive Committee to penalize one of its member fraternities. The fraternity in question was found guilty of practicing religious discrimination in its ritual. If it chooses to do so the Executive Committee has the power to withdraw recognition from the fraternity.

There was one segment of the statement we would like to quote.

"The Executive Committee recognizes that Trigon, in its attempt to integrate a strong religious background into a social fraternity, does indeed nurture a 'spiritual ethical development' which is not incompatible with the principles of the Interfraternity Council or of Michigan fraternities; however, in this attempt Trigon has violated an Interfraternity Council Bylaw which is necessary to a fraternity system operating within the framework of a public university. . . ."

To defend the fraternities' right to pledge who they want would require much more than space permits but we would like to point out two basic things.

First, the initiation ritual is the element of the fraternity that serves to give purpose to all facets of fraternity life. When the very content of this ritual is exposed then the foundations of the fraternity will weaken to the point of collapse.

Secondly, we would hope the Bylaws of our Interfraternity Council will never come into direct contradiction with the basic tenet of the fraternity system as they seem to have done at the University of Michigan.

Fraternities rely on the binding element of their ritual, and when bylaws make parts of or all of the ritual ineffective then fraternities in general become ineffective.

There is no doubt that fraternities need reevaluation in certain areas, but we would hope this does not come at the cost of their most important contribution to their members.

Cigars - No!

Students Say They Are For Men Only

By DAVE NELSEN

Flambeau Staff Writer

"No, definitely not—it is too masculine," said Bob Green expressing his disapproval of pipes and cigars for women.

"It's offensive to most men and I wouldn't consider dating a woman who smokes them. Insecure women might do it for attention or because they feel they are in competition with men, but it is just a fad at most and won't catch on," he said.

Leslie Sarvis, who sometimes smokes the small wooden tip cigars said, "It is all right for those who want to, but I don't think it will catch on, except in some circles such as music, art and math majors."

"Women smoking pipes and cigars in public look cheap and it's not feminine," she went on to say. Jan Hubbard was of similar opinion. "It looks bad and I wouldn't do it primarily because I don't smoke at all. I don't know, but it may catch on in the future."

Sandy Ryan said, "It stinks, but if I smoked, I would try it." Cecelia Hilliard, who bought two weeks ago said, "I bought it to see what it was like and it is enjoyable. Although I don't smoke in public, I enjoy it in my room two or three times a week. I think it will become acceptable someday if more women take up," she said.

John Roussos doesn't mind a man smoking an occasional cigarette on a date, but he would not smoke a cigar or pipe. "I've never pulled out a cigar. I'd turn her my knee."

"It may become acceptable for men to smoke cigars and pipes someday but I would have to be on the line on chewing tobacco and spitting snuff. That would gross me out," he said.

Admission Standards Rising

"For the graduating high school student to be assured of admittance to FSU in the Fall, 1968, he must score at least 350 on the Florida Senior Placement Test and have a 'C' average in academic subjects," said Pete Fannon, assistant director of admissions.

Because of the increasing number of students desiring entrance to FSU, rising standards of college acceptance, and "the possible admission standards when they will graduate,"

"Now only the top 40 percent of a high school class is being admitted." "Priority admittance is given to those students whose grade point average in college is 3.0 or better. Students in their early high school years should become aware of this, rising standards of college acceptance, and "the possible admission standards when they will graduate,"

Coeds Compete

Coeds have an opportunity to submit entries in one of "Madamselle's" five areas of art competition.

The deadline for the poetry competition, in which two women will receive $100 each for poems of any length, is Feb. 1.

One or more manuscripts must be submitted to the fiction competition by Feb. 15. $500 will be awarded to the two winners of this contest. Entries in the one-act-play competition, too, may include plays that have been produced on campus. The deadline for plays is March 1.

To enter the Art Competition, coeds should submit at least five samples of work in the fine arts rather than commercial art.

Entrants in the photography competition must submit at least ten samples of any kind of photograph in the form of black and white prints or slides.

Students may address entries or requests for complete rules to (name of competition), Madamselle, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York.

Reinhard Suggests Monopoly For University Entertainment.

"Why not use Tully Gym for big attractions - There's plenty of space there," suggest students in answer to the limited seating problem for artist series attractions.

While Tully Gym may provide for more people and more money, it creates more problems with its lack of curtains and lighting effects and poor acoustics, says Herbert Reinhard, assistant director of the University Union.

"The Gym will limit the attractions you can bring," adds Reinhard. "Many of the better attractions would refuse to perform in the Gym."

According to Reinhard, "Revision of Tully Gym is being considered. It will take a lot of money. Students must be willing to support events and pay more money to finance good entertainment."

"The purpose of the Administration is not to create programs and dances for students. If students want dances, they must be willing to organize them themselves. Then they can have as many programs as they want," Reinhard adds.

Reinhard feels that campus entertainment is not a one-person affair. The present policy at FSU that any organization can sponsor a campus program "at the drop of a hat" is similar to two butcher shops on the same block. Inevitably, they will suffer financially by the presence of each other.

"I am suggesting what amounts to monopoly on campus entertainment. If fraternities, sororities, and student Government and other organizations all compete for student support for their big name attractions we can never have a successful artist series," said Reinhard.

After visiting other campuses and talking with other directors, Reinhard feels that a policy allowing for one representative committee to organize all big name entertainment will be most successful for FSU. With all the profits going into one basket, the committee will be financially able to sponsor better entertainment.

"According to Miss Marie Williams, program director of student activities, 'The Program Council dance committee, headed by Mary Lou Romeka, has found little success with big name bands, like Si Zentner. I suppose we'll have to wait until rock and roll dies down.'"

Reinhard announced that the fall shelter below the present cafeteria of the University Union has been suggested as a new location for informal dances and recreation. The construction has not been completed and sufficient funds are lacking at the present.

Although students have special privileges in the new Union, Reinhard adds that "it is not a student Union any more... it's for faculty, alumni, State conference guests, and students."

Cane Raised In NewPiKA Game

The men of Pi Kappa Alpha have "imported" something from the University of Florida. It's a new game; that's definitely collegiate. It involves girls and boys at a ratio of at least twelve to one.

Each neophyte of Pi Kappa Alpha is presented a bamboo cane which he is to protect and carry with him at all times. Opposing him, all sororities are invited to wrest these canes from the unfortunate neophytes. A trophy was presented to the Chi Omega for capturing the most canes. Wednesday at 4 p.m., at least fifty girls viciously attacked five unsuspecting neophytes in front of their fraternity house. They succumbed to the overwhelming odds and withdrew to watch the girls fight among themselves for the canes.

Tankers Swim In Double-Header Against Carolina

By MELODIE BETTS

Sports Editor

FSU has a rare treat in store for it this sports weekend. The top swimmers in the South will compete in the new Union pool in a North Carolina double header.

The Tarheels of the University of North Carolina are sending 20 of their top men to Tallahassee Friday at 3 p.m. to revenge Coach Bim Stults' victory over the Tarheels last year. Both teams will be bringing undefeated records to the meet.

Saturday, at 2 p.m., the North Carolina Wolfpack comes to pace the Tankers for the first time in dual competition. The Wolfpack are also undefeated this season.

The Tarheels have defeated some of the top powers in the East including Princeton and Navy.

Led by twice all-American Harrison Merrill, the Tarheels, who handed the Tribe their first loss in 1933, will be out to revenge last year's 60-35 slaughter by Seminoles.

Merrill placed second in 200-yd. freestyle nationally and barely missed the Olympic team. He swims everything and swims to win. Another tough contender is Pete Worthen, only a sophomore, who has to be ranked as one of the best sprinters in the country.

The strengths of the two teams are very similar. FSU will have to depend a lot on depth. The second and third place finishes will probably determine the winner and down to the wire finishes are expected all weekend. The University of NC has the stars. FSU has the depth. It will depend a lot on where the coaches place their men in the various events.

FSU will depend heavily on stater Dick Abbott, Doug Kruger, Gene Dayton, Bob Durocher, Neal Allen, and Larry Profumo.

Friday's meet will be highlighted by the dedication of the meet to President Gordon Blackwell.

Without a moment's breather, the Tankers will then have to prepare for the Wolfpack meet. The Pack brings their ace-swimmer in the form of the nationally-ranked butterflyer, John White.

Also strong in the diving competition, Ed Broadcast and Lee Jones will give the FSU Allen-Profumo punch it's biggest threat of the year. Pool records are expected to be smashed all weekend.

NC State Coach Willis Casey rates FSU favorites in seven of the 11 events, with the Wolfpack having a good chance in the 500-freestyle, 200-yd. backstroke, 200-yd. breast, and 200-yd. butterfly.

Asked if he planned to use any new techniques this week, Coach Stults answered, "Prayers"

Senate Passes Two Vote Resolutions

By BOB CORNET
Flambeau News Editor

Student Senate patched up its election regulations squabble that was carried over from last week in yesterday's session.

Two recommendations introduced by Sen. Gene Stearns and passed by the legislature suggested to the Elections Commission that there be two more polling places added.

The legislators also recommended that the Elections and Appointments Committee investigate the possibility of using two test voting machines in the coming election.

The two new polling places would be located between the Home Economics Bldg. and Jennie Murphree Hall and the other between the Math Bldg. and Education Bldg.

In other Senate action the duties of Secretary of Communications were clarified, a bill to amend the day of voting as prescribed in the Constitution was sent to committee, and a bill to begin voter registration was sent to committee and a resolution to set up hours that women may visit men's dormitory rooms was defeated.

At the beginning of the session, Vice-President Joyce Killian paid tribute to Senate guest David Kennedy. Kennedy a former Student Body President, was the Coordinator of the Inauguration Program in Washington last week and is the Vice-Mayor of Miami.

Searns' recommendation to add two more polling places came as an amendment to last week's resolution to use 20 voting machines in the current elections.

Senator Bill Falck, reporting for the Elections and Appointments Committee, said that 20 machines, because of their size and cost, would not be feasible for this election. Falck then yielded the floor to Stearns, who revealed the compromise solution to increase the number of voters in the election.

Turning to other matters Sen. Mel Smith then introduced an amendment to Resolution XVI, the bill that was passed in contradiction of the Constitution last week, to make it amend the Constitution.

The bill would now amend the Constitution so that voting would be done on the second Wednesday, not Tuesday in February. Falck moved that the bill be sent to the Elections and Appointments Committee for further investigation. His motion was passed.

Stearns, after suggestions from Sen. Julian Proctor, moved that the Elections Committee investigate the possibility of using two voting machines in the coming election. Falck at first said that this was unnecessary since he felt that the committee would approve of the idea without further investigation. Falck asked that the Senate allocate $28 for the machines immediately.

GENE STEARNS

helped straighten out the Senate's election proceedings problems with two resolutions on voting in yesterday's Senate meeting.

FSU Religious Council To Offer Discussion Trilogy

The University Religious Council will have three discussion groups for students this week to discuss religion, morals or ethics," said Dr. Robert Spivey, religious chaplain today.

The purpose of the groups is to give students a chance to discuss subjects not normally brought up in casual conversation," said Spivey.

Each group will have four weekly and a half hour meetings in the Student Center.

February and the students are expected to do a little outside reading," said Dr. Spivey.

Registration for the groups will be in the Chaplain's office 245 Swannee Arcade, today and tomorrow. "The groups will be limited to about 10 students so there can be free communication," Dr. Spivey said.

Dr. Allan Thompson, Assistant Professor of English, will lead the first group which will meet Tuesday 7:30 p.m. in room 334 Union.

The subject will center around the books "Religion Without Revelation" by Julian Huxley, and "Man Alone, Alienation in Modern Society" by Eric and Mary Josephson.

The subject of the second group will be "Science and Society in Conflict," led by Dr. Han Plendis, Associate Professor of Physics. The book used in the discussion will be "The Physicists" by Frederick Drenth.

The second group will meet Wednesday 8:30 p.m. at the International House.

Slides On Egypt 'Coffee' Feature

Some 150 color slides of Egypt will be used by Mrs. Olive Cross when she speaks at the English Coffee Hour tomorrow.

Sponsored by the English Department, the coffee hour at 4:30 p.m. in Westminster House is open to the public.

Mrs. Cross made the slides while teaching at the University of Damascus in 1959-60. The University of Damascus and the one in Cairo synchronized their programs and her trips were made to study the English program of the Egyptian university.

In this capacity she became acquainted with many of the officials and received more than a "tourist's view" of Egypt. During her two-year stay in Syria, Mrs. Cross served first under a Smith-Mundt grant and then under a Fulbright grant.

ELENA NIKOLAIDI

... will be accompanied by Leonard Mastrogiacomo in a joint recital with Edward Kilenyi tomorrow in Opperman Music Hall at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Nikolaidi, Kilenyi Present Joint Program Tomorrow Night

A joint recital by Elena Nikolaidi and Edward Kilenyi will be in Opperman Music Hall at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow.

Miss Nikolaidi was with the Vienna State Opera, then as a guest star with Metropolitan Opera Company from 1951 to 1956 before coming to FSU in 1960.

Kilenyi received much of his early training from the late Ernst von Dohnanyi, and appeared in many concert tours throughout Europe and the United States before joining the faculty 10 years ago.

Miss Nikolaidi will present four compositions by H. Wolf, "Aria from Medea" by Cherubini, Spanish folk songs by De Falla, and "Sleepwalking Scene from Macbeth" by Verdi. She will be accompanied on the piano by Leonard Mastrogiacomo.

Kilenyi will play two numbers from "Ruralia Hungarica" by Dohnanyi, five studies by Chopin, "Rhapsody" and "From the Diary of a Fly" by Bartok, and the Twelfth Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt.

Miss Nikolaidi has been described by the New York Times as "one of the finest contraltos in our time."

The late King Paul I of Greece awarded her the Golden Phoenix Cross and citation "for cementing close cultural ties" between the U.S. and her native Greece "and for outstanding contributions in the fields of music and arts."

Kilenyi traveled to Budapest at the age of 14 to study under the Hungarian composer-pianist, Ernst von Dohnanyi, who himself later joined the FSU faculty.

He completed theoretic studies under Leo Weiner, then finished his formal studies at the Franz Liszt Academy.

During several seasons of concert tours in Europe, Kilenyi appeared with Bartorelli, Wood, Cameron and Jorda in England, France, Holland, Germany, Belgium, Hungary, Rumania, Algeria, Morocco, Portugal, and Denmark.

Kilenyi returned to the U.S. and made his American debut in New York's Town Hall in 1940.

R.R. Oglesby 'Shoeshine Boy'

Dr. R.R. Oglesby, government dept. showed his endorsement of better student-faculty relations when he agreed to "even shoe students' shoes" in the Union Barber Shop tomorrow.

Oglesby, purchased by the Barber Shop in the faculty auction last trimester, may be asked to sweep floors, cut hair or collect money from 3 to 6 p.m., reported Marvin Stewart, owner of the shop.

"I was hoping that I could take in money—I just love collecting money," said Oglesby. "Actually though, I'll probably collect myself to conversation."

According to the professor, "Barbers must not only be able to cut hair, but must carry on a learned conversation. I struggle hard to help them out in conversation on anything from politics to families and children. I might even shine shoes."

In reply to a question on his previous experience in hair cutting, Oglesby reported that it was nonexistent.

Interviews Planned

The following representatives are scheduled this week to interview majors and graduates who have met the schedules in the placement office.

Friday: Jordan Marsh; U.S. Navy; State Intelligence Agency; Toronto, Ont. and Lee; Civil Service Commission.

Monday: Jordan Marsh; U.S. Navy; State Intelligence Agency; Toronto, Ont. and Lee; Civil Service Commission.

Police Directors

Delinquency Conference Now At FSU

Police training directors from 15 states are in Tallahassee for a two-week conference on the problem of combating delinquency. The course is being conducted by the development section of the Florida State Police, a service division of the Florida Association of Chiefs of Police. It is under the auspices of the Presidents Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime.

Florida State is the first institution designated to offer the pilot course and the only one in the Southeastern region.

The course will cover behavioral sciences as related to police practice; measurement techniques and fallacies in crime and delinquency; relative to juvenile cases; the relationship of police work to the juvenile court and the police.

A number of films will be shown. They include "Youth and the Law," "Headed for Trouble," "Social Class in America," and "The Mask." The last film is designed to help policemen recognize mental disturbance, physical illness, or other serious disabilities of individuals they look.

Speakers at the workshop-conference include Nelson A. Watson and Glen R. Murphy, IACP, Washington, D.C.; Judge T.F. Bruno, Escambia County Juvenile Court, Pensacola; James D. Stinchcomb, IACP; Prof. Peter Lejins, University of Maryland; Norman Pomeroy, FSU, Chief William M. Barnes, police department, West Palm Beach.

Gerald P. Wittman, HEW, Washington, D.C.; Judge Boeden Hunt, Polk County, field service division, IACP; Quinn Tamm, IACP executive director; and Chief Herbert T. Jenkins, president IACP, Atlanta, Ga. Sixty-four police officials will join the 32 participants for the final two days of the workshop. Participants will on their return to their respective areas teach in-service courses based on the pilot course.

Adler Appointed Financial Director

Adler was today appointed director of the Office of Financial Aid at FSU. He will have the duties of this week, succeeding James F. Carr Jr., who was assistant to the executive director of the Board of Regents. Adler received a bachelor's degree in 1947 and a master's degree in 1948, both from the University of Mississippi.

He completed coursework for a Ph.D. degree at FSU in the department of higher education, where he was a member of the faculty. He then taught biology at Gulf Park College at Gulfport, Miss., from 1948 to 1953, also serving as dean from 1953 to 1957. He is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

The Office of Financial Aid administers scholarships and loans for students and handles part-time student work. During the past fiscal year, scholarships alone totaled $35,000.

Debaters Travel

The FSU debate team will leave today to compete in the West Georgia National Debate Tournament in Macon, Ga. FSU has taken first place at this tournament the last two years.

Advising making the trip are John Freeman, Richard H. Horne, William Lepp, Richard McGiffin, Preston McGee, Noah McKinnon, and Elaine Napier, Marian Sloan.

Mike Ornett, assistant director of debate, and Peyton Wynns will accompany the team. The question to be debated is the national college is apocryphal. "Resolved that the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed."

FSU will be competing with schools from throughout the Southeast in the five-day tournament.

Alumni From State Universities Start New Information Program

FSU alumni will join alumni from the state's other universities and junior colleges to inform members of the 1965 legislature and the public of Florida's needs in higher education. Ron Hamm, assistant director of FSU alumni affairs, announced today.

To do this, Hamm continued, the alumni associations with the State Chamber of Commerce and the Council of 100 will sponsor a flying tour of the state in February by the presidents of the state universities and junior colleges and other state officials.

Hendrix Chandler, coordinator for the Higher Education Legislative Program (HELP) explained that the program was begun at this time because of the crucial situation in Florida's higher education.

"We have just completed," Chandler said, "the ten-year master plan under which our higher education program was re-evaluated and organized. It saw the creation of South Florida, Florida Atlantic, West Florida, and the eastern central universities and most of our junior colleges."

He pointed out that much more still must be done because the enrollment in the state's junior colleges and universities will double by 1970 and double again by 1975 as the vast numbers of war babies come of college age.

"The objectives of HELP are two-fold," he said.

1) "To provide the vehicle for a mass effort to inform the public of the important role which higher education in Florida has assumed in development of our state.

2) "To stimulate a favorable climate for legislative approval of a program which will advance the cause of higher education."

The tour members, Chandler said, will meet with legislators, educators and business and civic leaders at seven dinner meetings, February 15-25, in Jacksonville, Tallahassee, Miami, West Palm Beach, Orlando and Pensacola.

Johnson Chosen Lithograph Judge

Miss Una E. Johnson, curator of prints and drawings at the Brooklyn Museum, will serve as juror for FSU's Second Annual National Lithography Exhibition.

Miss Johnson will be on campus through Saturday to select works for the exhibition, which will open Feb. 24 in the University Gallery. It will remain up through March 16. Over 100 entries will be judged in the open competition. The works selected will be made public simultaneously with the opening of the show.

This is the second exhibition arranged at FSU under the direction of William Wamsley, department of art. The first exhibition (1964) was juried by William S. Lieberman, curator of drawings and prints for the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Miss Johnson holds an AB degree from Chicago and an MA from Western Reserve University. She was a Carnegie fellow for European travel in 1939. She has been curator of prints and drawings at Brooklyn Museum since 1941 and on the staff since 1937. She received the Rockefeller Foundation grant for research on 20th Century prints (1957) and is on the advisory board of Pratt Contemporary Graphics Workshop and director of the Print Council.

Cagers Face Bama Sat.; Undeclared In Tully Gym

By MELODIE BETTS
Sports Editor

The "FSU Five" face the Crimson Tide of Alabama Saturday night in Tully Gym. The Tribe has an unblemished record at home this year and hopes to remain unbeaten in the gym.

The Tide defeated the Seminoles earlier this year in Tuscaloosa in an overtime period. The Tribe trailed Alabama by 17 points mid-way in the first half. FSU battled to within eight points at half time and captured the lead with six minutes left.

In the final seconds, Alabama scored and tied the game and went on to defeat the Tribe by three points, in overtime.

Bama has a well-balanced team which uses a "wheel" offense (disciplined, moving, continuity, typeoffense, similar to the FSU shuffle.)

The Tide's top man is Bob Andrews, 6-5 senior center, who is strong on the backboards (rebounding), and an agile, fast shooter. Reese Carris tall man standing 6-7 for Bama.

The Tide defeated another Alabama team when they downed Auburn last Monday evening. Jerry Shirley, Ron Malmen, and Pete Gonzalez led the Seminoles to their 38-35 victory.

Gary Schull played with the flu and still scored 10 points, capturing six rebounds.

The Seminoles went into a stall with 12 minutes remaining in the game, the earliest Coach Kennedy has ever reverted to the freeze in his coaching career.

According to Kennedy, the Tigers tried to tell FSU how to play the basketball game when they went into their zone defense with the Tribe leading.

"We felt that if they wanted to play basketball they could come out and get us," the Seminoles held the ball for nine minutes and scored one lone point, but the Tigers mustered none.

When asked if he would use the stall this week-end, he replied that he couldn't foretell the future, he would depend on Alabama. If they would go into a strong zone if the Tribe gets a few points ahead.

The game begins at 7-45 p.m. The Freshman go to the lines at 5:30 p.m. The Frosh also downed Auburn last week's preliminary game.

FSU Captures Two Awards

The FSU gridders pulled in another assemblage of plaudits Monday at the Tallahassee Quarterback Club Governor's Cup Jambo-ree. The Governor's Cup is awarded annually to the winner of the FSU-UF football game.

The Cup was presented to Coach Bill Peterson by Gov. Haydn Burns' executive secretary Bill White.

The Quarterbacks also presented their annual individual awards at the fete. Don Floyd received the Sportsman award given to the member chosen by the team. The Bob Crenshaw Award, given to "the player with the biggest heart," went to Dick Hermann.

Peterson and Fred Blumickoff were presented with the Football Service Award. This honor is given to those who have attracted national attention for local football.

A resolution adopted by the Leon County Commission was read by County Attorney Lewis Hall. The resolution was in recognition of the "colorful play, outstanding performance and record of victories" of the football team.

Guest speaker Ray Graves, head coach at UF, commented "They did us all proud in the Gator bowl... FSU was a credit to the state."

ACU Results

Jerry Goss leads the competition for the ACU bowling team with a 245-53. In second place is Gene Alban 206-54 followed by Ed Rymer 212-53, Harry Laramore 185-495, and Stan Powell 181-491.

Judy Williams and Janie Lane head the female scoring this far. The cut off point for the men's nine games is currently set at 1575 and for the women's six games at 800.

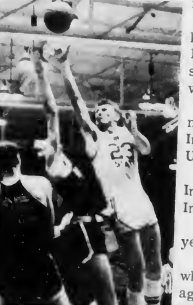

Try-outs continue through Saturday from 4-6 p.m. daily and 1-3 p.m. on Sunday.

SEC Votes On FSU

Tomorrow is SEC Day in Atlanta, Georgia. Coach Bill Peterson, Bill Bunker, sports public relations, and other athletic officials of FSU traveled to Atlanta for the SEC meeting.

Voting will take place tomorrow afternoon when the business meeting concludes. FSU will be proposed for membership but it is doubtful that the Seminoles will be accepted at this time due to the size of the SEC membership.

Meet the Team

Wrestlers Grapple Daily

(Editor's note: "Meet the Team" travels to the wrestling room of Tully Gym this week. The wrestling team is affiliated with the Intramural program on campus and holds daily practices for all interested persons.)

By HANK SCHOMBER

The Wrestling Club of FSU is a group of not so strong young men who like to throw each other around.

The club was formed eight years ago as a varsity sport, a situation present members hope will be changed in the near future. They are presently sponsored by the Student Activities Association.

Ron Pierce, captain and manager of the grapplers, reports that wrestling as a sport has begun to take its place among the other amateur sports in Florida.

Pierce pointed out that since September 1965, wrestling has been recognized as a varsity sport in all Florida high schools. He hopes that the state's universities will follow and make wrestling a part of the varsity programs.

A non-varsity status has not kept the grapplers from meeting the clubs of other universities on the mats. In the past they have met with Georgia, Georgia Tech, University of the South, and Auburn.

In addition they have competed in the Jacksonville Invitational Wrestling Tournament and the Southeastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships (SEIC).

According to Pierce SEIC is the biggest event of the year for wrestlers in the Southeast U.S.

Coach of the grapplers is O.E. "Bud" Barringer, who came to FSU from Loch Haven, Penn. four years ago. He is presently on leave of absence from the university, and Jack Chevrette, who started the club here, is the interim coach.

University Union Has Something For Everyone

By HAVEN NELSEN
Herald Staff Writer

This is not a "Student Union," rather it is a "University Union" which has something for everyone in the community," said Herb Reinhard, assistant director of the University Union today.

"Florida State is one of more than 100 colleges that has a union. Unlike the old student center that was just a place for students to eat, drink and dance, the union is a center of culture and entertainment for the state and community," he said.

In explaining that the union is not just for students, Mr. Reinhard referred to Page 70 of the current issue of the college family-student members of the college family-student, faculty, administration, alumni, and guests. . . . He explicitly defined guests as "all visitors to the campus."

"However," he said, "all offices of the union cater to the needs and desires of the students."

The Student Government and Housing Court offices are in the Activities Bldg., along with the publications offices such as the Flambeau, Tally-

Ho, Smoke Signals and Legend.

The Placement Office and the Foreign Student Advisors offices are also in the Activities Bldg., with the governing offices of the union.

The union is governed by the University Union Board which consists of eight students and five faculty members. The faculty members are appointed for a three year term of office by the President of the University.

There are two student members appointed by the president of the student body, three are elected by the outgoing Board, and three are elected in the spring general election, all of which must have at least two years experience on a union committee.

The chairman of the Board is a student elected by the Board. The Board Secretary is one of these appointed by the Student Body President and being a member of his cabinet provides free communication between the Union Board and Student Government.

The function of the Board is "a sounding board to union administration which may initiate or reject any policy governing the union," said Reinhard.

There are 12 committees in the union and the chairmen of these committees make up the Program Council. The Council meets every Thursday to receive and discuss policy and suggestions from the Wednesday afternoon board meeting.

The function of the committees is to plan entertainment and activities in the union complex. For instance there are three types of films brought by the film committee: classical, popular, and the Seminole series for children.

There is a Sports and Games Committee which sponsors tournaments in bridge, checkers, and chess to name a few; and a Hospitality Committee to give tours and coffees for guests.

There are also Forum, Dance, Special Events, Literature, Music, Secretariat, Informal Entertaining, and Publicity Committees.

"Any student with an academic average of at least 2.3 may apply for committee work in room 321 of the Activities Bldg. The committee members are picked by the chairman of the individual committees," said Patsy Burnham, chairman of the University Union Board. The union began eight years ago with plans of a new pool which soon led to dreams of a Union complex. Money was the problem until 1961 when five dollars of each registration fee was put aside for the union B. Ross, too strongly anti-Communist newsmen. When they failed in realizing last summer with the opening of the new pool. Even now with the entire complex being nearly assured that there would be a completed there is a feeling that it is too small," said Miss Burnham.

It is hoped that in the future a building will be added in the space between the Activities Bldg. and the pool. There are no definite plans for this as yet though," stated Miss Burnham.

Recreation facilities within the complex include bowling and pool

In Gresham Lanes, color TV in the Activities lounge, and games that may be checked out upon presentation of an ID card.

... .. C.I.A.

In Cambodia the C.I.A. is aiding an attempt to overthrow the neutral government of Prince Sihanouk (apparently the C.I.A. is the reason why "neutrality can't work"). And in Brazil the C.I.A. helped overthrow the Goulart government.

Only this week, the opposition party in Malaysia charged the C.I.A., with trying to set up a military dictatorship in Malaysia, and with encouraging communal conflict. They blamed last year's racial riots on the C.I.A. also.

The U-2 incident, the Bay of Pigs, the Congo, C.I.A.'s record is far longer and dirtier than the few incidents I've mentioned here. And C.I.A. activity does not even stop at our border. Inside the United States the C.I.A. is increasing its power. It is subsidizing publishing houses and organizing academic "Foundations" to serve as C.I.A. fronts. The C.I.A. recently tried to exert its power to suppress a criticizing book by David Wise and Thomas B. Ross, two strongly anti-Communist newsmen. When they failed in suppressing it they offered to buy up the entire first edition. The publishing of the new pool. Even now with the entire complex being nearly assured that there would be a second printing. The C.I.A. then backed out.

Allen Dulles, director for eight years of the C.I.A., has said concerning foreign relations that, "A country's enlightened self-interest . . . must guide its actions rather than any abstract principles, sound as they may be." This translates that the end justifies any means, however immoral or wrong. If this is to be the policy of the C.I.A. and our government, then the death-knell for those "abstract principles" of freedom and justice has been sounded in the West.

Responsibility

Not that this should discontinue our choosing between "soft pack" or "crush proof" boxes, but maybe we should view at a more questioning distance those decisions that we do make, especially when we read of a boy, too near our own ages, who is so self-satisfied to feel in his short span of experiences he has acquired enough knowledge and insight to enable him to "choose" to condemn a man to die.

New Victory March Unveiled By Composer Thomas Wright

"Florida State Victory March" with music by Thomas Wright and words by Wright and Jerry Callahan will be distributed to the Student Body soon through money contributed by the Alumni Association in a joint Student Government and alumni committee project.

About 5,000 copies of the song will be distributed to dorms and Greek houses.

The march is dedicated to the 1964 football team and to all other sports. It is used to replace the fight song but to supplement it.

It is 15 years since Wright has written anything for FSU. He said the FSU "needed another school song."

The Marching Chiefs have an arrangement which will be "premiered" next year. Other musical organizations are making arrangements of the march to be used by their groups. Here are the words to the song: Onward to victory, Seminoles, go! Forward march, we must move out together and forward march it's Always marching weather when thousands strong, we swing along, all in Step for victory, our FSU and All our loyal Seminoles, onward go, to conquer all our savage foes, Won't be long, we can't go wrong, we will crush the enemy.

so scalp 'em, scalp 'em, let's all shout the battle cry, So scalp 'em, scalp 'em, it's a case of do or die, strike the fatal thrust, we'll

Be victorious with terrible tenacity we can, we will, we must! Forward march, we'll ride the swelling battle tide; forward march we'll Face the future side by side, with our might we'll fight, fight, fight, and we'll Win our victory, Win our victory Florida State University.

Cagers Play Bama; Tankers Face N.C. Basketball Team Reveals Thoughts

Sports fans have a full weekend ahead of them when the FSU Cagers and Tankers compete with Alabama and North Carolina Universities. The sports regatta gets underway this afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Union Pool when the swimmers match their undefeated record with a 7-0 University of North Carolina squad.

Tomorrow, the Tankers continue their double-header against North Carolina State at 2 p.m. also unbeaten this season.

The Cagers top off the weekend with a home game tomorrow night at 7:45 p.m. with the Alabama Crimson Tide.

Sparked by five all-Americans, the U. of N. Carolina should provide the crowd with spectacular swimming skill. Led by twice all-American Harrison Merrill, the Tarheels will be out to reverse last year's loss to FSU in Chapel Hill.

North Carolina State is making its first appearance in Tallahassee against the Tankers. John White is their leading swimmer. Only a sophomore, White made the Olympic finals last year in the butterfly.

The Wolfpack's coach Willis Carey may be the only coach in the south who can match Bim Stults', FSU coach, record. Carey has produced 19 all-Americans in 17 years and has compiled a 134-21 record.

FSU will rely on ace swimmers Dick Abbott, Dick Acosta, Mike Blouin, Bob Durocher, Gene Dayton and divers Neal Allen and Larry Profumo.

The "Mighty Five" have been practicing every afternoon for the Alabama game tomorrow night. The team wants to win this game to stay undefeated at home. Sporting an 11-6 record, the Tribe can have their best season this year if they can win on the road.

When asked what they thought about this week's game, the up-coming road trip, and their coach, their replies were many and varied with best Bama and revenge the overtime loss they suffered at Tuscaloosa in December.

Gary Shull: We're not gonna end our good luck home streak for Bama. Bobby Lovell: Our confidence has been built up by the coaches. They're behind us all the way. As a senior, I would like to see us have our best season and right now we have a good chance.

Jerry Shirley: The up-coming road trip is a tough one, Duquene and Memphis will be rough. When I was a sophomore we had a 15-10 record. I'd like to see us better it. We've got to beat Alabama tomorrow night.

Pete Gonzalez: A 12-6 sounds a lot better than an 11-7 record. Memphis, Duquene and Florida are the rough ones coming. Duquene has an all-American guard we're gonna have to contend with.

I've learned a lot under the coaches out here, I never thought I'd have a chance to play, but they taught me well. I just wish I knew where I got the name of "trash-man".

Bill Peacock: Rebounding is our main problem. If we can lick that we'll win tomorrow. I'm pretty confident that a victory is ours. We weren't prepared in December. We're ready now.

If we run into a problem we can't handle, Coach Hank Durham (assistant to Kennedy) always seems to come up with the right answer. There's not a situation he can't handle.

Ken Leakey: We can't take the Tide game lightly. We've been working hard for this one. Duquene is one of the most important road games. We'll give the Northern folk a chance to see us. Possible get a bid for a tournament, maybe even a national rating. Florida and Miami will be after us. We'll have to play our best against them.

Bill Phillips: We're heading up towards my home ground in New York when we play Duquene. My folks will be there to see the game. We'll have to win. Wins are fun and who doesn't like to have fun?

Ron Malmgren: It will be a good game, but we'll beat them.

THE FSU TANKERS

... pit their undefeated record against two unbeaten teams, the Tankers of North Carolina today at 3 p.m. and North Carolina State tomorrow at 2 p.m.

"Me? In that?"
When you take your wife to see the Volkswagen Station Wagon don't be surprised if you have to drag her.
"But it looks silly."
That's your first problem: you have to explain the flat face and square shape.

[There's only 9 inches difference.]
And the square shape holds almost twice as much as an everyday wagon.

24 mpg on regular. 35,000 miles on tires. 4 pints of oil, not 4 quarts.

If you can sell your wife on the VW Station Wagon, consider yourself a star salesman.

We certainly will.
